Holiday fireworks will have 'less bang' this year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fireworks stands are springing up like dandelions along America's roadsides as the country prepares to blast and sparkle its way through another Fourth of July.

But you'll get a little less bang out of your pyrotechnics this year because of the controversial regulations the federal government put into effect last winter.

After a 1974 move to ban fireworks was roundly criticized, the Consumer Products Safety Commission settled last winter for establishing restrictions on the power of fireworks sold to consumers.

Firecrackers, for example, are now limited to 50 milligrams of powder, the charge found in the small "ladyfingers" often sold in strings.

The previous limit had been 130 milligrams.

Other provisions govern the explosives' fuses, labeling, and contents.

The commission's regulation applies to fireworks sold across state lines and has no effect on various state laws limiting or prohibiting fireworks.

Sixteen states ban fireworks sales entirely. These are Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Rhode Island, Vermont and West Virginia.

At the other end, Hawaii and Nevada have no fireworks regulations at all.

The rest of the states and the District of Columbia allow some fireworks while prohibiting others. In addition, many local governments have their own restrictions.

There have been few seizures of banned fireworks since the rule took effect Dec. 6, officials say. They add that, in general, the regulation is being complied with.

On Thursday, the District of Columbia appeals court ordered the federal commission to clarify its regulation, but did not knock down the rule.

The commission has estimated that as many as 9,000 persons were injured last year by fireworks, half of them aged 15 or younger.

The American Pyrotechnics Association notes that most injuries result from handling fireworks improperly, not from a malfunctioning product.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission has these suggestions for those planning to celebrate July Fourth with fireworks:

—Read and follow the directions.
—Don't explode fireworks unless an adult is present.
—Never experiment by taking fireworks apart or mixing anything with the contents.
—Don't set off fireworks indoors.
—Light the explosives one at a time.
—Have a bucket of water handy.
—Never ignite fireworks in a glass bottle or other small container.
—Store fireworks in a cool, dry place.
—Never give them to small children.

In 1972 the Food and Drug Administration, at the behest of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, sought a total ban on fireworks. A year later it modified that to merely regulating their size.

However, the federal consumer commission subesquently came into operation and was charged with administering the Federal Hazardous Substances Act, which gave it jurisdiction over fireworks.

The commission also backed a complete ban and scheduled it to go into effect just before July 4, 1974.

But that proposal brought a storm of protest from a variety of sources and the ban was delayed while hearings got underway.

These hearings led to the current regulations, which were actually issued on June 3, 1976 but were delayed by legal procedures and took effect last Dec. 6.

Persons convicted of violating the law can face up to a $500 fine and 90 days in jail.

In addition to the limit on the amount of powder in a firecracker, the rule requires that fuses burn from three to six seconds.

A variety of special labeling requirements apply to all sorts of pyrotechnics.

Also banned are kits that could be used to produce an illegal firecracker, aerial bombs and devices such as "dragon eggs" and "cracker balls" that may look like candy or other food.

The regulation also includes:

—A ban on a variety of chemicals in fireworks, such as boron, arsenic sulfide and arsenates.

—Rules prohibiting powder leakage and requiring certain bases, handles and attachments for fireworks.

—"Party Poppers" cannot contain more than one-fourth grain of powder. Party Poppers, also called "Champagne Poppers," are hand-held devices that produce a relatively minor sound without any flash.

Fireworks are thousands of years old, having been developed in China, where they are still used in religious ceremonies.

It is this use that has posed one of the biggest problems for the United States in regulating firecrackers, with Chinese religious leaders charging that the ban interferes with their freedom of religion.

Large items such as cherry bombs were banned in 1966 because of their heavy charges of flash powder.

Nixon can't keep tapes or documents

High court ruling first step toward allowing public access to materials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that former President Richard M. Nixon is not entitled to control his White House tapes and documents. The decision is the first step toward allowing the public access to the materials.

The justices, voting 7 to 2, decided that Congress acted within its authority when it passed the law in 1974 seizing nearly 5,000 hours of tapes and 42 million pages of documents generated by Nixon's presidency.

The court rejected all arguments by Nixon's attorneys that the law was unconstitutional.

Congress has before it proposed regulations providing for public access to the materials. If the regulations, drafted by the General Services Administration, are adopted, they might still be subject to challenge through the courts — a process that could take years.

Still pending before the high court is a suit to make the 30 Nixon tapes played at the Watergate cover-up trial available for copying, sale and broadcast. Public access to those tapes, however, is included with the other materials covered in today's decision.

There was no comment immediately from Nixon or his lawyers.

Former Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who argued the case for the government before the Supreme Court, said, "The United States government paid for the installation of the devices that resulted in the tape recordings, paid for the material that was used" and therefore the materials belong to the people.

Nixon has had access to all the material for use in writing his memoirs and Jaworski said he felt that was appropriate. But, he added, "I think that the titles to them as well as the control and supervision of their use should be exercised by the government."

The decision is a victory for the government, which has fought for the last three years to hold on to the nearly 5,000 hours of tape recordings and the millions of pages of documents.

Specifically, the court's majority ruled that the law passed by Congress to prevent Nixon from taking the tapes and documents with him to San Clemente after his resignation on Aug. 9, 1974 did not violate the doctrine of separation of powers between the branches of government, did not violate Nixon's privilege of confidentiality or his right to privacy.

The court also said the law was not a "bill of attainder" — an individualized penalty imposed by a legislature rather than a court.

Justice William J. Brennan wrote the court's majority opinion, joined by Justices Potter Stewart, Thurgood Marshall and John Paul Stevens.

Justices Byron R. White, Lewis F. Powell and Harry A. Blackmun joined most parts of the decision.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice William H. Rehnquist dissented.

Among the almost 900 reels of tape covered by the court's decision are the now-famous 30 tapes which helped force Nixon from office in disgrace in the wake of the Watergate scandals. The 30 tapes were used at the Watergate cover-up trial of Nixon's closest aides.

Nixon estimates that of the 42 million pages of documents held by the government — at the White House and the National Records Center in Suitland, Md. — he personally wrote or reviewed some 200,000 pages.

The tapes now will remain with the government until archivists sift through them to determine which can be released to the public and which may be returned to Nixon. The tapes include conversations in the White House Oval Office, the Cabinet Room, the Lincoln Sitting Room and Nixon's offices at the Executive Office Building and Camp David in Maryland.

Congress passed the 1974 law after determining that Nixon was not a reliable custodian for the documents and tapes.

INSTANT MILLIONAIRE

Chandler Johnson, 30, of West Medford, Mass., is interviewed Monday night in Needham, Mass., after winning the biggest state lottery prize in history — $100,000 a year for life. He and his heirs are guaranteed at least $2 million, but if he lives as long as his 85-year-old grandmother, he will get about $5.5 million. At right is his wife, Maria.

Hot spell to linger

Great days for sun worshippers will continue through the week with hot sunny skies predicted by the National Weather Service for Southern California.

Valley residents can tan themselves poolside in temperatures near 95 degrees today and Wednesday, or head for the beaches where temperatures will reach 75 under high clouds.

For those who really want to bake, temperatures in the high and low deserts will reach 105 to 115.

The only flaw in the weather picture is the probability of first stage air pollution alerts in some valley areas in the afternoon.

Carter seeks instant gasoline rationing plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is developing a standby program that would allow the President to impose gasoline rationing on a moment's notice.

The project was confirmed Monday by James Bishop, an aide to presidential energy adviser James Schlesinger. The aide said President Carter had ordered a review of possible rationing plans and that the President wants a program that would give him broad rationing powers.

Schlesinger disclosed the administration intent in a recorded interview with Rep. Jim Guy Tucker, D-Ark. The interview, intended for Tucker's constituents, has not been broadcast yet.

In the interview, Schlesinger said the administration in the months ahead will begin work on a rationing program "that we can impose immediately and dramatically curtail our own use of gas if the circumstances require, if we have a supply interruption."

Bishop said the rationing move is not in retaliation for congressional mauling of the President's energy plans, which sought to reduce gasoline consumption through a standby gasoline tax and through special levies on automobiles that get poor gasoline mileage.

In unveiling his national energy plan, Carter warned that if consumption could not be reduced by other means the administration would consider developing a rationing plan.

Bishop said there was dissatisfaction with ration plans drafted for Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford after the 1973 oil embargo, and in any event, they were Republican, not Democratic plans.

To underline the importance of gasoline conservation, Bishop said Americans this summer will use 27 billion gallons of gasoline in the vacation season.

"That's twice the amount needed to produce all of America's crops for the entire year," he said, "and the equivalent of all the energy used by American forces in 1944."

Sources within the Federal Energy Administration said the sum of previous rationing moves is that the president currently does not have standby gasoline rationing authority.

During the Arab oil embargo, William Simon, then head of the old Federal Energy Office, developed a rough plan that cited defense emergency laws for authority. His effort led to the printing of gasoline ration coupons. It eventually took four months to print a three-month supply of coupons at a cost of about $10 million. These coupons are still in federal storage.

With the embargo crisis over, interest waned. Congress ordered the Ford administration to draft a rationing plan, saying the plan and authority to impose rationing would have to be approved by Congress.

Ford's plan was sent to Congress on the last day of his administration, Jan. 19 of this year, but it was sent to the wrong offices, said an administration source. So, technically, the plan was never officially received by Congress.

Two fires in Palmdale area

By The Associated Press

While investigators were seeking campers believed responsible for a 2,000-acre fire in Angeles National Forest, two additional smaller fires broke out near Palmdale.

Some 200 county fire fighters were still battling the two smaller brushfires, about 10 miles northeast of Palmdale. The Los Angeles County fire department said Monday night they had consumed about 100 acres each.

Capt. Ron Mathis said the probable cause of the fires was downed power lines.

Mathis gave no estimate on the time of containment or control. He said ranches in the area were not in immediate danger.

The fires, which began about 9 p.m. Monday, came less than 12 hours after the Angeles Forest fire was controlled by more than 600 fire fighters.

That fire broke out Saturday in the Big Tujunga Canyon, about 10 miles north of the Los Angeles suburb of Sierra Madre.

For state and local gasoline taxes

Panel repeals income tax deduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you itemize your income tax returns, you would lose a deduction for gasoline expenses under legislation approved by a key House committee.

But you would get an even bigger tax break by conserving home heating fuels.

The House Ways and Means Committee, completing work on the Carter administration's energy-tax proposals, voted on Monday to repeal the income tax deduction for state and local gasoline taxes.

In so doing, the committee went along with the administration's position that there can be no broad-scale national energy conservation program without individual sacrifice.

By a 20 to 14 vote, the committee agreed that it makes no sense for the government to offer a tax advantage to users of gasoline.

Repeal of the deduction would mean an average $38 tax hike next year for the 18.6 million couples or individuals who itemize their tax returns. Officials estimate repeal of the gas tax deduction could save about 7,000 barrels of oil a day.

The repeal was not part of the President's original energy tax plan. However, presidential tax adviser Laurence Woodworth told the committee the administration would not object to having the repeal in the bill.

Along with having a psychological impact for gasoline saving, Woodworth said, repeal of the deduction would be a step toward tax simplification.

However, itemizing taxpayers could cut their taxes by a larger margin if Congress goes along with the committee's approval of a tax credit of up to $400 for those insulating their homes.

This credit, available until the end of 1982, would be 20 per cent of the first $2,000 spent on such items as insulation, storm doors and windows, and more efficient furnace burners. The administration estimates that the $3 billion program would eventually save up to 320,000 barrels of oil daily. The committee approved the tax credit on a 20 to 17 vote.

It also voted 16 to 10 to approve a similar credit of up to $2,150 for buyers of home energy equipment powered by the sun or wind. It would be a credit of 30 per cent for the first $1,500 spent, and 20 per cent of the next $8,500.

S.B. County supervisors view budget

13.5 per cent increase over present levels

By BOB SWETNAM
PB Staff Writer

San Bernardino County Supervisors were presented with a proposed budget Monday that calls for a record spending of more than $286 million during the next fiscal year.

The proposed amount — if eventually adopted by the supervisors — would represent a $34 million, or 13.5 per cent increase over present spending levels.

Increased welfare, criminal justice, medical, transportation and county salary costs were cited by chief administrator Earl Goodwin as primary reasons for the proposed $34,129,665 increase in county spending.

"As urban growth continues in San Bernardino County at a faster pace than almost anywhere else in the state, local government must shoulder the burden of the accelerating public needs," Goodwin explained.

Rapid growth in the county, inflation and increasing demands by state and federal agencies that county government assume the responsiblity of numerous social services were blamed by Goodwin for the big spending increase proposal.

"The major county programs serve the poor, the unfortunate, the needy and those in trouble. This (county government) is not a glamorous role . . . and it does not touch the average citizen or property taxpayer," he said.

Property tax payments to the state for medical and welfare payments will be increased by $889,632 if the proposed budget is adopted.

Additional welfare funds of $10,283,442 are being asked for by county officials. Welfare alone represents the biggest increase in the proposed budget.

Other increases being requested include an additional $2,748,443 for Community Development program funds, $586,043 in extra funds for increased sheriff's department patrols in unincorporated areas, $5,395,738 increase in criminal justice funds, a $7,289,630 increase in transportation and road construction money, a $3,833,203 increase in county medical care spending, and an approximate $4.8 million increase in county employes' salaries.

The impact of the county budget on taxes for the average citizen will probably not be known until late July, Goodwin indicated. At that time, the total increase in the county's assessed valuation will be known.

If assessed valuations are up more than 9.8 per cent over last year's, the property tax rate — now approximately $3 per $100 of assessed valuation — will go down.

If the assessed valuations are lower than expected a tax rate increase looms for property owners.

Supervisors, while adopting the proposed recommendations for informational purposes — said they expected to see some cuts in the proposed budget before it is finally approved.

Supervisor Joe Kamansky moved to adopt the recommendations in the proposed budget, but commented, "This is not my approval of the budget request in any manner."

Kamansky said he would review areas for possible cuts, or if necessary, increases in spending.

Supervisor Dennis Hansberger of San Bernardino suggested the county should trim the budget and put an 8 per cent growth rate ceiling on county spending.

Supervisors Bob Hammock and James Mayfield agreed.

A full schedule of public hearings will now be held at the Board of Supervisors Chambers on the proposed budget request. Citizens will then be given the opportunity to challenge some of the proposed budget increases or cuts.

The first public hearing will be held Monday, July 11, at 2 p.m. Persons interested in obtaining a copy of the proposed budget should contact the county's administrative office at 383-1835.

Proposed expenditures by agency for the 1977-78 fiscal year are:

—Environmental Improvement Agency will spend $14,064,602.

—General Services Agency will spend $5,822,079.

—Health Care Services Agency will spend $36,146,924.

—Human Resources Agency will spend $103,563,911.

—Law and Justice Agency will spend $54,679,299.

—Capital Improvements proposed amount to $17,248,162.

—Public Works Department will spend $35,651,125.

—$6,598,741 will be placed in reserves and $12,988,921 is proposed for non-agency programs.

State briefs

Manson's voice heard

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson, a main figure in the two-month-old murder retrial of Leslie Van Houten, denies that the 27-year-old former beauty princess was a "robot" under his control.

"I never forced anybody to do anything," the 42-year-old Manson said in a tape-recorded interview played to the jury Monday.

But at another point in the rambling, 70-minute tape, the cult leader admitted, "Certainly I had influence over her (Miss Van Houten). I have influence over everybody I meet."

It was the first time the jurors had heard Manson' voice in the trial.

The tape marked the beginning of the defense rebuttal stage of Miss Van Houten's retrial on charges of murder in the Aug. 10, 1969, killings of Leno and Rosemary LaBianca and of conspiracy in the deaths of actress Sharon Tate and four others.

"People had (influenced) Leslie Van Houten long before I had her," Manson said in the intrview recorded by psychiatrist Joel Fort. "Her mother had her first. Her dad had her. Her parents had her. Her school had her. The TV had her. The movies had her. She was in a convent for a Buddhist; the Buddhists had her."

Part of Miss Van Houten's "diminished capacity" defense maintains that her decisionmaking ability was reduced because of heavy drug use,especially LSD.

"We were not all that much into drugs," said Manson. "Everybody said we were, but that's not true."

Sheriff's deputies quit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two sheriff's deputies who allegedly plotted to bilk a Texas money broker out of $400,000 have resigned, court records show.

The deputies — Ralph Davenport, 39, and Penn Weldon, 46 — were arrested Friday on charges of attempting to defraud a savings and loan company of $7,350 by using forged passbooks. However, the alleged larger scheme was not revealed until Monday in an affidavit accompanying the criminal charges.

According to the affidavit, the scheme to bilk Worthey and Co., a Fort Worth money broker, came to light because a third man working with the deputies, Thomas B. Delashaw III, was an FBI informer.

The affidavit, filed by FBI agent Roy D. Christopher, claims that the three men had planned various illegal activities, including false certificates of deposit transactions, counterfeit cashiers checks and counterfeit certificates of deposit.

Delashaw, 40, has been working as an FBI informer since he pleaded guilty last year to a counterfeit securities charge, the affidavit said.

According to the affidavit, the trio began planning April 28 to get Worthey and Co. to deposit the $400,000 in a phony company's account at a Pasadena savings and loan office.

The money would be obtained from the General Life and Accident Insurance Co. of Fort Worth for coverage of the fictitious corporation, the affidavit claims.

The trio had allegedly planned to withdraw the money and convert it into South African gold coins, the sworn statement said. But Delashaw allegedly tipped the FBI to the scheme before the withdrawal could be made.

Daveport and Weldon were freed on $10,000 bail each by U.S. Magistrate Venetta Tassopulos.

Illegal importation

CALEXICO, Calif. (AP)—A U. S. Customs agent is accused in a federal indictment of accepting $5,000 per load to allow at least 15 marijuana-filled trucks to cross from Mexico to the United States.

In addition to the Customs inspector, Nath Bachan, 38, of El Centro, Calif., the indictment names Miguel Alaniz, 25, a Calexico policeman, and 10 other individuals as alleged participants in the illegal importation of tons of the weed.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Stephen Nelson identified the others charged as civilians, mostly from Calexico or its sister city of Mexicali, Mexico.

Balloon project scrapped

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Scientists measuring smog levels from a silver balloon have given up after six hours of heading the wrong way.

The helium-filled balloon came down at 12:34 p.m. Monday near Mission Viejo, ending a flight that was to have taken two scientists over Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

But after smoggy winds blew the balloon 20 miles in the wrong direction, the South Coast Air Quality Management District gave up the first of three such studies.

No Indian trial bargain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Prosecutors in the murder trial of two American Indians have reportedly failed again in an effort to convince Superior Court Judge Floyd Dodson to accept a negotiated plea.

Judge Dodson, who rejected the settlement when it was proposed last week, walked off the bench Monday during a conference with defense attorneys. Judge Dodson reportedly told prosecutors he would not change his mind.

Under terms of the proposed settlement, Paul Skyhorse, 31, and Richard Mohawk, 26, would have been freed from custody after almost two years and eight months in jail. They are charged with the murder of cab driver George Aird.

Sit-in at Brown's office?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — About 40 disabled and retarded persons say they'll hold a sit-in in Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s outer office until satisfied in their request for funds.

They made the decision late Monday after a demonstration in favor of state support for a rehabilitation and job-training program whose federal funding is being cut back.

At a news conference, wheelchair-bound Bruce Curtis said: "We will no longer be kept in institutions, hospitals, attics locked in chains, or the bedrooms of houses."

Curtis, of Pasadena, said the cutbacks "are threatening to put us back, and we will not go back."

Assembly election today

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two 33-year-old attorneys, Democrat Mel Levine and Republican Dana Reed, face off today in a special Assembly election in a heavily Democratic West Los Angeles district.

The election in the 44th District will fill a vacancy left by Democrat Alan Sieroty's election to the state Senate.

The affluent district stretches from the Santa Monica beach east to Rancho Park, and has 88,000 registered Democrats and 37,000 registered Republicans.

Both candidates survived close, expensive primaries.

WATER FOR ARABIA?

A brace of helicopters and tugs wrap an iceberg in a protective covering in this engineer's sketch, as five other tow boats pull the giant mass. The sketch is one of several prepared for use at a two-day symposium in Paris at which a Saudi Arabian prince and a French polar explorer proposed hauling icebergs to water-short nations.

Over half married women abused

A study on wife-beating

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 28 million American women are physically abused by their husbands but the problem is obscured by a "conspiracy of silence," says an author of a study on wife-beating.

Richard C. Levy, who wrote "Wife Beating — The Silent Crisis" with Roger C. Langley, charged Monday that physical abuse of women is not seriously regarded by many people and institutions.

Levy said he and Langley found more than half of the married women in the United States are victims of wife-beatings, of which about 10 per cent involved lethal weapons.

Yet, he said in an interview, the government is only beginning to show an interest in the problem, while many individuals still view it in a humorous vein.

Legislation has been introduced in Congress which Levy described as "a $25 million package which would authorize the National Institute of Mental Health to set up ongoing research on the incidence of domestic violence."

He said that in researching the book, he and his partner found shelters for battered wives springing up all over the country. But, Levy said, "the federal government has got to come up with some sort of guidelines for these centers."

"A marriage license is a hunting license," Levy said. "It gives a man five free beatings because the woman typically doesn't report such abuse until the fifth attack."

Compounding the problem is an attitude by many law enforcement agencies that wifebeating is a nuisance, he said.

Levy said many police departments refuse to charge a husband in a wife-beating case unless a battered wife requires a certain number of stitches to close a wound.

After checking with the FBI, the American Bar Association, HEW, members of Congress and police organizations, Levy said, "We found culpable ignorance."

He said he and his partner based their conclusions on questionnaires they sent to hospitals, police departments, counseling services, crisis centers and individual attorneys in 25 cities.

"The questionnaires started pouring back attesting to the problem at the grass-roots level," Levy said. "Then we found seven scientific studies and, combining them with our empirical research, came up with the 28 million figure."

He said American society clings to its traditional lenient attitude toward wife-beating, even occasionally poking fun at it.

"We studied TV. Remember the Jackie Gleason Show? Remember the punch line you waited for, when Ralph would say, 'Alice, you're going to the moon!'"

Levy added: "If I told a joke about battered children, you'd think I was a sickie."

Drought conscious, conserving too much

Water your lawns, S.F. pleads with residents

FREMONT (AP) — Though the skies stay sunny and the ground stays dry, water officials in some Northern California districts say their drought-conscious customers are overconserving.

Last week, the general manager of the San Francisco Water Department pleaded with city residents not to let their lawns die for lack of water. And during the weekend, the Alameda County Water District, serving 61,000 households east of San Francisco, scrapped mandatory water rationing entirely.

"The people cut back almost 57 per cent. We only required a 25 per cent decrease," said district manager Matt Whitfield. "The people have been so good at saving water it was getting worrisome."

Lawn sprinklers were seen Sunday operating throughout the tri-city area including Fremont, Newark and Union City — a rarity in the San Francisco Bay area where most districts have instituted water rationing plans and restricted watering.

Last week Kenneth R. Boyd, general manager of the San Francisco district, noted that city water users have cut back 40 per cent and their lawns are turning brown. The district asked its customers to cut back by 25 per cent from what they used last year.

While it might be impossible to keep lawns lush and green, Boyd said, there should be enough water at least to keep them alive.

The Alameda County district's sharp drop in water consumption has meant revenues are down, too — about 40 to 50 per cent of normal, according to Roy Coverdale, the district's assistant general manager and auditor.

At their June 30 meeting, the directors will vote whether to increase rates from 36 cents to 45 cents per 748 gallons. The increase would be effective July 1.

Whitfield said the district would be keeping a keen eye over the summer to insure "there is no blatant waste." But based on past performance, he added, water officials don't expect any.

North of San Francisco, in parched Marin County, water officials welcomed the zealousness of their customers.

"Our customers are still exceeding our goal, and that's fine with us," Jules Tham, administrative assistant of the Marin Municipal Water District, said on Monday. Marin residents have been asked to cut water consumption by about 57 per cent.

In Oakland and nearby communities east of San Francisco, the 1.1 million customers of the East Bay Municipal Utility District were about on target for the 35 per cent goal set by the district, said David Vossbrink, public information representative.

"Folks in the East Bay are saving lots of water, and that's good," Vossbrink said Monday. "We don't know yet what's going to happen next year. The water we save this year might be a big part of the water we need next year."

House to vote on pay hike repeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is reaching for one of the hottest potatoes on its legislative menu — a vote on whether to repeal the $12,900 pay raise members of Congress began receiving March 1.

The key vote, which may come Wednesday, should be extremely close.

The House planned a relatively minor vote today on waiving a smaller pay raise that hasn't yet taken effect. The waiver was considered sure to be approved.

The major test will be on an amendment to strike from the legislative appropriation bill funds for the higher salary congressmen have been getting for more than three months.

The Democratic leadership is trying to muster the votes to defeat that amendment, something sources said they have not yet succeeded at.

If the amendment survives the rest of the legislative process, the annual pay of representatives and senators would be cut from $57,500 to $44,600.

And there would be similar reductions in the salaries of federal judges and other high officials, including the vice president, Cabinet members and top ranking federal employes.

Part of the leadership strategy is to ensure that any pay cut would apply to all these groups, not just members of Congress. Theoretically, that would make a cutback harder to justify.

The rules committee is being counted on to take care of this parliamentary requirement.

Whatever action the House takes is subject, however, to Senate review.

If House members pass the appropriations bill minus the funds to cover the raises during the next fiscal year, the Senate would not have to go along. Senators could vote to put the money for their raises back into the bill. That would send the bill to a conference committee made up of representatives from both chambers, whose job would be to reach a compromise agreeable to both the House and Senate.

Proponents of the pay increase could argue that the House should not let itself be dealt an inferior status.

Arrest 5th suspect in Upland shooting

A 19-year-old Ontario man was arrested by police Monday in connection with the Saturday shooting of an Upland man.

The latest arrest brought to five the number of persons accused in the incident. Two are adults and three are juveniles.

Arrested Monday was Manuel Arias, 19, of 937 El Dorado Ave. He and the other adult arrested, Anthony G. Carranza, 19, of 1622 E. Flora St., Ontario, were to be arraigned today in West Valley Municipal Court on charges of attempted murder.

The juveniles, unidentified due to their ages, also faced arraignment today.

All are suspected of involvement in the shooting of Esquevil Garcia, 21, of Upland in the 1100 block of Myrtle Drive Saturday evening. Shot in the abdomen from a passing car, Garcia is reported to be in serious condition in San Bernardino County Hospital.

Modern-day Jack the Ripper loose in England; 5th victim

LEEDS, England (AP) — Police in northern England believe a present-day Jack the Ripper is the murderer of four prostitutes and a teen-age girl in the past 20 months.

The latest victim, a 16-year-old shopgirl named Jayne McDonald, was found battered to death in a red light district of Leeds Sunday morning. A detective said she was "an entirely respectable girl, and she must have been killed by mistake."

The police said she missed her bus Saturday night and was walking home through the area.

The girl lived a few doors away from the first victim, Wilma McCann, 28, who was found dead on a Leeds playing field in October 1975. The next January, Emily Jackson was murdered in a blind alley in the city. Last February, the body of Irene Richardson, 28, was found near a sports pavilion. In April, Patricia Atkinson, 33, was murdered in an apartment in Bradford, 10 miles from Leeds.

The four women were all prostitutes, and all were "battered, viciously knifed and mutilated," police said. Asst. Chief Constable George Oldfield told a news conference Monday the police are convinced the five murders are the work of the same man.

"He will strike again," Oldfield warned as he appealed to the public for information.

3 jailed in connection with gunfire

Pomona police arrested three suspects Monday night in connection with an incident in which several pistol shots were fired into the front of an apartment building at 349 Orchid Lane.

The shooting occurred shortly after 6 p.m. The suspects were arrested about an hour later at Garey Avenue and Philadelphia Street where one was making a telephone call. They were identified as Katherine Cornell, Wilmer Cornell Jr., and Samuel L. Sims, all of Pomona.

Witnesses told police that the shots were fired from an auto parked near the Orchid Lane address. The suspects were booked on suspicion of firing into an inhabited dwelling, a felony.

Woman injured in Pomona crash

A young woman motorist was injured in Pomona Monday evening when her small car and a larger auto collided at Garey Avenue and Phillips Boulevard, police reported.

The motorist, Tamara Willsey, 18, declined immediate medical attention for cuts and bruises. Police said the collision occurred as the other driver involved, Emberto Rojas, 26, of Pomona, attempted to turn left.

Rocks rain on freeway travelers

Four persons were injured, including a Pomona police officer, Monday night when baseball-sized rocks thrown by juveniles crashed into car windows on the San Bernardino Freeway at San Antonio Avenue in Pomona.

Most seriously injured in the rock throwing incidence was Lt. Chester A. Thomas, 33, of the Pomona Police Department. He sustained eye and chest injuries when a baseball-sized rock penetrated his car windshield and struck him in the chest. Glass fragments from the shattered windshield hit near his eye. Thomas sought treatment for his injuries at a local hospital.

The rocks, believed thrown from an alley just below the freeway, also struck the windows of two other vehicles westbound injuring two other youths and a woman.

The first vehicle, driven by Tommy Richard Armstrong, of 10323 Amherst St., Montclair, was struck by two large rocks which shattered the vehicle's side windows showering glass over Tommy Armstrong Jr., 14, and Deanna Lewis, 19, of Montclair.

Jimmy Torres, 8, of Claremont, a passenger in his father's car, also suffered cuts from flying glass after a rock struck the windshield of their car, shattering it.

The Pomona Police Department helicopter assisted Pomona police and the California Highway Patrol in an attempt to locate the juveniles believed responsible for throwing the rocks at the cars on the freeway. Officers were unable to locate any suspects in the incident.

Hospitalized with chest pains

Upland Fire Chief Leon Lamphear died Monday at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland after a short illness.

Mr. Lamphear, 59, served as Upland's fire chief for 13 years, assuming the position on June 30, 1964. He joined the city's Fire Department in 1946 and served 6½ years as a fireman and 11½ years as fire inspector before being promoted to chief.

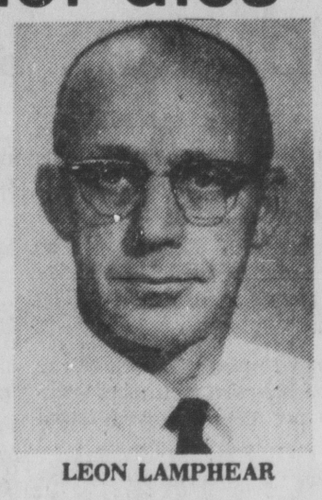
Mr. Lamphear was admitted to the hospital Friday after complaining of chest pains.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Lamphear piloted 25 B-17 missions over Europe with the Army Air Corps.

Surviving are his widow, Ruth, and three children, Linda, Robyn and David.

Don Justis, assistant chief of the Upland Fire Department, will assume charge of the department for the present.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Stone Funeral Home, Upland.



LEON LAMPHEAR

Advertising attorneys hail high court ruling

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — John Bates and Van O'Steen, who riled the legal fraternity last year by advertising their rates, say they'll resume ads for their law clinic "almost immediately," following a Supreme Court decision that overturned an advertising ban on lawyers.

"This means all the professions are going to be vulnerable to attack from the outside," said O'Steen. "This could be the beginning of the end for self-regulation for lawyers, and that's good."

New ads will appear "as soon as we gear up for it," Bates said on Monday.

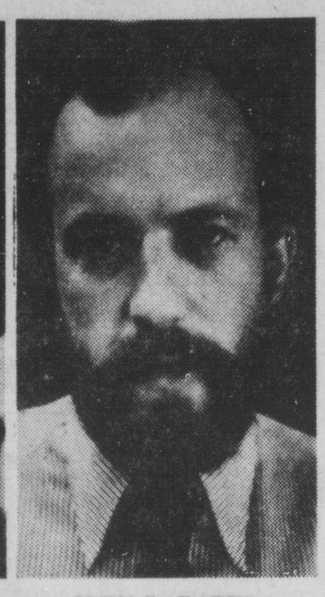
The February 1976 newspaper ad that eventually produced Monday's Supreme Court ruling said:

"Do you need a lawyer? Legal services at very reasonable fees."

The ad listed prices for uncontested divorces, adoptions, bankruptcies and changes of name.

Bates and O'Steen operate a clinic that provides legal services at reduced prices. They said it is designed for persons who cannot afford private attorneys but are not poor enough to qualify for legal aid. The clinic uses paralegal assistants and automated equipment to reduce the cost of routine legal services.

VAN O'STEEN



JOHN R. BATES

The two lawyers said the ad was designed to challenge the Arizona Bar Association's rule banning such advertising, adding that they believe such ads are necessary to get enough customers to make a low-cost clinic work.

"We wanted to set the ad up as a test case," Bates said. "We wanted to test the most outrageous thing we could, namely specific prices for services."

The bar association brought disciplinary action against the lawyers and was upheld by the Arizona Supreme Court, which ordered that a written notice of censure be issued.

William Canby, the Arizona State University law professor who argued the case before the high court for his two former students, said the ruling "will drive fees down, at least for some legal services."

John Frank, who argued the case for the bar association, predicted the opinion would be extended to other learned professions. "Accountants and doctors, at least, will be in the same boat," he said.

Bates and O'Steen said they have set a new target. They now plan to test whether a lawyer can advertise a specific hourly fee for legal work on more complex cases.

Obituaries

Dennis Fee Jr.

Dennis Dean Fee Jr., 2½-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Fee of 520 Vesta St., Ontario, died Sunday in Children's Hospital, Orange.

Besides his parents, the baby is survived by his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Fee Sr. of Ontario; his maternal grandfather, Thomas E. Williams Sr. of Ontario, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Birdella Williams of Montclair.

Friends may call from 6 to 9 p.m. today at the Blackman-Pollock Memorial Chapel, Pomona. Rosary will be recited at 7:30 tonight at the chapel. Mass of the Christian Burial will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Wednesday at St. George Catholic Church, Ontario. Burial will be made in Bellevue Cemetery, Ontario.

Grace Harmer

Grace W. Harmer of 1550 N. Park Ave., Pomona, died Monday afternoon in a local convalescent hospital.

Mrs. Harmer was born Oct. 3, 1897 in Othemo, Mich. She came to California around 1908 from Michigan. In 1916 she moved to Pomona from Monte Vista (now known as Montclair). She was married to Ernest Harmer July 17, 1923. Mr. Harmer was a local businessman and former car dealer in Pomona. Mrs. Harmer was employed many years as a linotype operator with the Progress Bulletin.

There are no known surviving relatives.

Services will be held Thursday at 11:30 a.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. Burial will be made in Pomona Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Pomona Chapel Wednesday from noon until 9 p.m.

Joseph Groene

Joseph K. Groene of 1400 W. 13th St., Upland, died Sunday morning in Pomona Valley Community Hospital following a short illness.

Mr. Groene was born April 7, 1919 in Wadina, Minn. He came to Pomona in 1940 from Minnesota and moved to Claremont in 1950. He had resided in Upland since December 1976.

Mr. Groene was a 1954 graduate of Claremont Men's College. He was vice president of Wagenseller & Durst Inc., and had been associated with them for the past 23 years. He served with the Army during World War II.

Mr. Groene was a member of the Claremont Kiwanis Club, University Club, and a corporate member of Pilgrim Place.

Besides his widow, June, he is survived by a son, Jerry of Cucamonga; a daughter, Connie Johnson also of Cucamonga; two sisters, Marie Plagman of Clear Lake and Beatrice Benson of Minneapolis, Minn.; and two grandchildren, Amy Christine Johnson and Christopher Allen Johnson both of Cucamonga.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Claremont United Methodist Church. Dr. James W. Dallas, pastor of the church, will officiate. Private committal services will be held in Oak Park Cemetery, Claremont. Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona is in charge of arrangements.

Friends may make memorial contributions to the Joseph K. Groene Memorial Fund, at Claremont United Methodist Church, 211 W. Foothill Blvd., Claremont 91711.

Richard Russell Ronshausen

Richard Russell Ronshausen of 417 W. Fourth St., San Dimas, died Saturday at his home.

He was born Sept. 21, 1953 in California, and was a maintenance man at San Dimas Community Hospital.

He is survived by his father, William Russell Ronshausen of Oregon; his mother, Mrs. C. Jane Ronshausen of San Dimas; a sister, Mrs. Larry Knudsen of Pomona; and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ronshausen of Pomona.

Graveside services will be held today at 3 p.m. at Pomona Cemetery. Blackman-Pollock Memorial Chapel of Pomona is in charge of arrangements.

And whatever shows, costs.

Here's one simple solution. Keep your indoor temperature at 78° instead of 70° and you could cut your cooling costs up to 30 percent. Air conditioning is supposed to keep you comfortable, not cold.

By the way, make sure all your doors and windows are closed. Why pay to air condition the neighborhood?

Again, remember. Indoor temperature 78° or higher.

It's another way you can help conservation. And it will definitely pay off—next time your meter reader shows up.

Employers alerted about use of chemicals

Starting Friday, California employers using asbestos, vinyl chloride and 14 other proven cancer-causing chemicals face $1,000 fines for serious safety violations involving the substances and $5,000 fines for repeat infractions.

This alert to the business community was issued by state Health Director Jerome A. Lackner, who noted the chemicals are used in a wide variety of industrial, chemical, scientific and manufacturing settings.

Dr. Lackner said the fines represent the policing aspect of California's expanding program to prevent job-related cancer.

The law requires employers to report use of the 14 regulated chemicals to the State Division of Industrial Safety, which administers the program jointly with the State Health Department, by July 1 or thereafter risk a $500 fine for failing to report.

Employers using asbestos and vinyl chloride have until Sept. 1 to report before the $500 fine applies to them.

Employers may report the use of the 16 state-regulated cancer-causing substances in writing, to the State Division of Industrial Safety, 455 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco, 94102.

They should report the substance or substances used, the process, the location and the number of workers involved.

The State Health Department has technical experts available to help employers with free consultation services and assistance. Employers may arrange such assistance by contacting the Occupational Cancer Control Unit in the State Health Department.

To obtain free assistance, Lackner said, Southern California employers may call (213) 620-4290.

Dr. Lackner noted that employers who have the regulated cancer-causing substances on their business premises but who may choose not to keep them must dispose of the substances in accord with state laws and regulations. Employers wishing to dispose of cancer-causing substances should contact the State health Department's vector and waste management section for guidance on correct disposal. The section office in Los Angeles may be reached by phoning (213) 620-2380.

The 14 regulated chemicals, in addition to vinyl chloride and asbestos, are used in many industrial plants, pharmaceutical businesses and in medical, chemical and research laboratories. The list includes, 2-Acetylaminofluorene, 4-Aminodiphenyl, Benzidine (and its salts), bis-Chloromethyl ether, 3, 3-Dichlorobenzidine (and its salts), 4-Dimethylaminoazobenzene, beta-Naphthylamine, 4-Nitrobiphenyl, N-Nitrosodimethylamine, beta-Propiolactone, Methyl chloromethyl ether, alpha-Naphthylamine, 4, 4-Methylene bis (2-Chloroaniline), and Ethyleneimine.

Claremont's July 4 parade entries sought

Applications are being accepted for Claremont's Fourth of July parade, with participants being limited to Claremonters.

Specially invited groups may participate, such as a band, special riders or owners of antique autos.

All entries are required to follow the 1977 theme of "Our Country Is . . ." and the intent of an Independence Day parade celebration.

Costumes and floats will be judged on beauty and appropriateness to the theme.

Awards will be presented for the best entries in nine parade categories.

The parade will form at 3 p.m. at 10th Street and Yale Avenue, and start at 4 p.m.

Categories are as follows: marching unit, mobile unit, equestrian, color guard, Claremont parks group, novelty group, band, antique car, and old car.

A mayor's trophy, a theme trophy, and a sweepstakes trophy will be awarded for outstanding entries.

This year, no person will be allowed to sell anything along the parade route to spectators or participants, and police will be asked to enforce the no selling ban.

In past years, spectators have been injured through items sold along the parade route.

Official theme of the all-day celebration is "America is Beautiful."

Steel contract talks make 'good progress'

In a joint statement, officials of Kaiser Steel, Fontana, and of the United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, said the two parties are making "good progress" in current contract negotiations.

The present contract, covering 7,000 members of Local 2869 at the Fontana plant, is due to expire on Aug. 1. Negotiations on a new contract began April 29.

"Both parties have come to the bargaining table with a positive attitude," said Carl Griffin, Kaiser Steel's director of industrial relations. "We are all well aware that a new contract must be finalized on schedule to assure our customers an uninterrupted supply of steel products."

Robert J. Petris, USWA director, District 38, said "there are still about a thousand steelworkers on layoff status at the Fontana plant. If steel users lose confidence and place orders somewhere else, it would mean more layoffs. And, he pointed out, "there is plenty of foreign-made steel at the harbor."

The Kaiser Steel-USWA contract provides that the economic provisions agreed to in the eastern steel contract will be automatically applied to the Fontana plant. Agreement on economic issues such as basic wage rates and wage increases was reached in April between the major steel producers and the USWA. Local issues, such as work rules and seniority provisions, are being negotiated at individual plants.

Company and union officials confirmed they were pleased with the progress to date and expressed confidence that agreement on a new contract would be reached.

72 finish nurse training course

Seventy-two students have completed the Pomona Adult School's nursing assistants training course.

Unhappy with administration in Ed Center issue

Pomona board angered by lack of priority list

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Staff Writer

Not satisfied with the performance of its administrative staff, an angered Pomona school board adjourned a planned budget study session early Monday evening and went into executive session with Supt. Charles Carpenter.

The board's dissatisfaction with the staff arose finally during a discussion of the operation of the district's administrative headquarters, the Education Center at 800 S. Garey Ave., Pomona.

Trustee C. Allen Braswell sharply jabbed the staff, telling officials and fellow board members, "At the last regular meeting of the board I requested a prioritized breakdown of all activities at the Ed Center in regard to the way in which they deal with children. I see here only a report of the status quo."

Braswell strongly criticized the administration's failure to provide a "prioritized" list of the Ed Center's activities saying, "There is always a defense given for anything we want cut. Last week I was told the Professional Development Program was the No. 1 priority for students. Now I am told that all the programs are of No. 1 priority except for their directors."

"I don't believe," he said, "you can say every item is of No. 1 priority in terms of its service to children. I am just not that naive."

Referring to the budget presentation he said, "It did not work last year. It did not work this year and it will not work next year."

Implying that the school's administration may be top heavy, he said the report on the Education Center gave evidence of providing a number of jobs, but criticized the staff for not prioritizing those jobs in order for some cuts or changes to occur so the district might save money.

Braswell's comments were quickly echoed by trustee Eugene Whitlock who asked, "Why hasn't this (the prioritization) been done? I've been asking for this and putting up with this sort of thing for three years now and I'm tired of being laughed at as the one who always causes the trouble."

When Board President Don Donnelly suggested that, since the staff hadn't "prioritized" the Ed Center activities, the board go ahead and do it. Whitlock angrily disagreed saying, "No. They get a good salary for doing this and I think it's about time they earned it. The business affairs department didn't even list their operation and there are three of them sitting here," he said motioning toward the three representatives from the district's business operation.

Superintendent of Schools Charles Carpenter admitted he was unable to answer Whitlock's question as to why the priority lists had not been presented. He did say that such lists would be provided for the board in plenty of time for the next budget study session Thursday evening.

The full impact of Monday's meeting cannot be known pending the outcome of any actions or directions given in executive session. But the meeting did show a growing split between the administration and the board and emphasized the board's growing frustration with what it regards as an inadequate administrative performance.

TESTING APRICOTS

Greg Wright holds a tray of dried apricots while Penny Buckey tests one to see if it's done. Apricots, other fruits and vegetables can be dried in Chaffey College's food preservation program this summer.

Chaffey College food center to open soon

The public is invited to can, freeze or dry surplus food at a community food preservation center to be opened at Chaffey College's Home Economics Department.

The center will open on July 5 and continue operation through Sept. 1 in room 4 of the Home Economics Building on the Alta Loma campus.

The innovative program is being funded through the college's vocational program and will offer three three-week free sessions combining training workshops and the opportunity to use the college's food center.

A trained home economist will conduct workshops each morning from 9 to 11 a.m. Drying will be explained on Monday, canning is Tuesday's topic, freezing will be discussed on Wednesday and a special topic is planned each Thursday.

Work sessions are set from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

No advanced sign-up is set for the workshop. Participants will sign for afternoon sessions during the morning.

Instructors Kyle Kimbel and Elizabeth Wright of the college home economics department suggest that the public plan to dry apricots, peaches, figs, bananas and apples in the department's three newly purchased dryers.

In addition to instructions on canning and freezing, the making of jams, jellies, pickles and relishes will be explained.

There are no fees charged for the use of the center and no preregistration is required. Additional information is available by calling 987-1737.

Pomona City Council delays budget action

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

Only three days from the start of a new fiscal year, Pomona City Council found itself unready to adopt a new municipal budget Monday night and delayed further consideration of the $22.2 million spending plan until July 11.

Dozens of citizens took the opportunity Monday night, however, to advise the council on good ways to spend more that $2 million in federal revenue sharing funds the city will receive.

The council has been debating whether to use some of those federal dollars to balance the next budget, and thereby avoid a property tax rate increase, and how to allocate the rest to community agencies and city departments.

Residents urged the council to use as much money as possible to support such community services as transportation for the aged and disabled, the arts and cultural affairs, recreation, and youth services.

Two speakers also took the opportunity to assail the council's record on "people" programs.

Ken Stewart, director of the South Hills Neighborhood Service Center, urged the council to "open your eyes to the reality of the community" by allocating as much money as possible for "people related" programs instead of capital investments or operating expenses.

He said Pomona's poor need the help such monies can provide. He attacked the council's recent decision to turn down more than $1.4 million in federal block grant funds because it would require city acceptance of a subsidized housing assistance plan for the poor.

"The block grant decision prompted some to think this council is insensitive almost to the point of irresponsibility," said Stewart.

The Rev. Walter Cooks Jr. from Mt. Zion Baptist Church said such decisions have made it appear "an anti-poor people campaign is being waged and enforced by certain officials in our city."

Most of the speakers, however, made their remarks in simple support of certain community services such as Pomona Valley Community Services, which provides transportation to senior citizens and the disabled needing to get to the doctor or hospital.

Other services supported by speakers included the Pomona Boys Club, Pomona Valley YMCA Outreach program, Valley Community Theater, Kennedy Park recreation program and community center, and the Barbara Greenwood Kindergarten restoration fund.

A decision on funding for such agencies will be made at the same time a budget is adopted for the city by the council.

Chino wage dispute may end tonight

Chino teachers may settle their wage dispute with the school board at tonight's meeting.

The teachers were scheduled to vote on a master contract this afternoon, and the board would then consider ratification of the agreement this evening at 7.

Charles Sanchez, Associated Chino Teachers (ACT) president, said teachers have approved the latest salary and fringe benefit offer unofficially, but other parts of the contract must be finalized.

The salary agreement likely to be voted on tonight calls for a 5.7 per cent increase retroactive to July 1, 1976. Teachers have received no cost-of-living increase for the current school year.

The employes also would receive a 6 per cent increase on July 1, 1977 and a 6.7 per cent wage hike on July 1, 1978.

Also, the fringe benefit allowance per person would be raised from $534 to $814 annually, said Sanchez. The money can be used for a health or life insurance plan or another policy of the employe's choice.

Sanchez said progress has been made on the contract partly because of the angry confrontation with school trustees at the June 14 board meeting.

About 200 teachers demanded a late-night bargaining session that evening, and got it. Even though they rejected a salary proposal that came out of that session, they unofficially approved another offer several days later.

"I know the confrontation helped," said Sanchez. "We negotiated for four full days last week, and before that we were lucky to get two partial days a week."

He noted that the teachers' protest had made a "dramatic difference."

Pomonan arrested after 2 car fires

A Pomona man was arrested Monday by Pomona fire inspectors on suspicion of arson after a car belonging to a Pomona woman was reportedly set on fire twice during the afternoon.

Raymond Joseph Vigil, 672 Loranne Ave., remains in Pomona jail today following his arrest. He is charged with starting fires in a 1963 sedan at 1:12 and 4:43 p.m. in the 600 block of Clark Avenue.

The car, registered to Rose Sanchez, 2338 Marquette Ave., received about $400 damage in the two fires, according to fire investigators.

THEY'RE ALL VOLUNTEERS

Some of the 50 youngsters who turned out for training as swim aides at the El Roble swimming pool in Claremont last Friday listen to pool manager Maia Kinsinger and lifeguard Chris Martin explain the duties of an aide. Each aide who volunteers at least 50 hours during the summer goes to Disneyland at the end of the season before school starts.

Swim aide program's start is successful

A successful Red Cross swim aide program seems assured for the El Roble pool at Claremont this summer.

About 50 hopefuls turned out last Thursday and Friday for interviews and training by pool manager Maia Kinsinger and life guard-instructor Chris Martin.

The youngsters, 12 through 15, will assist in swim classes throughout the summer and pass out equipment.

Coordinating the Red Cross program is Ken Sandoe, junior program assistant.

Sandoe said that the volunteer who compiles more than 50 hours at the pool will receive a free trip and rides at Disneyland at the end of the summer. More hours compiled will mean more ride tickets at the attraction.

Sandoe said that while he was appreciative of the turnout of volunteers as swim aides, he is lacking volunteers to serve as recreation aides at the Crippled Children's Center on Indian Hill Boulevard, and as companions for the residents at Hillhaven Convalescent Hospital, also on Indian Hill Boulevard in Claremont.

Russia looks backward

The Soviet Union's next constitution, which has been published in draft form and will be adopted this fall after controlled "debate," is a strangely old fashioned, even reactionary, document.

This is ironic for a society which claims to be "progressive," "advanced" and "scientific."

Its new constitution is in fact more backward than the one written by colonial farmers, merchants and lawyers in Philadelphia 190 years earlier.

The most striking difference between the two charters is their views of the individual.

The 18th-century Americans saw man as having natural rights that government could not abridge.

In modern Russia rights are granted by an all-powerful state which decides how — or if — they will be exercised.

A case in point is the 1936 "Stalin Constitution," which is being replaced.

It contained liberal promises of freedom of press, speech, assembly, religion and privacy.

In practice, however, it gave no protection to millions of innocent persons who were jailed or executed in the dictator's blood purges.

In recent years small numbers of dissidents have pointed to that constitution in calling for human rights denied to them.

They tried to defend themselves against criminal charges by insisting they were only asking for what was guaranteed to them by law.

General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev, who expects the new document to make his mark in history, has moved to tighten the line against dissent.

After enumerating the people's rights, his constitution in effect takes them away by adding:

"Exercise by citizens of rights and freedoms must not injure the interest of society and the state . . ."

In translation this clearly means the people can do just what Big Brother says and no more.

Brezhnev's constitution also strengthens the dominant role of the Communist Party in Soviet life.

The party, it states, is "the ruling and directing power . . . of all the state and public organizations."

Of course, this has been the state of affairs since the 1917 revolution, but previous constitutions were not so frank about a ruling class in what was supposed to be Marx's classless society.

Minority rule, it turns out, is a problem not only in southern Africa.

What is also notable is the constitution's absence of checks and balances.

It is handed down by the Supreme Soviet, the nominal parliament run by the party, which also passes any party-desired enabling laws.

There is no judicial review or possibility of appeal.

Moscow's propaganda machine would not agree, of course, but a comparison of the new constitution with America's "bourgeois" document of 1787 would be unfavorable to the former.

By including strong checks and balances the American framers protected the individual from arbitrary government.

By negating its paper promises of rights, the Brezhnev charter protects a ruling elite against its subjects.

Some progress.

Think on these things

If you've never stood in the middle of a summer hayfield — just after it has been cut — you have missed a little part of the season that is as old and memorable as the hills. All kinds of birds — the field sparrow, the red-winged blackbird, doves and meadowlarks — make a frenzied search for grain or seeds dropped by the mower. Bees hunt for the clover that bloomed profusely before the machine passed over the purple patches. The crickets and katydids rub out the continuous sounds and the curve of the field is all lemon-gold and dotted with lavendar vetch.

It isn't just the field or the summer day, but the time which is no longer in a straight row, but telescoped so that yesterday and yesterday is a part of now. A time when the dust on the country road is thick and hot and a drink from the spring is clear and cool. It is a time when golden loaves of home-baked bread and freshly churned butter are all a part of a summer's day — and so am I, and so am I.

County employee morale low

Dear Editor:

In recent months, many news articles have been printed about the Los Angeles County employes' walk-outs, sickouts, and possible strike.

I work for the Department of Public Social Services, and I know how bad the conditions are that have led to these events.

It's about time the general public hears our side of the story.

Working conditions at our office are so bad that the general morale is very low. Excessive reports, early deadlines, pressure from the bureaucracy, and an overload of work have left the majority of workers frustrated and unsatisfied.

On top of this, it has been proposed, in the interest of saving the county money, taking away many of our benefits and in effect lowering or freezing our salary at present levels. With this "freeze" and reduced medical benefits, it will be even more difficult to meet the rising cost of living. These items include:

Abolishing our dental plan.
Reducing health plan coverages.
Decreased sick-pay.
Abolishing the step raises,
Abolishing the right to grieve and the prevailing wage clause in our contract.
Reducing the right to negotiate pay increases from every year to every other year, and abolishing the 25 per cent retirement paid by the county and forcing employes to pay back the monies paid by the county during the past few years.

Supervisor Pete Schabarum has been repeatedly downgrading the work habits of county employes. We have yet to see him in our office, which is located directly across the street from his office. I see hard working and dedicated people in my office every day. I wonder on what basis Mr. Schabarum makes these statements.

The county must come to realize it can't get something for nothing. In order to keep the many hard working and good employes it has, something must be given in return.

Budapest cops detain newsman

WASHINGTON — Shortly after Los Angeles Times correspondent Robert Toth was arrested and harassed by the Soviet KGB in Moscow, one of our own reporters was picked up by the Hungarian police outside Budapest, escorted to a police station and interrogated about his news work.

Michael Viner and his actress-model wife, Deborah Raffin, were detained and questioned for seven hours. Their passports, camera and private notes were seized by the police.

The couple was accused falsely of taking unauthorized pictures of a military truck. Indeed, Deborah had pointed her camera at a nearby road but had snapped no pictures. It is possible, therefore, that the police mistakenly thought she had photographed the truck.

Yet a stray truck is hardly a secret weapon that must be hidden from the West. The incident was also the first of its kind in the memory of diplomats, whose experience goes back four years. And strangely, two carloads of policemen suddenly materialized at the scene.

Later, it became clear from the questioning that the police not only had been keeping a close watch on Viner throughout his stay in Hungary but was fully aware of his reporting activities. At one point, an interrogator demanded harshly: "Why is Jack Anderson interested in Hungary?"

It may also be significant that the incident immediately followed Toth's ordeal in Moscow. Toth's chilling encounter with the KGB was taken in Washington as another blunt signal that Moscow is displeased with President Carter's human rights campaign. This Kremlin attitude, presumably, has not gone unnoticed in the Eastern European satellites.

Viner is our Hollywood reporter, who also sends us dispatches from overseas when he is traveling. He recently provided us with first-hand accounts of the political turmoil in india. In Yugoslavia and Hungary, he was doing similar research for us.

He put through an emergency call to us after the first of two sessions with the Hungarian police. We made a number of phone calls to Budapest. From Viner and diplomatic sources, here are the details of his experience:

Viner and his actress-wife were apprehended in the outskirts of Budapest by an armed motorcycle policeman, who menacingly opened his holster to free the pistol. The pair was ordered to hand over their passports and the camera.

Then the policeman signalled the eight men who apparently had been trailing Viner. The strange caravan proceeded to a local police station where a series of mysterious phone conversations was held. Eventually, a slovenly man appeared and introduced himself as the interpreter.

"You may be in serious trouble," he began ominously. This was followed by four hours of grueling interrogation. Then the couple was permitted to return to their hotel, under virtual house arrest, until the following morning.

They phoned the U.S. consulate and placed an overseas call to us. The chief consul, D. Thomas Longo, advised them to return to the police station as ordered. It might only escalate the incident, he suggested, to bring a consular official along. But he promised that the U.S. authorities would respond vigorously if any serious charges were brought.

So the following morning, the Viners appeared at the Budapest police headquarters and were ushered into a drab interrogation room. They were confronted by a hostile woman and two uniformed policemen.

The dour woman, speaking through an interpreter, began cross-examining Viner about his reporting. He admitted that he had done some reporting but claimed he had come to Hungary primarily as a tourist. The woman kept pressing, demanding to know why Jack Anderson was interested in Hungary.

The couple was warned again that they might be in "serious trouble." And one of the uniformed policemen volunteered that "our jails here are very unpleasant." But no direct threats were made, and no charges were brought.

Three hours of questioning were followed by some more conspiratorial telephone conversations. Then suddenly, the couple was told it was all "a mistake" and released.

But later in Vienna, Viner discovered that three pages of his notes were missing. They must have been taken from his hotel room, he said, while he was under questioning.

Footnote: The State Dept., tended to downplay the affair, describing it as merely an "inconvenient incident." A spokesman for the Hungarian Embassy had no comment.

DIPLOMATIC DIGEST — Communist leaders in Cambodia, one of the most closed societies on earth, are so secretive and xenophobic that some of them have taken on pseudonyms to avoid identification. Only a few months ago, American analysts learned that the secretary general of the party, Salot Sar, and the prime minister, Pol Pot, are probably one and the same man.

— Although North Korea is ruled by a repressive regime, few North Koreans defect across the 38th parallel. The last defector, for example, was a young soldier who stole his sergeant's lunch and fled south in fear of retribution.

Invitation to rape

Are school-age girls inviting rape — by the way they act and the way they dress?

A Wisconsin judge said they are. And he, Judge Archie Simonson, refused to jail a 15-year-old boy for what the judge called "reacting normally" to the sex stimuli all around him.

Madison (Wis.) County Judge Simonson considered the case of the boy accused of raping a girl, 16, in a schoolhouse stairwell. Then he released the boy to go home — subject to one year of "court supervision" — but no confinement.

Some women, individually and organized, reacting with indignation, picketed the courthouse with signs reading "Rape is not normal!" and "Archie Must Go!"

But the position of the judge is supported by an increasing number of educators and sociologists — that our sex-oriented atmosphere inflames passions, encourages rape.

The judge says the state university town of Madison, Wis., is particularly permissive.

He mentioned revealing female clothing plus sex emphasis in movies and magazines, billboards and nude bars.

In person, Judge Simonson does not sound like a close-minded puritanical prude.

Simonson is married, father of four, including three daughters.

He seems genuinely to be searching for an explanation and solution to an increasing problem which is glutting his court.

The noisy response to this court ruling is now causing some educators to say aloud what they have been thinking: that the deterioration of public education might be traceable to a relaxation of the school dress code.

Academically, we are going backward.

No need to re-recite the sad statistics relating to fundamental illiteracy; nobody is defending the public education record any longer.

Mrs. Trudy Clayton abandoned the teaching profession in Michigan because of the chronic problems of deportment, disinterest and surrender to slovenliness.

She is convinced that much of the blame relates to the relaxed dress code.

Whether sloppy attire was more cause than effect is debatable, but it is her observation that the braless look and the shabby shoes and the unclean jeans begat undisciplined conduct and disdain for academic excellence.

Young people tend to be imitators — of their peers and their idols. In apportioning the responsibility, one must acknowledge the bad examples of the play-actors who show up for TV talk show interviews looking like unmade beds.

Further, an economic factor must be recognized in this recent revolt against stockings and starch, creases and cleanliness.

It's expensive to look neat.

But somehow, even during the John Boy Walton depression days, we managed it.

Any excess ultimately is its own undoing.

Perhaps the situation in Madison will encourage that and other communities to look at themselves in the mirror and see if they really like what they see.

Doc Peirsol

Just in jest

In today's permissive society it is a popularly accepted judgment regarding morality that a person has the right to do anything so long as whatever it is he or she chooses to do doesn't hurt somebody else. It's a nice theory and one that conveniently covers a multitude of sins. Unfortunately, however, with so many of us operating on that assumption and carefully seeing to it that we are hurting no one but ourselves, everybody is hurting.

Bitter 'truth' about chocolate

Well, they've done it. They weren't satisfied until they convinced me cigarettes would kill me; now they're hinting that chocolate could turn me into a killer.

"They," of course, are the scientists who study our eating patterns and who are convinced that malnutrition and food allergies can trigger "aggressive and mind-warping behavior leading to violent criminal acts."

In some people, maybe. But sweet old lovable me? And here I always thought my craving for chocolate was only bad for my waistline.

Now it turns out there's a definite link between food and crime. (I'll say. I'd rob my granddaughter's piggy bank to finance a hot fudge fix.) In some cases, doctors say, the wrong diet can jolt our brains into sending out all kinds of psychotic suggestions.

Food allergies tend to foul up our nervous systems, see, which causes our brains to swell. This either pushes the "go" button that fires up our "poke-em-in-the-eye" instincts, or it deadens the nerve area that usually keeps our aggressive impulses on "hold."

Either way, it means trouble.

Allergies aren't the only problem. People with hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) tend to be irritable, irrational and violent. This can be controlled by diet, but when it isn't it can lead to what researchers call "motiveless murders," assaults, and sexual crimes.

One Canadian psychiatrist has statistics that suggest 90 per cent of convicted murders diagnosed as paranoid schizophrenics suffer from low blood sugar or some vitamin deficiency.

And a probation officer in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, is getting remarkable results with a new theory: don't put criminals in jail; put them on a diet, instead.

Barbara Reed tests her charges for low blood sugar, and if they come up positive she persuades the judge to sentence them to high-protein foods, fresh vegetables, fruits and vitamin supplements. If they go off their diet, they go off to the slammer.

Most of them stick with it and say they feel like new persons. One young offender said that before he met Mrs. Reed he used to have five or six chocolate bars for breakfast "to get me going . . . then I'd drink Cokes all day long." Now he eats right and stays out of trouble. He doesn't crave chocolate any more, either.

This is all very well for society, but it tends to give the rest of us confirmed chocoholics pause. Come to think of it, I've been noticing an increased irritability lately, but I thought it was only the withdrawl pain of kicking the cigarette habit.

It never crossed my mind that my new short fuse was brought on by those M&Ms I gobble to squelch nicotine fits.

All my life I've been convinced that the wisest thing Thomas Jefferson ever said was back there in 1785 when he returned from Europe praising "the superiority of chocolate both for health and nourishment."

And I forgave Cardinal Richelieu all his other sins because, legend has it, his deathbed request in 1642 was: "chocolate, chocolate, chocolate!" As one whose idea of Heaven is a giant See's candy shop, that's something I can relate to.

After all, the Greek word for chocolate, "theobroma cacao," translates into "food of the gods." And who am I to argue with the Greeks?

The Aztecs knew what they had in those miraculous pods full of crunchy, shiny brown beans. Montezuma was convinced they gave his people universal wisdom and knowledge. He kept a supply of two million pounds handy, just to be on the safe side.

It was a Dutchman (one of my ancestors, no doubt) who mixed cocoa butter with sugar and cocoa and molded it into the first chocolate bar. And a couple of Swiss (one of them named Nestle, as in crunch) who added sweetened condensed milk and created milk chocolate.

Americans didn't discover chocolate until 1775, when traders from South America sailed into Boston with a cargo of raw cocoa beans. Now we each devour around 10 pounds of chocolate a year.

That's the national average. I've reached that by Mother's Day.

So mind your ways around me, folks. If I've got traces of chocolate on my chops I could be dangerous.

Eye problem has goat shed tears

DEAR DR. MILLER: Nanny (goat) always seemed happy till the last few days. Now she's very sad and cries a lot. I don't know why. I thought only humans cried. — N.F.

DEAR N.F.: Nanny's tears didn't start rolling because she was emotionally upset, but because she has an eye disease—possibly pinkeye. Keratoconjunctivitis (pinkeye) can be caused by more than one oragnism, and is spread by aerosols, direct contact among infected animals, and flies. Tears are an early sign. The eyes may become cloudy, even to the extent of causing temporary blindness. In those cases, the animal is unable to see to drink or eat.

An eye problem in any animal is an indication for an immediate checkup by the doctor. Since most can rapidly become serious, regardless of the treatment prescribed, good nursing care for any creature afflicted with eye trouble includes keeping the patient in subdued light since bright light, and sunlight in particular, increases eye irritation and sensitivity. Though Nanny, with her sore eyes, may indeed feel bad, the tears preceded the sadness.

DEAR DR. MILLER: We'll soon be getting our first canary. Should it be bathed when we first get it home? We like everything nice and clean around here. — K.C.

DEAR K.C.: Canaries keep clean themselves, given the chance. A healthy new bird should be in presentable condition when you get it. A bath can be important, however, even life-saving, when given not to the bird but to the bird cage and its contents.

They should be washed with soap and water, rinsed thoroughly, and completely dried before the canary is introduced. (Any new objects later installed in the cage should go through the same cleanup.) This procedure prevents potentially poisonous residues, possibly left on cage or contents at the manufacturing plant or somewhere along the line, from endangering your bird.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Like many others, I was having trouble with my two cats eating my plants. Then someone told me it might be the fish emulsion fertilizer I was using. Sure enough, when I stopped using the fish, the cats became less interested in the plants and now ignore them entirely. You might pass this clue along. — G.C.

DEAR G.C.: Happy to. Unfortunately, though, many cats need no fish emulsion seasoning to find houseplants irresistible. For those that do, though, withholding the cause is a simple solution to saving the plants (and, in the case of poisonous plants, possibly the cats themselves.)

By Bernice Bede Osol
For Wednesday, June 29, 1977
Your Birthday, June 29, 1977

This coming year both hard work and chance could add to your wealth. Chance will have the minor role, so rely more heavily on the sweat of your brow.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try to get the boss's ear today if you've been promised a raise or advancement. It's likely he'll look more favorably on your request. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You excel at managing situations today. While you let people have free rein with their ideas, you never let them stray so far you can't control them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Talk your problems out with a trustworthy friend today. Don't hold anything back. He can give you solutions and slants you wouldn't think about.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A chance meeting with someone new in pleasant circumstances could be profitable. Something in the way of an unusual venture may be aired.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The aspects continue to be very promising in financial areas today. If you have any money-making ideas, get on with them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Express your compassionate instincts toward others today. When the accounts are tallied, you'll find you're the one who profited most.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Something interesting is developing today. It involves people who hold you in high regard and who are secretly working in your behalf.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't shy away from approaching those in high places if you need their good offices today. They should be extra-cooperative.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) No mountain is too high for you today. You're far more tenacious and resourceful than you believe, but to know this you must try.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your first impression regarding a business situation today could be erroneous. However, second thoughts could insure victory.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll make out better in joint ventures today if you pledge your talent and your time in lieu of dipping into your resources.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Commission one you have confidence in to bargain for you today. He'll negotiate a much better deal than you could negotiate.

No harm in ironing shorts

Dear Ann: When I read the column about ironing the bedsheets and towels a long time ago, I meant to write about a problem that has been bugging me for ages. Sorry I am so late, but here it is.

My husband left a note for me this morning that said, "Unless you are sick, dying, or dead, I expect my shorts to be ironed and in my bureau drawer when I come home tonight. Love, Sam." I have never ironed Sam's shorts in the seven years we've been married and he never complained until now. I decided I wasn't going to spoil him at this late date, so I did not iron his shorts. I cleaned out his closet and shined his shoes instead.

When Sam came home he kissed me and headed for the bedroom to check on the shorts. They were in his bureau drawer, folded neatly, but NOT ironed.

He didn't say anything but I could see he was annoyed. Please give me your frank opinion, Ann. Should a wife who has never ironed her husband's shorts in the seven years she's been married, start? — Bertha

Dear Bertha: There are all kinds of husbands — some couldn't care less whether their shorts are ironed or not. Others complain if their handkerchiefs aren't lined up just so.

In my opinion, it's not unreasonable for a man to want his shorts ironed. You'll burn up less energy ironing seven pairs of shorts than worrying about whether you should or shouldn't. So my advice is — iron 'em, doll, and I'll bet Sam will stand on his head to please you.

Ann Landers tells the behind-the-scenes story on her survey, "Would You Marry The Same Person," in Family Circle Magazine — on the stands today.

Dear Ann Landers: You are going to decide this one. My boyfriend and I hailed a taxi last night. When we got in he saw a quarter on the floor, picked it up and stuck it in his pocket — didn't think I saw him.

When we got out, I told him I had seen him put the quarter in his pocket, and I thought he should have given it to the driver. He said I was wrong, that it had been dropped by the previous passenger and he had as much right to it as anyone.

His argument, "If I hadn't picked it up, the next person in the cab would have." Please say who is right. — Flummoxed

Dear Flum: The quarter may well have belonged to the previous passenger, but it's a lead-pipe cinch it didn't belong to your boyfriend.

Tell Mr. Great-Heart that he's my candidate for the Small Potato of the Month Award — Cheapskate Division.

Dear Ann: My wife was married to a bully before she met me. He treated her rotten. She almost had a nervous breakdown after living with him for five years. Myrtle and I have been married seven months and everything is nifty except for one thing. When she has too many beers, she calls me Fred, which is her ex-husband's name. Does this mean she is still in love with him? — I'm Hank

Dear Hank: Stop worrying. The fact that Myrtle calls you by her ex-husband's name does not mean she is still in love with him. It only means she thinks about him occasionally.

I'll bet Myrtle is so happy to be married to a nice guy like you that her thoughts go something like this: "I'm sure lucky to have a husband like Hank after that rat, Fred."

On leaving the kids at home

A couple at a party the other night were lamenting the fact that they didn't know if their children were old enough to be left alone when they go on vacation.

"How old are they?" I asked.

"Fifteen, 17 and 20," replied the wife.

"You have it all wrong," said my husband. "The question is not how old, but how young. Offhand, I'd say you missed it by 12 years. You could have gone when they were three, five and eight, but not now."

"You are too funny," said the woman, "but I'm serious."

"So are we," I interrupted. "Did you ever hear of a 3-year-old calling up 100 of her closest friends and having a party the minute your car leaves the driveway?"

"Or a 5-year-old getting your car stuck sideways in the garage?"

"Or an 8-year-old leaving the garden hose running for 15 days and finding your trees waiting to merge on the expressway?" chimed in another father.

"You can't leave a 7-year-old," said the woman indignantly.

"Listen," said another observer. "My daughter at 7 could have run General Motors from a sandbox. She could make a meal, handle major decisions, dress herself and I once saw her move a piano when a Barbie head rolled under it. She knew how to adjust the color on the TV set, walk in the attic without a floor, and could sniff out bananas I was saving through three inches of metal. The only thing she needed me for was to make out her deposit slips at the bank. That's the year we should have gone on a vacation with her home running things. Not 10 years later."

"What happened 10 years later?" we asked.

"According to the police report, it was a 746."

"Which was?"

"Blocking off streets for a parade without a permit.

"Illegal parking of two Portapotties on a carport.

"Kidnaping and holding an assistant principal against his will.

"Assault, naming three drums, 12 guitars and a bass as weapons, causing hearing damage to anyone within a radius of 112 miles and sterility in a 34-year-old milkman who left his truck.

"Unsanctioned gathering of 150 people in a house built as a single-family dwelling, causing the kitchen to become a health and fire hazard.

"There were also charges of neglect to the dog who hadn't been fed anything in three weeks except pizza and space dust, but the testimony was weak."

"But leaving small children constitutes neglect," said the couple.

"We know, but it beats a 746."

Dr. Lamb

Tingling leads to numbness

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a physical problem that I find very annoying and sometimes painful. I wake up to find one or both of my hands numb. Sometimes the sensation extends up my arm. This tingling sensation, leading to numbness occasionally occurs for no apparent reason. I can be watching TV, driving a car, writing, etc. and my thumb and index finger tingle and then may become numb.

This is an ongoing condition. So far my doctor has dismissed it as "nothing" followed, after months, by an X ray of my neck. He thought there might be arthritis of the neck. This does not seem to be the case either and the tingling goes on for a second year.

In discussing this with a lay person the symptoms reminded her of a condition called "carpal tunnel." I know the carpus involves the wrist bones but I would appreciate more information about the symptoms and treatment.

DEAR READER — That lay person is pretty smart. The carpal tunnel refers to an area at the front of the wrist. All of the tendons (eight to be exact) to bend the fingers pass under a sheath of tough fiberous tissue that encircles the wrist like a watch band. The space or tunnel underneath this band is quite small and bounded at the back by the bones. The median nerve, a main nerve to the hand, also passes through this tunnel.

When the space is too small, for a variety of reasons the median nerve is compressed. This nerve supplies the thumb, the index and middle finger area. Compression of the nerve causes pain and tingling, particularly at night and involving particularly the thumb, index and middle finger. It can cause pain in the forearm as you describe. In long standing cases of severe compression the muscular area at the base of the thumb may atrophy. Use of the hands, during the day, may make the symptoms worse.

In its early stages it is hard to diagnose. And your doctor was correct in looking for a cause in your neck. An obstruction or compression anywhere from the neck to the hand of arteries or nerves can cause similar symptoms.

Before any muscular changes in the hand occur about all the doctor can find is a change in response to pinprick sensation over the thumb and involved fingers. And X rays don't help unless the symptoms are not from carpal tunnel and are really related to disease in the neck area.

In mild cases the condition may be watched and if it doesn't progress it may be left alone. But if there are severe symptoms then surgery may be needed to relieve the pressure on the median nerve.

You might ask for a consultation with a neurologist. He can measure nerve conditions times to see if there is any nerve impairment. Your story certainly sounds like a case of carpal tunnel syndrome.

Pressure on the artery and nerves may also be produced by muscles in the neck and sometimes by the clavicle (collar bone). This is particularly apt to occur in carrying a back pack. The treatment in that case is different.

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

We are accustomed to Italian players making really great plays. We usually think of Belladonna, Garrozzo and Forquet in that connection, but for sheer brilliance we have to award the plum to Oscar Bellantini.

He held the West cards in the European championships played in Dublin some years back. The last thing one would suspect when holding two aces and three kings would be to find himself on lead against a slam, but Bellantini did find himself in that position.

He didn't double and after long thought came up with the only lead to beat six. He played his singleton king of diamonds!

After that super brilliant lead the best South could do was to ruff two hearts in dummy, but he still had two hearts to lose.

With any other lead by West, South would bring the slam in since he would be able to ruff three of his hearts. Eventually, he would have to lay down his ace of diamonds and drop the king, but there would be no other play at his disposal and he would make it. He would still have to lose a heart, but that would be the only loser.

Ask the Jacobys

A Tennessee reader wants to know what you play when you have 10 trumps missing the king. You lead toward the ace and second hand plays low.

It is correct to finesse. This wins against K x or K x x in front and loses to king singleton in back. Nothing succeeds against K x in back.

LOVE AND WAR

Q. "You said fellows named Gordon tend to get in over their heads with too many girls. Girls with which name tend to get in over their heads with too many men?

A. That's a fairly widely accepted notion about girls with any variation of the name Elizabeth. Such as Liz, Beth, Betty, so on. Please note, however, our Love and War man does not always concur with the name game players.

Q. "Is it conceivable that somebody could freeze to death while standing exactly on the equator?

A. Certainly is. Atop Africa's Mt. Kenya (17,040 feet) maybe.

Market activity

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks struggled for direction Tuesday in moderately active trading as investors debated predictions of an economic slowdown in the second half of the year.

There also was some debate over a report that the consumer had bought so much on credit, he won't be able to spend in the next couple of years when his dollars will be needed. Other economists contended the consumer situation was stable.

As a result, the Dow Jones industrial average, which dropped 5.60 points Monday, was off 0.42 points to 923.68 shortly before noon EDT. Many of the stocks in this average would be hurt by an economic slowdown.

Market breadth figures reflected considerable investors uncertainty about the course of the market. Of the 1,650 issues crossing the tape, 576 advanced, 558 declined, and 516 remained unchanged.

Volume at the two-hour mark amounted to about 10,000,000 shares, compared with 8,890,000 traded during the same period Monday.

American Motors was the most active NYSE issue, off ⅛ to 4. Simplicity Pattern followed, off ⅛ to 13½ f lowing a block trade of 108,600 shares at 13½. Hercules was third, off ¼ to 19 in trading that included a block of 102,500 shares at 19.

Burroughs was ahead ¾ and IBM was up ⅝. Burroughs introduced two medium-scale computer models. IBM said its 3800 printer now can operate offline from a computer.

Kennecott was ahead ½. The firm said it was about to complete the sale of its Peabody Coal unit to a group headed by Newmont Mining now that a stockholder suit against the deal has been dismissed.

Prices were hirher in active trading of American Stock Exchange issues. U&I Inc. was the most active issue, unchanged at 11½ following a block trade of 102,500 shares at 19. Butler International followed, off ⅝ to 16¼. Reliance Group warrants were third, up 1-16 to 1.

EARLY POTTERY — Broken pieces of a plate bearing the date 1631 are pictured after they were unearthed near Colonial Williamsburg, Va. This find, which X-ray indicates was manufactured from Virginia clay, is the earliest piece of American pottery ever found.

Californians confident about personal future

LOS ANGELES — In spite of persistent pessimism about inflation, most Californians remain confident about their personal financial well-being, according to a consumer attitude survey conducted for Bank of America.

Of 918 Californians queried in the survey, 44 per cent said they are better off now than they were a year ago. Twenty-two per cent said they were worse off and 31 per cent said their status hadn't changed. The index of consumers' perception of their personal financial well-being, the bank reported, moved ahead six points to 122 in March from 116 last December. The index is formed by subtracting the percentage of negative responses from the percentage of positive responses and adding 100.

The personal financial outlook of consumers fell slightly, from an index of 138 to 135. When asked what they see for the future, 46 per cent of responding consumers said they will be better off next year, 11 per cent indicated they will be worse off and 34 per cent said they could foresee no change in their situation.

Confidence that inflation can be controlled, however, has fallen off significantly. The index now stands at 74, representing a 16 point drop from the January reading, the bank said. It was an all-time low for the indicator since bi-monthly surveys were begun two years ago. Only six per cent of the people surveyed were confident that inflation can be controlled. Forty per cent indicated they weren't very confident and 20 per cent were not confident at all.

"Recent escalation of food costs and the prospect of a dry summer for California have had significant impact," said Kerry Curtis, head of the bank's marketing research department. "However, pessimism about inflation hasn't seemed to diminish personal financial outlook," Curtis added. "This seems to confirm that comsumers have learned to reconcile inflation with a positive personal economic outlook."

Aluminum Corp.

MONTEREY PARK, Calif. — (BW) — International Aluminum Corp. announced that sales and new income established quarterly records in the third quarter ended March 31.

Net income for the quarter increased 40 per cent to $1,172,766, or 57 cents a share, compared with $837,727, or 41 cents.

Salary hikes recommended

LOS ANGELES (AP) — City Administrative Officer C. Erwin Piper has recommended annual salary increases of 1.6 to 13.3 per cent for 38 of the city's highest paid appointed officials.

Piper described the increases Monday as an "appropriate adjustment for executive salaries as reflected from the private sector." Under his recommendations, 19 general managers and bureau heads would receive a 7.3 per cent salary hike; 16, a 13.3 per cent hike, and three, a 1.6 per cent hike.

Savings, loan industry responds to speculation

LOS ANGELES — (BW) — The savings and loan industry has responded in an excellent manner to the dangers of speculation in California real estate, according to Anthony M. Frank, president of the California Savings & Loan League, and chairman of the board of Citizen's Savings, San Francisco.

Still, if speculation fever doesn't abate, he feels stronger measures may be needed.

Frank's remarks appeared as "Observations of the President" in the current issue of the California Savings & Loan Journal. The full text follows:

Let's speculate about speculation. The news is full of stories about the high level of speculation in California real estate, yet no one really knows the full extent of this speculation. Respected sources have ranged in their estimates from 8 to 40 per cent of the new housing starts.

Initially, I believe, the wave of speculation was set off by the policy of the Irvine Co. to build fewer houses than there was demand for those houses. Small wonder that last summer saw a lottery for the houses at Woodbridge. This triggered a responsive chord in the public, which reacted to news of difficulties in getting buildable lots, difficulties in obtaining sewer and water hookups, as well as the known 20 to 30 per cent annual new construction cost increases. All of this, in addition to a rapid rate of family formation, coupled with low housing production years in 1973 and 1974, has led to the present situation.

The response of our industry to the dangers of speculation has been excellent, I believe. Most associations are now requiring a minimum cash down payment from non-owner-occupant buyers of at least 25 per cent. Many associations have also increased their loan charges to non-owner-occupants. Many builders are requiring affidavits that the buyer intends to live in the house. And, finally, the weight of public disapprobation has been brought against the speculator — as one who is needlessly raising the cost of housing for today's young families. The recent action of the FHL Bank of San Francisco, in raising its long term advance rate by 1 per cent, while not universally acclaimed, has also been a factor in signalling to the industry that the level of speculation, as well as the level of outstanding loan commitments, was such that a re-examination seemed to be in order.

It is my own present view that the enormous volume of housing completions, as distinguished from starts, to be expected this summer, will ameliorate speculation, as the speculators begin to sell the completed houses to occupants. Given our industry's temperament, and the white light of publicity, it's my belief that we can achieve an easy soft landing from the present speculative binge, without any meaningful decline in the value of housing. Should this not be the case, and should summer see a continuation of the upward spiral of housing prices and speculative fever, then it is urgent for the health of the State that even stronger measures be taken, voluntarily by our industry, and through new requirements by the State Department of Savings and Loan and the FHL Bank of San Francisco.

Coin payment changed by telephone firm

SANTA MONICA, Calif (BW) — General Telephone Co. of California is in the process of changing its customer coin telephone payment procedure so that customers will pay for overtime on long distance coin-paid calls on an incremental basis rather than at the beginning and end of their conversations.

The new charge method already is in operation in areas served by General's offices equipped with computerized Traffic Service Position System (TSPS) equipment, which replaced manual cordboards for toll operators. Among TSP's many automated improvements is a computer program that automatically brings the operator back on the line to notify the customer and collect overtime charges on an incremental basis.

TSPS currently is used by the company to provide toll service in the Long Beach, Downey, Whittier, Westminster, Huntington Beach, Laguna Beach and Bellflower areas.

Under the new charge system, the customer will pay for the first three minute before his or her conversation begins, as is the current practice. Then, at the end of the three minutes, the operator will come on the line to inform the customer that three minutes are up. If the customer continues to talk the operator will come back on the line at 10 minute increments to collect overtime charges.

Customers making special billing arrangements such as charging their call on their telephone credit card or charging to a third number, will not be interrupted by the operator at 10 minute intervals. This alternative might be used by those not wanting such interruptions during their call.

According to Edward E. Lambeth, vice president-service for General, the policy is being instituted for several reason, one of which is to establish uniformity in the way such calls are handled throughout the company.

"Under the previous procedure, operators were often left holding on the line, making them unavailable to other customers while a coin phone customer left the phone booth to get extra change to pay for his or her call. The new charge method will minimize this problem by giving the coin phone customer a running account payment for — the cost of the call," Lambeth said.

Additionally, the new charge method will drastically reduce company losses from customers walking away at the end of a call and not paying. Last year, those losses amounted to $162,552.

Dividends declared by Bell

LOS ANGELES — (BW) — The board of directors of Bell Industries (NYSE:BI) have declared the regular quarterly cash dividend of 2 cents a share, a yearend extra dividend of 2 cents a share and announced their intention to increase to 3 cents a share the regular quarterly dividend to be declared this coming fall.

The quarterly dividend declared Thursday and the yearend extra, totaling 4 cents, are payable Aug. 15 to shareholders of record July 22.

As previously disclosed, the company expects record earnings and sales for the fiscal year ending June 30 of at least 95 cents a share and approximately $108 million, respectively.

What's going on around here

Apprenticeships

The Mexican American Opportunity Foundation (MAOF), Monterey Park, is recruiting applicants for construction apprenticeship openings throughout Los Angeles County.

Apprenticeship programs are a combination of on-the-job training and related classroom instruction for a period of three or four years. Upon completion of the program, apprentices are certified as journeymen, skilled craft men in their trades.

There are apprenticeship openings for carpenters, surveyors, operating engineers and iron workers.

Applicants will be interviewed and counseled by the MAOF staff. Applications will be accepted without regard to race, creed, color, age, sex, or ethnic background. Additional information may be obtained by calling (213) 289-2000.

Square dance

The Wheels and Chains Square Dance Club of Walnut will sponsor a workshop beginning Thursday.

The 12-week class will continue each Thursday from 8 to 10 p.m. at Suzanne School in Walnut.

The workshop is planned to bring new graduates and "brush-up" dancers up to "C" level. Jim Garlow of Covina will be the instructor.

The club also sponsors regular dances the first and fourth Saturdays of each month at 8 p.m. at Suzanne School. Ross Quast is the regular caller for the first Saturday, with guest callers on the fourth Saturday.

Senior citizens trip

The La Verne senior citizens are planning a trip on July 6 to Solvang for the day. The price is $10.50 per person.

Also on July 19 to 21 the club is going on a three-day, two-night trip to Las Vegas where members will stay at the Fremont Hotel. The price is $41.50 per person and includes the bus transportation, two nights accommodations, two continental breakfasts and two cocktails.

For further information, persons may call travel chairman Mary Nicoletta at 596-1391.

Rabies clinic set

A low-cost anti-rabies vaccination clinic for dogs has been set for Lorbeer Junior High School in Diamond Bar Friday, July 8, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

The cost of vaccinations is $2 per dog. Members of the Southern California Veterinary Medical Association (SCVMA) will donate their time to the clinic as a public health service.

Dogs four months and older, are required by law to be immunized against rabies, and a valid certificate of vaccination is needed for licensing of pets. The vaccination is good for 30 months. Health officials caution dog owners to maintain a current rabies immunization for their animals in the continuing program to keep a high level of control of the deadly disease.

For further information, persons may call the SCVMA at (213) 723-1746.

Needlecraft class

The needlecraft class at the Ontario library will begin Friday. The classes are held each Friday from 11 a.m. to noon in the garden room.

Participants are required to bring their own materials and equipment and may join the class any Friday morning. Enrollment is not necessary. Instructors in the class are Miss Gertrude Case of Chino and Mrs. Clara Anderson of Ontario. They specialize in crochet, crewel, needlepoint and embroidery.

Park program

The Pomona Park and Recreation Department is offering a "shape up for summer fun" program at Palomares Community Center.

Classes are designed to improve endurance, spot reduction, and diet control. Registration will be taken at the class session Friday at 9:30 a.m.

For further information, persons may phone Palomares Community Center, 620-2301. Participants should wear loose fitting clothing.

Tiny tots

The San Dimas Recreation Department has announced that registrations for the "tiny tots" summer program will continue through Friday.

The class is for boys and girls, 3 to 5 years of age. It will be held at Shull School, 825 Amelia Ave. The days and hours are Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to noon. The program is scheduled for eight weeks and ends Aug. 26.

Activities include games, music, crafts, etiquette, stories, toys and games.

Island tour

The San Dimas Parks and Recreation Department will conduct a 10-day, three-island tour of Hawaii in September. The tour will leave Sept. 16 and return Sept. 25. The cost for the trip is $535, plus tax and porterage.

The excursion is for adults only. A $50 per person deposit is required at the time reservations are made. Reservations are being accepted until July 18 at San Dimas City Hall.

Farm trip

The San Dimas Recreation Department will conduct an excursion to Knotts Berry Farm on July 14. Boys and girls 8 to 15 years of age are eligible to participate. The bus will leave San Dimas City Hall at 9 a.m. and return at approximately 5 p.m.

The fee is $6 for children 8 to 11 years of age and $7 for those 12 to 15 years of age. Information slips and registration fees are available at San Dimas City Hall.

Teen trip

A "teens only" excursion to Huntington Beach will be conducted by the San Dimas Recreation Department on July 9. The bus will leave San Dimas City Hall at 9 a.m. and return at approximately 5 p.m.

The fee is $1.75 and covers transportation only. Information sheets and permission slips are available at San Dimas City Hall.

Beach trip

The San Dimas Recreation Department will conduct an excursion to Corona Del Mar Beach on Thursday. Boys and girls, 10 to 15 years of age, are eligible to participate. The bus will leave San Dimas City Hall at 9 a.m. and return at 4 p.m.

The $1.75 fee includes transportation and supervision. Information sheets and permission slips are available at San Dimas City Hall and at every playground site.

Dodger shirts

A free Dodger T-shirt will be received by every youngster who goes to the Dodgers-San Diego Padres baseball game July 8.

The San Dimas Recreation Department will conduct an excursion to the game. Boys and girls, 8 to 15 years of age are eligible to participate. The fee is $4.75 and includes transportation, reserved seat, and supervision.

Information sheets and permission slips are available at San Dimas City Hall.

How many banks have offered to double your money lately?

Bank of America's new "Double your money" Growth Certificate™ lets you do just that—double your money in just ten years.

Aside from the obvious advantage of earning high interest on your savings, our Growth Certificates give you a precise fix on what your savings will amount to at a given date in the future. For instance, put in $4,724.03 now, and in ten years you'll have $10,000.00.

So whether you're saving for retirement, a second home or a college education, you'll know exactly what you'll have and when you'll have it.

As you'll note from the chart, we're continuing to offer a variety of other Growth Certificates in addition to our new ten-year plan. All are designed to satisfy your specific savings goals and all pay the highest legal bank savings rate you can get, with interest compounded daily. And again, you'll notice our new 10-year Growth Certificates more than double your money.

For more information, come by any of our convenient branches. Ask about Bank of America's new "Double your money" Growth Certificates and start doubling your money today.

Injuries take toll on Hurting Halos

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — And now we give you the "Hurtin' Halos."

Gene Autry's team now has a $5.2 million injury list.

Don Baylor, first of the million dollar free agents signed by the Angels, became the third member of expensive trio to succumb to injury.

Baylor suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in his right leg Monday night as the Halos dropped a 7-2 game to the visiting Kansas City Royals.

The loss also dropped the Angels back into fourth place in the American League West, a game behind the Royals.

Baylor joins Joe Rudi (bruised and swollen thumb) and Bobby Grich (back) on the sidelines.

But that isn't all.

Third baseman Dave Chalk started the game on the bench because of a slight hamstring pull suffered in pregame practice.

Chalk was forced to enter to game when first Baylor and then rookie shortstop Rance Mulliniks were hurt. Mulliniks ran into giant John Mayberry and got a knee in the thigh and walked painfully off the field.

And that isn't all.

Mario Guerrero, who has been the designated hitter of late, has a painful ankle due to an injury sustained on the last road trip.

For that reason, Ron Jackson, who had been pencilled in at first base, started the game at third and finished it at short.

Orlando Ramirez started at short; was removed for a pinch hitter, and when Mulliniks was hurt only Jackson was left.

"I've never seen anything like it," groaned manager Norm Sherry. "Five guys in two days."

"We're dropping like flies," echoed general manager Harry Dalton. "Of the 27 players on our roster including two on the disabled list, nine players, one third, are hurt."

Dalton was including pitcher Nolan Ryan who had to leave his last start because of finger blisters. But Ryan will start Wednesday night.

The loss to the Royals inflicted a little more pain.

Wayne Simpson (3-5) was charged with five runs in six innings and had a lot of trouble with ex Chicago Cub Pete LaCock.

LaCock slugged a two-out, three-run home run after Simpson had given up a pair of walks in the fourth inning. LaCock had started things in the third with a single.

He took second on a wild pitch and moved to third on Freddie Patek's bunt hit. LaCock was out at the plate trying to score on Frank White's grounder. But Patek advanced to third and scored as Tom Poquette grounded out.

The Angels got their two runs in the fifth with some help from the Royals. Guerrero got a one-out single. White dropped Patek's throw for an error on Rusty Torres' potential double play ball.

Singles by Terry Humphrey and pinch-hitter Ike Hampton drove in the runs.

That cut the Kansas City lead to 4-2. But the Royals added a run in the sixth and two more in the seventh. Two of the runs were off rookie Mike Barlow making his first appearance after being called up from Salt Lake City and the other was off Paul Hartzell.

Andy Hassler (4-2) won his first game at Anaheim Stadium in more than two years. Hassler, who lost 17 straight as an Angel, had not won at the Big A since April 25, 1975.

Hassler got relief help from Steve Mingori and Doug Bird. Bird, the former Pomona High and MSAC star, hurled the eighth and ninth innings without giving up a hit.

Bird struck out three of the seven men he faced and gave up one walk. Yet the former Pomonan carried a 6.35 earned run average into the game despite a 3-1 record.

"What was different tonight," we asked.

"Nothing. They just didn't hit the ball," Bird replied. "It's been a funny year. I'm all right physically and I've been throwing well. But I've had trouble getting people out.

"One game at Boston, I struck out seven but allowed seven hits and seven runs."

Does Bird think the baseball is livlier this year?

"Definitely," he replied. "It just jumps out of the parks. We have a big stadium at Kansas City and early in the season when it's cold, it's hard to hit the ball out. But this year it's been flying out there."

Bird started his major league career as a reliever then was switched to starting under Jack McKeon. However since Whitey Herzog became manager, Bird has been a swingman relieving and starting.

"It's okay," he replied when asked if he liked doing both. "He (Herzog) tells me well in advance when I'll be starting. I just go out and throw as hard as I can for six or seven innings. That's all he wants. Then he gets relief in there."

The Royals now lead the Angels by a game. What players the "Hurting Halos will use and where they will play remains to be seen.

Visiting hours at Anaheim Stadium tonight will be 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. (since Frank Tanana is pitching).

ANGEL ANGLES — Tanana (11-4) draws Dennis Leonard (5-8) as his opponent. Ryan (9-7) and Jim Colborn (8-7) will start Wednesday night.

The Royals had four runners thrown out at home, three on infield grounders, Monday night. The Angels had one.

Baylor had just begin to look like a hitter. He had three hits including a homer Sunday and doubled his first time up Monday night.

The Angels have hit 61 home runs. Last year they hit only 63 all season. They have hit 36 at the Big A. Most homers the Halos ever hit in Anaheim was 56 in 1967 when they had 114 for the season.

Pitcher Mickey Scott has been released outright to Columbus of the International League. He had been up for assignment since June 18.

Sherry doesn't have three able bodied outfielders. Rudi (thumb), Baylor (hamstring) and Gil Flores (shoulder) are hurt. Flores was pressed into service in leftfield Monday night and will likely be there tonight unless Baylor can play.

Grich was supposed to have his back examined Monday to determine if surgery will be necessary. But it has been postponed until Friday. Bedrest and light therapy is the prescription this week. But the Halos admit Grich still has pain.

Monday's HR saves L.A.

ATLANTA (AP) — "One pitch, one lousy pitch. . . rookie Atlanta left-hander Don Collins muttered after the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Braves 2-1 Monday night.

Collins, 1-6, making only his third major league start in the nationally televised contest, was moaning about Rick Monday's two-run homer in the second inning that provided the difference.

"I thought it was a good pitch," said Collins afterward. "But I turned around and saw Gary Matthews charging back and I said to myself, 'Well, we're in Atlanta Stadium.'"

The Lyons, Ga., native was referring to the stadium's nickname of the "Launching Pad" which has seen 105 home runs sail out this season, tops in the majors.

Both teams were frustrated offensively as the Dodgers and Braves each left 12 runners on base.

"We just couldn't get the hit with men on base," said Dodger Manager Tom LaSorda after the two hour and 47 minute game.

"I talked to the ball club before the game because we had just come off a great series in Cincinnati," LaSorda said. "We played to sellout crowds and there was a World Series atmosphere. The tendency is to let down and I didn't want that to happen."

It didn't happen because of Monday's 10th home run of the season — an opposite field blast to left field and the clutch pitching of starter Burt Hooten, 6-3, and reliever Charlie Hough, who registered his 17th save.

The victory snapped a four-game Atlanta winning streak and gave the Dodgers a 9½-game lead over the Reds in the West Division.

The Braves finally scored in the seventh when Hooten allowed one-out singles to Matthews and Willie Montanez. The knuckleballing Hough came on and allowed Biff Pocoroba's run-scoring single before getting out of the jam.

But he ran into slight trouble in the ninth, issuing a one-out walk to Montanez with Jeff Burroughs, National League co-leader in home runs with 20 coming up.

"The Big Dodger in the sky heard me," said LaSorda. "I prayed for double play lane on that last hitter."

Burroughs obliged by bouncing to Bill Russell, who stepped on second and easily doubled the Braves' right fielder at first to end the game.

Billy Hunter takes over Texas

OAKLAND (AP) — Billy Hunter, the Texas Rangers' fourth manager within a week, takes over tonight and team owner Brad Corbett vows, "No more changes."

Hunter accepted the job offer Monday morning, while in Cleveland with the Baltimore Orioles. He arrived at the Oakland Coliseum—still wearing an Orioles' necktie—to watch the last 4½ innings of a 5-2 Texas victory over the Oakland A's.

"I like the score," said Hunter, who also likes the Rangers' chances of winning the American League West title.

"The personnel is great, we're not too far behind, and the division is up for grabs. I just hope we can put it all together," he said in a press-box interview while interim Manager Connie Ryan called the shots on the field. "The club has good defense, good speed and can score runs.

"When you see the team's record is 33-35, you know something's wrong."

The Monday night victory broke a three-game losing streak and brought the Rangers within 5½ games of first-place Minnesota.

Ryan will return to his third base coaching job tonight while Hunter, 49, manages for the first time in major league baseball. The new manager, a former big league infielder, was the Orioles' third base coach for 14 years.

"He's been in the league a long time. He knows our club. He brings us experience," said Corbett.

The owner said Hunter received a contract running through the 1979 season. Eddie Stanky, hired last Wednesday after Frank Lucchesi was fired, also signed a three-year contract but quit after one game.

"I'm looking forward to meeting Bill. I never even got a chance to say hello to Eddie Stanky," said relief pitcher Paul Lindblad after Monday night's game.

"A lot's happened in my rookie year," said second baseman Bump Wills. "I never expect to play under four managers in a week again."

Dock Ellis, traded to Texas by the A's on June 15, noted, "I've had seven managers in 2½ months. That might be a record."

He began the season under the New York Yankees' Billy Martin and was with the A's when Bobby Winkles replaced Jack McKeon.

Ryan was offered the opportunity to finish the season as manager "as late as this morning," Corbett said before Monday night's game.

"Connie thought it best that we go get Billy because he knew he'd probably be manager next year, anyway," said Corbett, who also talked to Harmon Killebrew about the job.

"Everything's settled now and I'm glad," said Ryan, 57. "The best crack I heard during all this was that Ryan is working under a multi-hour contract."

Lucchesi was being booed regularly by Rangers fans before he left even though the team was gaining ground in the pennant race. Disappointing attendance also was a major reason management made a change—the first of many.

NEW HAT FOR HUNTER

Still wearing his Baltimore Orioles' tie, Billy Hunter tries on his new Texas cap Monday after being named the new manager of the Rangers. He was Baltimore's third base coach.

Bjorn Borg makes semis

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Defending champion Bjorn Borg of Sweden reached the semifinals of the men's singles in the All-England tennis championships today with a 6-0, 8-6, 6-3 triumph over controversial Ilie Nastase, the Romanian he beat in the final last year.

The match lasted just over 90 minutes and it was champagne tennis—bubbling and fizzing— all the way from the champion, right from the opening set when he pounded Nastase by breaking him three times without dropping a single game.

MAKING HIS POINT

San Francisco manager Joe Altobelli, left, makes a point while losing an argument with umpire Doug Harvey in the first inning Monday night at Cincinnati. Thanks to Willie McCovey, Giants rallied from 8-1 deficit for 14-9 win.

Richie Zisk takes outfield vote lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Richie Zisk has zipped into first place among outfielders and Willie Randolph has reclaimed the lead among second basemen in the American League All-Star balloting by baseball fans.

In the tabulations announced Monday by baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, Chicago's Zisk climbed from fourth place with a total of 1,261,830 votes and the Yankee's Randolph reestablished himself with 988,589.

Zisk, acquired by the White Sox from Pittsburgh last winter, passed the previous leader, Boston's Carl Yastrzemski. Yaz dropped to second with 1,241,434 while teammate Fred Lynn was the third favorite outfielder with 944,581 votes.

The Yankees' Reggie Jackson and California's Joe Rudi were four and five, respectively, in the outfield balloting.

Milwaukee's Don Money was second to Randolph in the second baseman voting with 890,885 and Boston's Denny Doyle was third with 819,133.

The voting for starting catcher remained close with Boston's Carlton Fisk polling 1,414,551 votes to hold a narrow lead over the 1,322,936 of New York's Thurman Munson.

Boston shortstop Rick Burleson kept just ahead of Bert Campaneris of Texas with 747,534 votes to 718,257. Bucky Dent of the Yankees was third with 680,664.

The other leaders, all with substantial margins, were Minnesota first baseman Rod Carew with a league-leading 1,788,218 votes and Kansas City third baseman George Brett with 1,411,802.

Fans have until July 4 to vote for AL and National League players who will make up the teams in the 48th annual AllStar Game at Yankee Stadium on July 19.

AND HE SINGS TOO — Super jockey Steve Cauthen, 17, exchanges a few words with his fans at a New York store Monday after signing autographs. The teenage jockey was at the store to promote his new country and western album.

Viele wins playoff

SAN JACINTO, Calif. (AP) — Bill Viele of Hemet birdied the second extra hole of a four-way sudden-death playoff Monday to win the third tournament on the Western Amateur Golf Association summer tour at Soboba Springs County Club.

Viele won with a nine-foot putt after tying Bob Stevens of San Jacinto, Bob Valerio of Hawthorne, and Steve Martin of Tustin, with even-par 72 during regulation play.

One stroke off the pace were Mike Matula of Riverside and Steve Fink of Studio City.

The fourth tournament will be played July 4 at Cottonwood in San Diego.

Big Mac top slammer

By Associated Press

Willie McCovey, taking yet another home run trot around the bases, was thinking of Hank Aaron and Lou Gehrig.

"It didn't hit me until I was half way around the bases," McCovey said Monday. "Then I thought, 'God, I finally passed him.'"

The San Francisco first baseman unloaded two home runs in the Giants' 10-run sixth inning—the only player in major league history to twice hit two homers in one inning—including his 17th career grand slam.

The power barrage carried the Giants to a 14-9 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

The bases-loaded shot enabled the 39-year-old McCovey to pass home run king Hank Aaron as the National League's all-time grand slam leader.

The homers, McCovey's 12th and 13th of the season, gave him 478 for his 19-year major league career.

Gehrig, the former New York Yankee star, holds the major league record with 23 grand slams—a record McCovey concedes.

"But I think I can catch him in career homers," McCovey said. "He has 493. I know that is within my reach."

Cubs 4, Expos 3

Chicago recorded its seventh straight victory as Mick Kelleher raced home from third on Ivan DeJesus' sacrifice fly, capping a three-run seventh-inning rally. The Cubs took a 1-0 lead in the first on Larry Biittner's fourth home run of the season.

Montreal came back to take a 3-1 lead in the bottom of the first on Ellis Valentine's runscoring single and a two-run single by Tony Perez.

Phillies 4, Mets 1

A bases-loaded pinch single by Jay Johnstone in the ninth inning drove in two runs and gave Philadelphia its victory over New York. Johnstone's single came off Met reliever Skip Lockwood, 1-4, who relieved starter Nino Espinosa in the ninth and allowed the first three men he faced to reach base.

Richie Hebner hit a two-run homer to give reliever Tug McGraw, a former Met, his third victory without a loss.

Cardinals 6, Pirates 1

Mike Tyson hit his first home run of the season and only the eighth of his major league career to lead St. Louis over Pittsburgh.

"I watched it because I thought it was going to go foul," Tyson said of his two-run homer.

"Lou Brock was passed out and another guy was lying on the dugout bench when I got back (to the bench)," said Tyson. "Gene Gieselmann (St. Louis trainer) was handing out ammonia capsules. I don't know why they were surprised. I hit them out in batting practice."

Astros 7, Padres 6

Bob Watson's single scored Cesar Cedeno to cap a three-run ninth-inning rally as Houston toppled San Diego. Ken Boswell led off the ninth with a single and scored on a double by Enos Cabell, his fourth hit of the game.

Cabell came home when loser Rollie Fingers' attempted pickoff throw went into center and center fielder George Hendrick bobbled the ball.

Dave Winfield's two-run home run and a run-scoring triple by Gene Tenace had given San Diego a 6-4 lead before Houston's rally.

Gambetta ties course record

The newlly formed American Professional golfers (APG) tour opened Monday at San Dimas Canyon on a record tying note.

Fritz Gambetta of Soboba Springs Country Club tied the San Dimas course record as he fired a three-under-par 69 in the first APG tournament. Gambetta had five birdies and only two bogies as he shot nines of 35-34.

Reed Hughes and Jery Bruner were one stroke behind at 70, and Bob Clark had a 71 to finish fourth as Southlands Pros began their summer APG schedule.

Steve Andreason and Mo Gutman shot even par 72's. At 73 was Mark Schmidtt of Via Verde.

The APG, often called the "Second Tour" is directed by Jerry Sharman a professional player formerly of Covina. Executive director for the new tour is Jim Perrin.

Red Sox sluggers suddenly go silent

By Associated Press

"We couldn't keep hitting the way we were hitting," said Boston Manager Don Zimmer. "That's unheard of."

The Red Sox' bats haven't been heard from lately. Boston dropped its fourth straight game Monday night, a 4-1 decision to Dave Roberts and the Detroit Tigers. It was the third consecutive game in which the Red Sox failed to hit a home run after a record power spree of 33 round-trippers in 10 games earlier in the month.

"Their power always is in the back of your mind," said Roberts, who surrendered seven singles to Boston in winning his first game in six weeks. It was only the second time this season that the Red Sox did not get an extra base hit.

"They hit the ball real hard. They're a dangerous ball club, very explosive, and it makes you concentrate even more," said Roberts.

Zimmer blamed his starting pitchers for the recent skid, which has seen Boston's firstplace lead in the American League East shrink to two games over New York.

"Our four starters haven't pitched past the first few innings," Zimmer noted. "They were in a groove for a month, that's why we got to where we're at."

Pacing the Tigers' triumph were doubles by Ron LeFlore, Rusty Staub, Tom Veryzer and Steve Kemp. Jason Thompson chipped in with his 14th homer of the season.

In other AL action, Toronto edged New York 7-6, Minnesota blasted Milwaukee 10-3, Chicago downed Seattle 10-4, Baltimore topped Cleveland 9-2, Kansas City defeated California 7-2 and Texas took Oakland, 5-2.

Blue Jays 7, Yankees 6

Hector Torres, a .219 hitter with just one homer and five RBI before the game, belted the first grand slam home run in Blue Jays history to pace the Toronto attack.

"For me, it's always exciting to hit a home run because I don't hit that many," said Torres. "And it's twice

Starlite opens with Mozart

The San Bernardino City Grand Opera Company will present a concert performance of Mozart's "Don Giovanni" in the Montclair High School auditorium at 8 p.m. next Tuesday, the opening program of the Starlite Patio Theater's summer series. Admission is free.

Because of the remodeling of the Montclair Civic Center's recreation facility, all of the Starlite events will be held at the high school.

There will be five consecutive Tuesday night programs to Aug. 2. Each will have a theme: Opera Night, Dance Night, Band Night, Drama Night and Symphony Night.

"Don Giovanni" is directed by John Struble and features the Irish-American tenor, Terrance Molloy, in the demanding role of Don Ottavio. Molly, founder of the company, has studied at the Royal Arts Academy in London and will leave this summer for a concert tour of Ireland and Italy.

Singing the title role will be Riverside baritone Richard Williams, past president of the Riverside Opera Association. Williams studied at UCLA and in Germany and has sung with the Riverside, West End, and Laguna opera companies; Baritone Harrison Crump, a San Bernardino recitalist and choral director, will make his solo debut in the comic role of Leporello. Basso Keith Swan sings the role of the governor, Don Giovanni's supernatural nemesis, and baritone Ralph Dennington plays Masetto opposite Zerlina one of Don Giovanni's projected conquests.

Soprano Rose Edwards, Ontario voice teacher, sings the role of Donna Anna; soprano Evelyn Haggard of Lake Arrowhead makes her debut in the role of Donna Elvira and Mary Lou Petrone, a graduate of Indiana University, sings Zerlina.

The performance, to be sung in the original Italian, will be accompanied by pianist Herbert Iverson, and will have a running narration by Harve Edwards.

Folk dancers at Redlands

The Aman International Folk Ballet will open the Redlands Bowl's 54th season with a performance at 8:15 p.m. July 8. Admission is by free will offering.

Aman's repertoire of more than 70 folk dances from United States, the Middle East, Africa and the Balkans requires almost 2,000 costumes, all authentic, and in large part, made or purchased in the country where they originated.

Besides the colorful costuming, the group has its own musicians who play native instruments ranging from a pair of soup spoons to a three-foot-high, 300-pound cymbalom with 88 strings. Other instruments are the gudulka, the saz, the ljerica, the kemaje, the frula, the kaval and the zurna, along with the more familiar banjo, drums and bagpipes.

Artistic directors of Aman are Leona Wood and Anthony Shay, acknowledged experts in the field of folk dancing. Between them they research, costume, teach, choreograph and perform with the troupe of from 55 to 80 dancers.

Aman's many appearances in the Los Angeles Music Center have won it plaudits from the critics.

CONNIE STEVENS will star in her own show at the Showcase Theater at Magic Mountain at 8 and 10 p.m. Monday through July 10. The Valencia amusement park will have a fireworks display at 9.

Pomona to hold Faire

The City of Pomona will stage a Renaissance Faire in Ganesha Park from 2 to 8 p.m. July 30. Admission is free, and the public is encouraged to attend in Elizabethan costume.

Entertainment will be provided by madrigal singers, jugglers, strolling minstrels, English country dancers, puppeteers and mimes. A highlight of the fair will be performances featuring the Los Angeles Shakespeare Festival Players.

The fair will offer game and craft booths, an art exhibit, boutiques and refreshment stands featuring Elizabethan food.

All valley residents are invited to take part in the faire as participants or spectators. Those wishing to participate in some way are asked to call Sue Hunt at the Pomona Parks and Recreation Department, 620-2321.

Fly Air California and get extra S&H Green Stamps from National Car Rental.
It's a special weekend bonus! Just present your Air California ticket when you rent your car from National. You'll get extra S&H Green Stamp certificates from National on the amount of your one-way airline fare. Conveniently located at every airport served by Air California, National rents GM cars like the Chevy Nova for just $14.95 a day. Full size cars like the Olds Cutlass are just two dollars more.* The S & H Green Stamp certificates from your car rental plus the bonus from your airfare add up to a hefty fistfull of stamps. So don't miss out. Reserve your flight and your car with just one call to Air California or your travel agent.
*You pay for gas. Rates available at participating locations 6 pm Thursday to Monday noon. Rates are non-discountable and subject to change without notice. Cars must be returned to renting location. Rates are not available in So. Lake Tahoe and Palm Springs. Stamp offer expires July 31, 1977.
We feature GM cars and offer S&H Green Stamps on U.S. rentals.

TROPHY WINNERS — Don Donnelly, president of the Pomona school board, congratulates Leslie Charles, left, and Rochelle Harris for winning the recent San Gabriel Valley Law Explorer Academy. Miss Harris, 16, won first place, and Miss Charles, 14, third place in the physical training competition. Members of the Junior Police program in Pomona, they were among seven local participants competing against youngsters from 17 cities. The Junior Police program is sponsored by the Pomona Valley YMCA and conducted at city schools. Willie White is director.

Claremont students in exchange program

Colleen Christian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Christian, Claremont, is spending the summer in Hausewinkel, Germany.

She was chosen as Claremont's Americans Abroad participant as part of the Americans Field Service, International. She had an orientation period in New York with 1,000 other youths before flying abroad.

Diane Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, Claremont, is a domestic program exchange student also sponsored by the American Field Service. She is spending the summer in Sauquoit, N.Y. while her domestic program counterpart, Martha Rainey of Bethesda, Md., is in Claremont. Martha's host is the Barry Ulrich family.

Returning July 9 from a year in Sweden is Carol Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Stone. Carol, a 1976 Claremont High graduate, attended another school year in Vasteras, Sweden through the Americans Abroad program.

Clubs to participate in volleyball tourney

Circle K Clubs in the valley will participate in a benefit volleyball marathon tournament Thursday and Friday at the Upland High School gym to assist "Project Hope."

"Project Hope" sponsors educational programs such as sending medical teams abroad to teach other countries how to improve health standards. It is an international organization.

The tournament will begin at 7 a.m. Thursday and play will continue through to 11 p.m. Friday. UCLA and USC will field a team with Cerritos College, Cal Poly and Chaffey College rounding out the field.

Admission is free.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Norman Vadnais at 985-0290.

Technology created it.

Taste tests proved it.

Smokers are confirming it. In fact, 75% of all MERIT smokers are former high tar cigarette smokers—the toughest taste critics of low tar smoking.

MERIT—the cigarette packed with 'Enriched Flavor'™ tobacco—seems to be solving the smoker dilemma of having to choose between high tar or low taste.

If you smoke, you'll be interested.

Tests Prove Taste

MERIT and MERIT 100's were both tested against a number of higher tar cigarettes. The results proved conclusively that 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco does boost taste without the usual increase in tar.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of both MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested.

Marital sex, money

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: My husband has always taken great pleasure in giving me money and, of course, I don't object. My former boss offered me a job. I'd like very much to take it and I didn't expect any objection from my husband since it hardly threatens his ego. He became very upset when I mentioned it and said that if I took it, he wouldn't feel the same about me sexually. This is so absurd because he's not jealous of my former boss. He knows I'm not interested in him. He said, "I just don't want you to make money. It wouldn't be the same if you did." I can't figure this out. Can you? — S.O.

Dear S.O.: To some extent, money represents security and power to everyone, but I suspect, from your letter, that your husband gathers more security than most from being the one in charge of the purse strings. He may fear that without the control of money, he would be unloved or neglected.

Obviously, this indicates that he has a shaky sense of his own worth. He's using money to buy affection. He sees his gifts to you as payments for love. If you have the money, the power, to buy your own gifts, he's afraid you may cease to love him.

This isn't as unusual as it may sound. For instance, husbands frequently, consciously or unconsciously, reward their wives for what they consider to be "good behavior" (and this often may be sexual) by buying them a little something special.

Not surprisingly, this may make the woman feel like a prostitute. She may become so accustomed to this that she forgets how to love and to give affection freely. She may feel that sex and love are commodities to be sold and bargained for in marriage.

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: A group of people in our town — my husband says they're homosexuals — want to make our beach a place for nude bathing. This is causing an uproar and some of the most unlikely people are in favor of it. A local minister says it's a healthy thing, as if the family that's nude together will be glued together. Two of the so-called pillars of the community have supported it for "business reasons." Though my husband accuses the homosexual community of fostering this, it isn't true. This is the major topic of discussion at gatherings. Many of the men are, openly or secretly, for it, but almost none of the women. Why? I don't believe it's just a question of women wanting to protect their children because many of them are single. — T.T.

Dear T.T.: Though nudists deny it, there's a certain amount of exhibitionism in almost all campaigns for nudity. The most common reason for males to want to exhibit themselves is that in so doing, they're reassured of their masculinity. Obviously, the more insecure the man is, the more enthusiastic he's apt to be about opportunities to display himself.

By favoring nudity for himself, he is also encouraging women to exhibit themselves. Once they do, they again remind him of his own masculinity. I don't mean to deny the fact that men are also stimulated by viewing women's bodies.

DIZZINESS IS A SYMPTOM THAT'S HARD TO DESCRIBE

While many people may complain of dizziness, they are often hard-pressed to describe it. Yet the manner in which an individual experiences it is important to the diagnosis.

The term "dizziness" has been used variously to describe light headedness, faintness, giddiness, weakness, hazy vision or confusion. Some victims say they feel like they are 'walking on a pitfull of straw', 'going down an elevator', or that they have 'something in front of my eyes'.

Dr. H.L. Fisher D.C.

"Perhaps the best way to describe true vertigo is to say the sensation resembles rolling downhill or riding on a swiftly moving merry-go-round," explains Dr. Fisher, D.C., of the Fisher Chiropractic Office. "The world turns about when the eyes are open, but, when closed, we seem to whirl about in space like an astronaut. The sensation described is a type of vertigo that stems from a disturbance of the centers of equilibrium in the ears or brains."

According to Dr. Fisher, a person suffering from high blood pressure is more likely to complain of lightheadedness than of true vertigo. Someone with a circulation problem may almost fall when he jumps out of bed or stands up too quickly.

"When describing dizziness to your Doctor, it is important to be as specific as possible," continues Dr. Fisher. "Tell him exactly how it feels, and when it occurs. Remember, dizziness is a symptom, and one that shouldn't be ignored."

"Recently I heard of a Chirporactic patient who complained of dizziness when he turned his head to the side or upwards," Dr. Fisher concluded. "On examination it was found that he was suffering from an arthritic spine. Needless to say, had it not been for the dizziness, he would not have sought treatment for a very serious and eventually crippling problem."

Captain was really a woman

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Patten, called the "Florence Nightingale of the Ocean," is one of the few women to have had their names inscribed in the annals of the sea, records recently discovered reveal.

For a girl of 19 to sail a clipper ship 5,000 miles around two continents through storm and frigid weather, her captain-husband and two other officers ill below deck and a mutinous first officer in irons, is one of the all-time epics of the high seas.

In 1856, Capt. Joshua Patten was assigned to sail "Neptune's Car" from New York to San Francisco. Below decks, as recorded in the historic "disaster books" of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Co., was a cargo valued at $800,000; appraisal of the cargo today would be $10,000,000.

At sea only a few days, Captain Patten was forced to depose his chief mate for mutiny and put him in irons. Malaria then felled the captain and his two remaining officers.

Responsibility for the naviation of "Neptune's Car" now rested on young Mary Patten, the records show. Faced with the decision to return to New York or continue the long trip to the West Coast, she ordered her crew to sail on.

On the ship's southward sweep toward Cape Horn the weather turned frigid. Rounding the Cape in the dead of winter, the clipper ship shuddered in the storm-filled Antarctic. The insurance company's records show that only Mary's expert handling kept the clipper from capsizing in the heavy seas. When not at the helm, Mary was down in the cabin tending her ill husband, as well as the other sick.

After 55 tedious days, "Neptune's Car" entered San Francisco harbor. It was only after she safely delivered its valuable cargo that anyone knew that during the entire ordeal Mary was pregnant.

Officers named by council

Dorothy Crumpacker of Xi Theta Gamma Chapter was recently installed president of Foothill Area Council of Beta Sigma Phi for the ensuing year.

The jewels of office were presented to her by Janet Scinto, Rho Chi Chapter, retiring president.

Others installed at that time were: Ginny Staffero, Rho Chi Chapter, vice president; Carolyn Surface, Epsilon Beta Chapter, recording secretary; Rose Marie Reeder, Xi Zeta Gamma Chapter, corresponding secretary; Lola Myers, Xi Gamma Kappa, treasurer; and Betty Hendersen, Preceptor Laureate, civil awareness chairman. Dorothy De Silva is the council sponsor.

Donations of $575 were made by Foothill Council to the Brian Wesley Ray Center for Cystic Fibrosis.

Restoring or refinishing furniture can be gratifying. Do-it-yourself refinishing supplies cost only a few dollars, but can save a great deal of money. For those who associate refinishing with a lot of drudgery, there is good news: Chemistry has taken much of the work (and the mess) out of refinishing — if you follow the instructions. Easy-to-follow rules are clearly explained in a how-to booklet entitled "A Beginners Guide to Refinishing Furniture." FAMILY CIRCUS

"See, this is what I do to lose my sneeze."

Margaret Mead calls for community restructuring

"You don't find many early or primitive societies that treat old people as badly as the civilized societies do," says Margaret Mead in a July 26 Family Circle interview, which showcases the anthropologist's observations on growing old in America.

Miss Mead feels the need for a restructuring of American society to keep old and the not-so-old together, saying in the magazine, "If there is a separation of old people from family life, there is tragedy for both young and old."

Miss Mead, herself, began preparing for her present old age of 75 when she was 24. "I went to work at the Museum of Natural History . . . I saw a doddering old man walking around the corridors, and I asked, 'What is he doing here?' I discovered that at the Museum they keep you until you die. And so I decided to stay right there."

From her post at the Museum, she has surveyed the situation of the elderly in America: " . . . the poor ones," she comments in the interview, "are stacked away in nursing homes . . . 'warehouses for the old.' The more affluent move into golden ghettos or go to Florida, but they too are segregated and lonely."

Age-segregation affects everyone, argues the anthropologist. "There are too many children in America who are badly afraid of older people because they never see any." In an already youth-oriented society, the missing associations with older people who enjoy living fosters a fear and dread of aging. What Miss Mead describes as "a sense of continuity and of the possibilities for a full life" may never develop.

Part of the solution, she maintains, is a total physical rebuilding of communities. "Older people need to live within walking distance of shops, friends and family. They need younger people to help with the heavy chores, to shovel the snow . . . so they can continue to live on their own." Several universities, Miss Mead says, are building alumnae housing on campus as a way of keeping older people active in community life.

The practice of early retirement must end, also, she feels. It is not only wasteful but cruel. Mentioning the harsh adjustment men, in particular, must make, Miss Mead says, " . . . the men are admirals without a fleet. They don't know what else to do but die." Retired working women, at least, have the continuity of household responsibilities.

It is a sense of interdependence that Miss Mead says America must develop; this is the real issue she feels faces young and old alike.

Q. "WHICH IS THE FASTEST-FLYING BIRD?"

JOSELITO FLORDELIZA

A. THE FASTEST-FLYING BIRD IS PROBABLY THE SWIFT. SOME OF THEM CAN FLY MORE THAN 100 MPH FOR SHORT PERIODS OF TIME

DICK ROGERS

© 1977 by NEA, Inc. T.M. Reg. U.S. Pat. Off. 6/28

Many figures have been reported about the speeds of the fastest-flying birds. But not everyone agrees with these records because it is difficult to measure the speed of a bird in flight.

Although higher speeds have been claimed, the fastest speed reliably measured for any bird was that of the swift.

This small, streamlined bird with its long, narrow wings usually flies from 60 to 70 miles per hour. But some can fly more than 100 m.p.h. for short periods of time, and are probably the fastest-moving creatures in the world.

After the swifts, perhaps the fastest-flying birds are the racing pigeons. They have been known to fly 94 m.p.h.

The next-fastest fliers are such birds as falcons, ducks and geese, which can fly about 80 or more miles an hour.

And the tiny hummingbird can speed along at 55 m.p.h. Songbirds, such as sparrows and wrens, fly at speeds of 10 to 20 m.p.h.

Petrochemical industry fears proposed taxes

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter's energy proposal now before Congress includes a tax that would force much of the $40 billion petrochemical industry out of the country, industry spokesmen warn.

And that would mean the loss of many of the 390,000 American jobs now directly related to the industry, the spokesmen say.

Administration spokesmen refuse to comment directly on the industry threat. But they say the industry is going to be damaged anyway, if not by higher taxes — aimed at conservation — then by a scarcity of petroleum, the major raw material of petrochemicals. The policy does not "attempt to appease one interest or another," a spokesman said.

The main petrochemical-industry objections are to Carter's proposed tax on oil at the well and an additional tax on major industrial users of oil. The industry says the taxes would raise costs so much that foreign competitors would have an advantage.

The consumer would pay more in any case, either for more expensive foreign products or for domestic products whose prices would be increased to offset the new taxes.

Under the President's plan, the first tax, a $3 levy, would bring prices up to the world level by 1980; the "user" tax — applied primarily to the petrochemical industry — would start at 90 cents a barrel in 1979 and increase to 3 by 1985.

But the petrochemical industry says the taxes, currently being considered by the House Ways and Means Committee, would increase "feedstock" costs from $3 below world price levels now to $3 above the levels by 1985. Feedstock is oil that is used as a raw material in a refinery or petrochemical plant.

"The question is: What do you do if you're noncompetitive?" said Robert Mitchell, executive vice president of Celanese Corp. "The first thing is that we lose our export markets ($10 billion of the $40 billion in annual sales). Then, the foreign competitor can compete in the U.S."

"This positive impact on our nation's balance of trade would be lost over the next few years as the Carter taxes phase in," said Ronald S. Wishart, director of energy policy for Union Carbide. "... In place of oil imports, we might be importing more chemicals as well as other energy-intensive products such as steel and aluminum."

How would the dozens of U.S. petrochemical firms react?

"Given a free world for investment purposes," Mitchell said, "what will evolve is a shift of the petrochemical industry — assuming a degree of political stability — to the Mideast."

Dick Perry, a spokesman for Union Carbide Corp., agreed. He said the makers of large volume commodity chemicals such as benzene derivatives for plastics would be the most likely to relocate.

"Smaller volume specialty firms could stand a bit greater price differential because the technology isn't around elsewhere," he said.

An industry spokesman said firms might simply abandon their American plants if they found that "it was not economically beneficial to run them."

But the net value of factories and equipment is $36.1 billion. Would it pay to abandon some or all of this investment and rebuild abroad? Industry spokesmen said they did not know at what point it might pay to abandon domestic investment for the lower costs abroad.

Dow Chemical Co. pointed out that the petrochemical industry cannot switch to coal as a feedstock. "The technology is not available," the firm said.

But Jim Bishop, an administration spokesman, added that if Carter's conservation - designed proposals are not accepted, the industry soon will have to deal with critical shortages of raw materials — a problem every bit as serious as increased taxes.

Officials said there are no plans to protect the industry by imposing quotas on imports of petrochemical products.

Meanwhile, industry lobbyists are trying to shoot down the tax proposals, but are concerned about the pace being set in Congress.

"Everyone is taking shots at the energy plan, and Congress is obliged to pass something," said Hank Sauer, a spokesman for the Manufacturing Chemists Association. "We're concerned they (lawmakers) are not taking enough time to look at the effects."

Artist says politicians are 'stars of today'

NEW YORK (AP) — New York artist Ron Kron surrounds himself with a mixed group of well-known personalities — Joan Crawford as "Mildred Pierce," Louise Lasser as "Mary Hartman," Burt Reynolds as the Cosmoplitan centerfold.

Lately, though, the circle has widened to include former Presidents Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford, with more political figures ready to join.

"Politicians are the stars of today," says Kron, 35, whose two-foot-tall brittle latex sculptures of famous personalities will be exhibited at New York's Bleecker Street Gallery this summer.

Kron's fascination with marionettes while growing up in Hopkins, Minn., is evident among his 40-odd "portrait-insculpture" dolls. Endowed with real hair, glass eyes and movable limbs, most are movie stars cast in well-remembered roles.

Kron first turned his attention to politicians when the Watergate scandal burst into the news. The result was Richard Nixon nude under a Watergate towel. Next came Gerald Ford holding a Halloween bag labeled "trick or treat." "The bag contains the pardon Ford gave to Nixon," Kron says.

Once in a while he's commissioned to do a private individual. One patron ordered a doll in the likeness of a friend as a Christmas present.

"The friend opened this large box and was stricken to see himself," Kron recalls. "There's something macabre about seeing yourself lying in a box, even if it's gift-wrapped."

Kron wants to do some personalities from television commercials. He cites Nancy Walker who plays Rosie the waitress, hawker for Bounty paper towels, and Margaret Hamilton as Cora, the general store proprietress who sells Maxwell House Coffee.

But statesmen remain high on his inventory of stars. His list of dummies to do includes former Sen. Wilbur Mills with stripper Fanne Foxe, and President Jimmy Carter emerging from a three-foot peanut.

Almanac

Today is Tuesday, June 28, the 179th day of 1977. There are 186 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1914, the heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, was assassinated at Sarejevo, Bosnia. It was the spark that set off the First World War.

On this date:

In 1778, the Revolutionary War Battle of Monmouth, N.J., took place. Molly Pitcher's aid to Colonial troops made her a heroine in American history.

In 1838, Britain's Queen Victoria was crowned.

In 1919, the Versailles Treaty was signed in France after World War I.

In 1941, guerrilla warfare against the Nazis began in Yugoslavia during World War II.

In 1950, in the Korean War, North Korean soldiers captured the South Korean capital of Seoul.

In 1965, U.S. and South Vietnamese airplanes dropped nearly three million leaflets over North Vietnam, appealing to the people to press their leaders to end warfare against South Vietnam.

Ten years ago: King Hussein of Jordan met with President Lyndon Johnson in Washington to discuss Jordan's plight after the Six Day War with Israel.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon announced another withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam and directed that no more draftees be sent to that country unless they volunteered.

One year ago: An Indian Ocean group of islands, the Seychelles, became indpendent after 162 years under British rule.

Today's birthday: Composer Richard Rodgers is 75.

Thought for today: "I don't know whether war is an interlude during peace, or peace an interlude during war." — Georges Clemenceau, French statesman, 1841-1929.

Bail reform plan OK'd

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A bail reform plan recommended by the county Bar Association would allow release on bail with a 10 per cent refundable deposit held by a public agency.

The system recommended to the Legislature by the lawyers favors freeing misdemeanor violators on their own recognizance.

The group's bail reform committee charged that under the current system, a defendant's release before trial "is directly related to his or her wealth."

To post a bond, one currently must pay a 10 per cent nonrefundable premium to a bondsman, who also may ask for collateral.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS CALLING FOR BIDS CONTRACT DOCUMENTS NO. 75-43

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Pomona Unified School District of Los Angeles County, California, acting by and through its Governing Board, hereinafter referred to as the District, will receive up to, but not later than 3:00 o'clock P.M. on the 12th day of July, 1977, sealed bids for the award of the contract for:

PARK HIGH SCHOOL
POMONA, CALIFORNIA

All bids shall be made on a bid form furnished by the District.

Bids shall be received in the office of the Assistant Superintendent of Business, Pomona Unified School District, 800 South Garey Avenue, Pomona, California, and shall be opened and publicly read aloud at the above stated time and place.

Each bid shall be accompanied by the security referred to in the contract documents and the list of proposed subcontractors.

The District reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bids or in the bidding. Preference will be made in the award for California made supplies, pursuant to Section 4330 and 4334, inclusive, Government Code.

Each bid must conform and be responsive to the contract documents, copies of which are on file and may be obtained in the office of the Architect, Cashion - Horie, Architects, Inc., 720 North Park Avenue, Pomona, California 91768. Each bidder may obtain two (2) sets of drawings and specifications upon deposit of twenty - five dollars ($25.00) per set. Each twenty-five ($25.00) deposit will be refunded if the drawings and specifications are returned in good condition within ten (10) days after Bid Opening.

The District has determined the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contract which will be awarded to the successful bidder. These prevailing rates so determined are on exhibit in the Architect's office and the District office, and are available to any interested party on request. The successful bidder will be required to post a copy thereof at the jobsite. Any classification shall comply with the prevailing wage rate in effect at the time of execution of the work.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded, and upon the subcontractors under him, to pay not less than the said specified rates of the current minimum prevailing rate in the area where the work is performed, to all workmen employed by them in the execution of the contract.

Preference will be made in the award of California-made supplies pursuant to Sections 4330 and 4334, inclusive, Government Code.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening of bids.

All bidders must specify that they are an equal opportunity employer.

PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE OF LIEN FOR DELINQUENT ASSESSMENTS AND NOTICE OF DEFAULT AND ELECTION TO SELL

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that in accordance with a Declaration of Covenants, Conditions and Restrictions recorded on November 8, 1972 in Book No. M-4200, Page No. 906, of official records of Los Angeles County, there is a lien upon the property owned by Robert T. Young and Sandra G. Young, and described as:

(a) An undivided 1/79th interest in Lot 1 of Tract No. 27246, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 819, Pages 43 to 47 inclusive of Maps, in the Office of the County Recorder of said county.

Except therefrom Units 1 to 75 inclusive as shown and defined on the Condominium Plan attached as Exhibit "A" to the certificate recorded on November 8, 1972 in Book M-4200, Page 906, Official Records as Instrument No. 1125.

(b) Unit 10 as shown and defined on the Condominium Plan above mentioned.

(c) Commonly known as 21818 E. Stonepine Dr., Diamond Bar, CA.

for payment of assessments which were delinquent as of May 1, 1977, in the sum of $310.00, plus subsequent assessments, other charges such as interest, costs, including attorney's fees, and penalties as provided for in the Declaration of Covenants, Conditions, and Restrictions, together with such delinquencies which may hereafter become due and unpaid.

Therefore, Canyon Park Condominium Association, the lienholder, pursuant to the notices recorded herein, hereby give notice that a breach of the obligation for which these notices are recorded has occurred, to wit: nonpayment of delinquent condominium association assessments and related costs, and that Canyon Park Condominium Association hereby elects to sell, or cause to be sold the property described herein to satisfy said obligation.

NOTICE

You may have the right to cure the default described herein and reinstate the mortgage or deed of trust. Section 2924c of the Civic Code permits certain defaults to be cured upon the payment of the amount required by that Section without requiring payment of that portion of principal and interest which would not be due had no default occurred. Where reinstatement is possible, if the default is not cured within three months following recording of this Notice, the right of reinstatement will terminate and the property may be sold.

To determine if reinstatement is possible and the amount, if any, necessary to cure the default, contact the beneficiary or mortgagee or their successors in interest, whose name and address as of the date of this Notice is CANYON PARK CONDOMINIUM ASSOCIATION, P.O. Box 503, Pomona, California, Attention: Charles W. Bader, Manager.

Holiday fireworks will have 'less bang' this year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fireworks stands are springing up like dandelions along America's roadsides as the country prepares to blast and sparkle its way through another Fourth of July.

But you'll get a little less bang out of your pyrotechnics this year because of the controversial regulations the federal government put into effect last winter.

After a 1974 move to ban fireworks was roundly criticized, the Consumer Products Safety Commission settled last winter for establishing restrictions on the power of fireworks sold to consumers.

Firecrackers, for example, are now limited to 50 milligrams of powder, the charge found in the small "ladyfingers" often sold in strings.

The previous limit had been 130 milligrams.

Other provisions govern the explosives' fuses, labeling, and contents.

The commission's regulation applies to fireworks sold across state lines and has no effect on various state laws limiting or prohibiting fireworks.

Sixteen states ban fireworks sales entirely. These are Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Illinois, Maine, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Rhode Island, Vermont and West Virginia.

At the other end, Hawaii and Nevada have no fireworks regulations at all.

The rest of the states and the District of Columbia allow some fireworks while prohibiting others. In addition, many local governments have their own restrictions.

There have been few seizures of banned fireworks since the rule took effect Dec. 6, officials say. They add that, in general, the regulation is being complied with.

On Thursday, the District of Columbia appeals court ordered the federal commission to clarify its regulation, but did not knock down the rule.

The commission has estimated that as many as 9,000 persons were injured last year by fireworks, half of them aged 15 or younger.

The American Pyrotechnics Association notes that most injuries result from handling fireworks improperly, not from a malfunctioning product.

The Consumer Product Safety Commission has these suggestions for those planning to celebrate July Fourth with fireworks:

—Read and follow the directions.
—Don't explode fireworks unless an adult is present.
—Never experiment by taking fireworks apart or mixing anything with the contents.
—Don't set off fireworks indoors.
—Light the explosives one at a time.
—Have a bucket of water handy.
—Never ignite fireworks in a glass bottle or other small container.
—Store fireworks in a cool, dry place.
—Never give them to small children.

In 1972 the Food and Drug Administration, at the behest of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, sought a total ban on fireworks. A year later it modified that to merely regulating their size.

However, the federal consumer commission subesquently came into operation and was charged with administering the Federal Hazardous Substances Act, which gave it jurisdiction over fireworks.

The commission also backed a complete ban and scheduled it to go into effect just before July 4, 1974.

But that proposal brought a storm of protest from a variety of sources and the ban was delayed while hearings got underway.

These hearings led to the current regulations, which were actually issued on June 3, 1976 but were delayed by legal procedures and took effect last Dec. 6.

Persons convicted of violating the law can face up to a $500 fine and 90 days in jail.

In addition to the limit on the amount of powder in a firecracker, the rule requires that fuses burn from three to six seconds.

A variety of special labeling requirements apply to all sorts of pyrotechnics.

Also banned are kits that could be used to produce an illegal firecracker, aerial bombs and devices such as "dragon eggs" and "cracker balls" that may look like candy or other food.

The regulation also includes:

—A ban on a variety of chemicals in fireworks, such as boron, arsenic sulfide and arsenates.

—Rules prohibiting powder leakage and requiring certain bases, handles and attachments for fireworks.

—"Party Poppers" cannot contain more than one-fourth grain of powder. Party Poppers, also called "Champagne Poppers," are hand-held devices that produce a relatively minor sound without any flash.

Fireworks are thousands of years old, having been developed in China, where they are still used in religious ceremonies.

It is this use that has posed one of the biggest problems for the United States in regulating firecrackers, with Chinese religious leaders charging that the ban interferes with their freedom of religion.

Large items such as cherry bombs were banned in 1966 because of their heavy charges of flash powder.

Nixon can't keep tapes or documents

High court ruling first step toward allowing public access to materials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today that former President Richard M. Nixon is not entitled to control his White House tapes and documents. The decision is the first step toward allowing the public access to the materials.

The justices, voting 7 to 2, decided that Congress acted within its authority when it passed the law in 1974 seizing nearly 5,000 hours of tapes and 42 million pages of documents generated by Nixon's presidency.

The court rejected all arguments by Nixon's attorneys that the law was unconstitutional.

Congress has before it proposed regulations providing for public access to the materials. If the regulations, drafted by the General Services Administration, are adopted, they might still be subject to challenge through the courts — a process that could take years.

Still pending before the high court is a suit to make the 30 Nixon tapes played at the Watergate cover-up trial available for copying, sale and broadcast. Public access to those tapes, however, is included with the other materials covered in today's decision.

There was no comment immediately from Nixon or his lawyers.

Former Special Prosecutor Leon Jaworski, who argued the case for the government before the Supreme Court, said, "The United States government paid for the installation of the devices that resulted in the tape recordings, paid for the material that was used" and therefore the materials belong to the people.

Nixon has had access to all the material for use in writing his memoirs and Jaworski said he felt that was appropriate. But, he added, "I think that the titles to them as well as the control and supervision of their use should be exercised by the government."

The decision is a victory for the government, which has fought for the last three years to hold on to the nearly 5,000 hours of tape recordings and the millions of pages of documents.

Specifically, the court's majority ruled that the law passed by Congress to prevent Nixon from taking the tapes and documents with him to San Clemente after his resignation on Aug. 9, 1974 did not violate the doctrine of separation of powers between the branches of government, did not violate Nixon's privilege of confidentiality or his right to privacy.

The court also said the law was not a "bill of attainder" — an individualized penalty imposed by a legislature rather than a court.

Justice William J. Brennan wrote the court's majority opinion, joined by Justices Potter Stewart, Thurgood Marshall and John Paul Stevens.

Justices Byron R. White, Lewis F. Powell and Harry A. Blackmun joined most parts of the decision.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice William H. Rehnquist dissented.

Among the almost 900 reels of tape covered by the court's decision are the now-famous 30 tapes which helped force Nixon from office in disgrace in the wake of the Watergate scandals. The 30 tapes were used at the Watergate cover-up trial of Nixon's closest aides.

Nixon estimates that of the 42 million pages of documents held by the government — at the White House and the National Records Center in Suitland, Md. — he personally wrote or reviewed some 200,000 pages.

The tapes now will remain with the government until archivists sift through them to determine which can be released to the public and which may be returned to Nixon. The tapes include conversations in the White House Oval Office, the Cabinet Room, the Lincoln Sitting Room and Nixon's offices at the Executive Office Building and Camp David in Maryland.

Congress passed the 1974 law after determining that Nixon was not a reliable custodian for the documents and tapes.

INSTANT MILLIONAIRE

Chandler Johnson, 30, of West Medford, Mass., is interviewed Monday night in Needham, Mass., after winning the biggest state lottery prize in history — $100,000 a year for life. He and his heirs are guaranteed at least $2 million, but if he lives as long as his 85-year-old grandmother, he will get about $5.5 million. At right is his wife, Maria.

Hot spell to linger

Great days for sun worshippers will continue through the week with hot sunny skies predicted by the National Weather Service for Southern California.

Valley residents can tan themselves poolside in temperatures near 95 degrees today and Wednesday, or head for the beaches where temperatures will reach 75 under high clouds.

For those who really want to bake, temperatures in the high and low deserts will reach 105 to 115.

The only flaw in the weather picture is the probability of first stage air pollution alerts in some valley areas in the afternoon.

Two fires in Palmdale area

By The Associated Press

While investigators were seeking campers believed responsible for a 2,000-acre fire in Angeles National Forest, two additional smaller fires broke out near Palmdale.

Some 200 county fire fighters were still battling the two smaller brushfires, about 10 miles northeast of Palmdale. The Los Angeles County fire department said Monday night they had consumed about 100 acres each.

Capt. Ron Mathis said the probable cause of the fires was downed power lines.

Mathis gave no estimate on the time of containment or control. He said ranches in the area were not in immediate danger.

The fires, which began about 9 p.m. Monday, came less than 12 hours after the Angeles Forest fire was controlled by more than 600 fire fighters.

That fire broke out Saturday in the Big Tujunga Canyon, about 10 miles north of the Los Angeles suburb of Sierra Madre.

Carter seeks instant gasoline rationing plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is developing a standby program that would allow the President to impose gasoline rationing on a moment's notice.

The project was confirmed Monday by James Bishop, an aide to presidential energy adviser James Schlesinger. The aide said President Carter had ordered a review of possible rationing plans and that the President wants a program that would give him broad rationing powers.

Schlesinger disclosed the administration intent in a recorded interview with Rep. Jim Guy Tucker, D-Ark. The interview, intended for Tucker's constituents, has not been broadcast yet.

In the interview, Schlesinger said the administration in the months ahead will begin work on a rationing program "that we can impose immediately and dramatically curtail our own use of gas if the circumstances require, if we have a supply interruption."

Bishop said the rationing move is not in retaliation for congressional mauling of the President's energy plans, which sought to reduce gasoline consumption through a standby gasoline tax and through special levies on automobiles that get poor gasoline mileage.

In unveiling his national energy plan, Carter warned that if consumption could not be reduced by other means the administration would consider developing a rationing plan.

Bishop said there was dissatisfaction with ration plans drafted for Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford after the 1973 oil embargo, and in any event, they were Republican, not Democratic plans.

To underline the importance of gasoline conservation, Bishop said Americans this summer will use 27 billion gallons of gasoline in the vacation season.

"That's twice the amount needed to produce all of America's crops for the entire year," he said, "and the equivalent of all the energy used by American forces in 1944."

Sources within the Federal Energy Administration said the sum of previous rationing moves is that the president currently does not have standby gasoline rationing authority.

During the Arab oil embargo, William Simon, then head of the old Federal Energy Office, developed a rough plan that cited defense emergency laws for authority. His effort led to the printing of gasoline ration coupons. It eventually took four months to print a three-month supply of coupons at a cost of about $10 million. These coupons are still in federal storage.

With the embargo crisis over, interest waned. Congress ordered the Ford administration to draft a rationing plan, saying the plan and authority to impose rationing would have to be approved by Congress.

Ford's plan was sent to Congress on the last day of his administration, Jan. 19 of this year, but it was sent to the wrong offices, said an administration source. So, technically, the plan was never officially received by Congress.

For state and local gasoline taxes

Panel repeals income tax deduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you itemize your income tax returns, you would lose a deduction for gasoline expenses under legislation approved by a key House committee.

But you would get an even bigger tax break by conserving home heating fuels.

The House Ways and Means Committee, completing work on the Carter administration's energy-tax proposals, voted on Monday to repeal the income tax deduction for state and local gasoline taxes.

In so doing, the committee went along with the administration's position that there can be no broad-scale national energy conservation program without individual sacrifice.

By a 20 to 14 vote, the committee agreed that it makes no sense for the government to offer a tax advantage to users of gasoline.

Repeal of the deduction would mean an average $38 tax hike next year for the 18.6 million couples or individuals who itemize their tax returns. Officials estimate repeal of the gas tax deduction could save about 7,000 barrels of oil a day.

The repeal was not part of the President's original energy tax plan. However, presidential tax adviser Laurence Woodworth told the committee the administration would not object to having the repeal in the bill.

Along with having a psychological impact for gasoline saving, Woodworth said, repeal of the deduction would be a step toward tax simplification.

However, itemizing taxpayers could cut their taxes by a larger margin if Congress goes along with the committee's approval of a tax credit of up to $400 for those insulating their homes.

This credit, available until the end of 1982, would be 20 per cent of the first $2,000 spent on such items as insulation, storm doors and windows, and more efficient furnace burners. The administration estimates that the $3 billion program would eventually save up to 320,000 barrels of oil daily. The committee approved the tax credit on a 20 to 17 vote.

It also voted 16 to 10 to approve a similar credit of up to $2,150 for buyers of home energy equipment powered by the sun or wind. It would be a credit of 30 per cent for the first $1,500 spent, and 20 per cent of the next $8,500.

BLACK PANTHER PROTEST

This was the scene in San Francisco Monday as Black Panther party members staged a protest outside the building housing the Canadian consulate. They were protesting the Canadian government's detainment of Huey Newton. Newton faces a deportation hearing today to determine whether he will be permitted to leave for California, where he faces murder and assault charges.

S.B. County supervisors view budget

13.5 per cent increase over present levels

By BOB SWETNAM
PB Staff Writer

San Bernardino County Supervisors were presented with a proposed budget Monday that calls for a record spending of more than $286 million during the next fiscal year.

The proposed amount — if eventually adopted by the supervisors — would represent a $34 million, or 13.5 per cent increase over present spending levels.

Increased welfare, criminal justice, medical, transportation and county salary costs were cited by chief administrator Earl Goodwin as primary reasons for the proposed $34,129,665 increase in county spending.

"As urban growth continues in San Bernardino County at a faster pace than almost anywhere else in the state, local government must shoulder the burden of the accelerating public needs," Goodwin explained.

Rapid growth in the county, inflation and increasing demands by state and federal agencies that county government assume the responsiblity of numerous social services were blamed by Goodwin for the big spending increase proposal.

"The major county programs serve the poor, the unfortunate, the needy and those in trouble. This (county government) is not a glamorous role . . . and it does not touch the average citizen or property taxpayer," he said.

Property tax payments to the state for medical and welfare payments will be increased by $889,632 if the proposed budget is adopted.

Additional welfare funds of $10,283,442 are being asked for by county officials. Welfare alone represents the biggest increase in the proposed budget.

Other increases being requested include an additional $2,748,443 for Community Development program funds, $586,043 in extra funds for increased sheriff's department patrols in unincorporated areas, $5,395,738 increase in criminal justice funds, a $7,289,630 increase in transportation and road construction money, a $3,833,203 increase in county medical care spending, and an approximate $4.8 million increase in county employes' salaries.

The impact of the county budget on taxes for the average citizen will probably not be known until late July, Goodwin indicated. At that time, the total increase in the county's assessed valuation will be known.

If assessed valuations are up more than 9.8 per cent over last year's, the property tax rate — now approximately $3 per $100 of assessed valuation — will go down.

If the assessed valuations are lower than expected a tax rate increase looms for property owners.

Supervisors, while adopting the proposed recommendations for informational purposes — said they expected to see some cuts in the proposed budget before it is finally approved.

Supervisor Joe Kamansky moved to adopt the recommendations in the proposed budget, but commented, "This is not my approval of the budget request in any manner."

Kamansky said he would review areas for possible cuts, or if necessary, increases in spending.

Supervisor Dennis Hansberger of San Bernardino suggested the county should trim the budget and put an 8 per cent growth rate ceiling on county spending.

Supervisors Bob Hammock and James Mayfield agreed.

A full schedule of public hearings will now be held at the Board of Supervisors Chambers on the proposed budget request. Citizens will then be given the opportunity to challenge some of the proposed budget increases or cuts.

The first public hearing will be held Monday, July 11, at 2 p.m. Persons interested in obtaining a copy of the proposed budget should contact the county's administrative office at 383-1835.

Proposed expenditures by agency for the 1977-78 fiscal year are:

—Environmental Improvement Agency will spend $14,064,602.

—General Services Agency will spend $5,822,079.

—Health Care Services Agency will spend $36,146,924.

—Human Resources Agency will spend $103,563,911.

—Law and Justice Agency will spend $54,679,299.

—Capital Improvements proposed amount to $17,248,162.

—Public Works Department will spend $35,651,125.

—$6,598,741 will be placed in reserves and $12,988,921 is proposed for non-agency programs.

State briefs

Manson's voice heard

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson, a main figure in the two-month-old murder retrial of Leslie Van Houten, denies that the 27-year-old former beauty princess was a "robot" under his control.

"I never forced anybody to do anything," the 42-year-old Manson said in a tape-recorded interview played to the jury Monday.

But at another point in the rambling, 70-minute tape, the cult leader admitted, "Certainly I had influence over her (Miss Van Houten). I have influence over everybody I meet."

It was the first time the jurors had heard Manson' voice in the trial.

The tape marked the beginning of the defense rebuttal stage of Miss Van Houten's retrial on charges of murder in the Aug. 10, 1969, killings of Leno and Rosemary LaBianca and of conspiracy in the deaths of actress Sharon Tate and four others.

"People had (influenced) Leslie Van Houten long before I had her," Manson said in the intrview recorded by psychiatrist Joel Fort. "Her mother had her first. Her dad had her. Her parents had her. Her school had her. The TV had her. The movies had her. She was in a convent for a Buddhist; the Buddhists had her."

Part of Miss Van Houten's "diminished capacity" defense maintains that her decisionmaking ability was reduced because of heavy drug use,especially LSD.

"We were not all that much into drugs," said Manson. "Everybody said we were, but that's not true."

Sheriff's deputies quit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two sheriff's deputies who allegedly plotted to bilk a Texas money broker out of $400,000 have resigned, court records show.

The deputies — Ralph Davenport, 39, and Penn Weldon, 46 — were arrested Friday on charges of attempting to defraud a savings and loan company of $7,350 by using forged passbooks. However, the alleged larger scheme was not revealed until Monday in an affidavit accompanying the criminal charges.

According to the affidavit, the scheme to bilk Worthey and Co., a Fort Worth money broker, came to light because a third man working with the deputies, Thomas B. Delashaw III, was an FBI informer.

The affidavit, filed by FBI agent Roy D. Christopher, claims that the three men had planned various illegal activities, including false certificates of deposit transactions, counterfeit cashiers checks and counterfeit certificates of deposit.

Delashaw, 40, has been working as an FBI informer since he pleaded guilty last year to a counterfeit securities charge, the affidavit said.

According to the affidavit, the trio began planning April 28 to get Worthey and Co. to deposit the $400,000 in a phony company's account at a Pasadena savings and loan office.

The money would be obtained from the General Life and Accident Insurance Co. of Fort Worth for coverage of the fictitious corporation, the affidavit claims.

The trio had allegedly planned to withdraw the money and convert it into South African gold coins, the sworn statement said. But Delashaw allegedly tipped the FBI to the scheme before the withdrawal could be made.

Daveport and Weldon were freed on $10,000 bail each by U.S. Magistrate Venetta Tassopulos.

Illegal importation

CALEXICO, Calif. (AP)—A U. S. Customs agent is accused in a federal indictment of accepting $5,000 per load to allow at least 15 marijuana-filled trucks to cross from Mexico to the United States.

In addition to the Customs inspector, Nath Bachan, 38, of El Centro, Calif., the indictment names Miguel Alaniz, 25, a Calexico policeman, and 10 other individuals as alleged participants in the illegal importation of tons of the weed.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Stephen Nelson identified the others charged as civilians, mostly from Calexico or its sister city of Mexicali, Mexico.

Balloon project scrapped

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Scientists measuring smog levels from a silver balloon have given up after six hours of heading the wrong way.

The helium-filled balloon came down at 12:34 p.m. Monday near Mission Viejo, ending a flight that was to have taken two scientists over Los Angeles, Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

But after smoggy winds blew the balloon 20 miles in the wrong direction, the South Coast Air Quality Management District gave up the first of three such studies.

No Indian trial bargain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Prosecutors in the murder trial of two American Indians have reportedly failed again in an effort to convince Superior Court Judge Floyd Dodson to accept a negotiated plea.

Judge Dodson, who rejected the settlement when it was proposed last week, walked off the bench Monday during a conference with defense attorneys. Judge Dodson reportedly told prosecutors he would not change his mind.

Under terms of the proposed settlement, Paul Skyhorse, 31, and Richard Mohawk, 26, would have been freed from custody after almost two years and eight months in jail. They are charged with the murder of cab driver George Aird.

Sit-in at Brown's office?

SACRAMENTO (AP) — About 40 disabled and retarded persons say they'll hold a sit-in in Gov. Edmund Brown Jr.'s outer office until satisfied in their request for funds.

They made the decision late Monday after a demonstration in favor of state support for a rehabilitation and job-training program whose federal funding is being cut back.

At a news conference, wheelchair-bound Bruce Curtis said: "We will no longer be kept in institutions, hospitals, attics locked in chains, or the bedrooms of houses."

Curtis, of Pasadena, said the cutbacks "are threatening to put us back, and we will not go back."

Assembly election today

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Two 33-year-old attorneys, Democrat Mel Levine and Republican Dana Reed, face off today in a special Assembly election in a heavily Democratic West Los Angeles district.

The election in the 44th District will fill a vacancy left by Democrat Alan Sieroty's election to the state Senate.

The affluent district stretches from the Santa Monica beach east to Rancho Park, and has 88,000 registered Democrats and 37,000 registered Republicans.

Both candidates survived close, expensive primaries.

WATER FOR ARABIA?

A brace of helicopters and tugs wrap an iceberg in a protective covering in this engineer's sketch, as five other tow boats pull the giant mass. The sketch is one of several prepared for use at a two-day symposium in Paris at which a Saudi Arabian prince and a French polar explorer proposed hauling icebergs to water-short nations.

Over half married women abused

A study on wife-beating

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 28 million American women are physically abused by their husbands but the problem is obscured by a "conspiracy of silence," says an author of a study on wife-beating.

Richard C. Levy, who wrote "Wife Beating — The Silent Crisis" with Roger C. Langley, charged Monday that physical abuse of women is not seriously regarded by many people and institutions.

Levy said he and Langley found more than half of the married women in the United States are victims of wife-beatings, of which about 10 per cent involved lethal weapons.

Yet, he said in an interview, the government is only beginning to show an interest in the problem, while many individuals still view it in a humorous vein.

Legislation has been introduced in Congress which Levy described as "a $25 million package which would authorize the National Institute of Mental Health to set up ongoing research on the incidence of domestic violence."

He said that in researching the book, he and his partner found shelters for battered wives springing up all over the country. But, Levy said, "the federal government has got to come up with some sort of guidelines for these centers."

"A marriage license is a hunting license," Levy said. "It gives a man five free beatings because the woman typically doesn't report such abuse until the fifth attack."

Compounding the problem is an attitude by many law enforcement agencies that wifebeating is a nuisance, he said.

Levy said many police departments refuse to charge a husband in a wife-beating case unless a battered wife requires a certain number of stitches to close a wound.

After checking with the FBI, the American Bar Association, HEW, members of Congress and police organizations, Levy said, "We found culpable ignorance."

He said he and his partner based their conclusions on questionnaires they sent to hospitals, police departments, counseling services, crisis centers and individual attorneys in 25 cities.

"The questionnaires started pouring back attesting to the problem at the grass-roots level," Levy said. "Then we found seven scientific studies and, combining them with our empirical research, came up with the 28 million figure."

He said American society clings to its traditional lenient attitude toward wife-beating, even occasionally poking fun at it.

"We studied TV. Remember the Jackie Gleason Show? Remember the punch line you waited for, when Ralph would say, 'Alice, you're going to the moon!'"

Levy added: "If I told a joke about battered children, you'd think I was a sickie."

Drought conscious, conserving too much

Water your lawns, S.F. pleads with residents

FREMONT (AP) — Though the skies stay sunny and the ground stays dry, water officials in some Northern California districts say their drought-conscious customers are overconserving.

Last week, the general manager of the San Francisco Water Department pleaded with city residents not to let their lawns die for lack of water. And during the weekend, the Alameda County Water District, serving 61,000 households east of San Francisco, scrapped mandatory water rationing entirely.

"The people cut back almost 57 per cent. We only required a 25 per cent decrease," said district manager Matt Whitfield. "The people have been so good at saving water it was getting worrisome."

Lawn sprinklers were seen Sunday operating throughout the tri-city area including Fremont, Newark and Union City — a rarity in the San Francisco Bay area where most districts have instituted water rationing plans and restricted watering.

Last week Kenneth R. Boyd, general manager of the San Francisco district, noted that city water users have cut back 40 per cent and their lawns are turning brown. The district asked its customers to cut back by 25 per cent from what they used last year.

While it might be impossible to keep lawns lush and green, Boyd said, there should be enough water at least to keep them alive.

The Alameda County district's sharp drop in water consumption has meant revenues are down, too — about 40 to 50 per cent of normal, according to Roy Coverdale, the district's assistant general manager and auditor.

At their June 30 meeting, the directors will vote whether to increase rates from 36 cents to 45 cents per 748 gallons. The increase would be effective July 1.

Whitfield said the district would be keeping a keen eye over the summer to insure "there is no blatant waste." But based on past performance, he added, water officials don't expect any.

North of San Francisco, in parched Marin County, water officials welcomed the zealousness of their customers.

"Our customers are still exceeding our goal, and that's fine with us," Jules Tham, administrative assistant of the Marin Municipal Water District, said on Monday. Marin residents have been asked to cut water consumption by about 57 per cent.

In Oakland and nearby communities east of San Francisco, the 1.1 million customers of the East Bay Municipal Utility District were about on target for the 35 per cent goal set by the district, said David Vossbrink, public information representative.

"Folks in the East Bay are saving lots of water, and that's good," Vossbrink said Monday. "We don't know yet what's going to happen next year. The water we save this year might be a big part of the water we need next year."

House to vote on pay hike repeal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is reaching for one of the hottest potatoes on its legislative menu — a vote on whether to repeal the $12,900 pay raise members of Congress began receiving March 1.

The key vote, which may come Wednesday, should be extremely close.

The House planned a relatively minor vote today on waiving a smaller pay raise that hasn't yet taken effect. The waiver was considered sure to be approved.

The major test will be on an amendment to strike from the legislative appropriation bill funds for the higher salary congressmen have been getting for more than three months.

The Democratic leadership is trying to muster the votes to defeat that amendment, something sources said they have not yet succeeded at.

If the amendment survives the rest of the legislative process, the annual pay of representatives and senators would be cut from $57,500 to $44,600.

And there would be similar reductions in the salaries of federal judges and other high officials, including the vice president, Cabinet members and top ranking federal employes.

Part of the leadership strategy is to ensure that any pay cut would apply to all these groups, not just members of Congress. Theoretically, that would make a cutback harder to justify.

The rules committee is being counted on to take care of this parliamentary requirement.

Whatever action the House takes is subject, however, to Senate review.

If House members pass the appropriations bill minus the funds to cover the raises during the next fiscal year, the Senate would not have to go along. Senators could vote to put the money for their raises back into the bill. That would send the bill to a conference committee made up of representatives from both chambers, whose job would be to reach a compromise agreeable to both the House and Senate.

Proponents of the pay increase could argue that the House should not let itself be dealt an inferior status.

Arrest 5th suspect in Upland shooting

A 19-year-old Ontario man was arrested by police Monday in connection with the Saturday shooting of an Upland man.

The latest arrest brought to five the number of persons accused in the incident. Two are adults and three are juveniles.

Arrested Monday was Manuel Arias, 19, of 937 El Dorado Ave. He and the other adult arrested, Anthony G. Carranza, 19, of 1622 E. Flora St., Ontario, were to be arraigned today in West Valley Municipal Court on charges of attempted murder.

The juveniles, unidentified due to their ages, also faced arraignment today.

All are suspected of involvement in the shooting of Esquevil Garcia, 21, of Upland in the 1100 block of Myrtle Drive Saturday evening. Shot in the abdomen from a passing car, Garcia is reported to be in serious condition in San Bernardino County Hospital.

3 jailed in connection with gunfire

Pomona police arrested three suspects Monday night in connection with an incident in which several pistol shots were fired into the front of an apartment building at 349 Orchid Lane.

The shooting occurred shortly after 6 p.m. The suspects were arrested about an hour later at Garey Avenue and Philadelphia Street where one was making a telephone call. They were identified as Katherine Cornell, Wilmer Cornell Jr., and Samuel L. Sims, all of Pomona.

Witnesses told police that the shots were fired from an auto parked near the Orchid Lane address. The suspects were booked on suspicion of firing into an inhabited dwelling, a felony.

Modern-day Jack the Ripper loose in England; 5th victim

LEEDS, England (AP) — Police in northern England believe a present-day Jack the Ripper is the murderer of four prostitutes and a teen-age girl in the past 20 months.

The latest victim, a 16-year-old shopgirl named Jayne McDonald, was found battered to death in a red light district of Leeds Sunday morning. A detective said she was "an entirely respectable girl, and she must have been killed by mistake."

The police said she missed her bus Saturday night and was walking home through the area.

The girl lived a few doors away from the first victim, Wilma McCann, 28, who was found dead on a Leeds playing field in October 1975. The next January, Emily Jackson was murdered in a blind alley in the city. Last February, the body of Irene Richardson, 28, was found near a sports pavilion. In April, Patricia Atkinson, 33, was murdered in an apartment in Bradford, 10 miles from Leeds.

The four women were all prostitutes, and all were "battered, viciously knifed and mutilated," police said. Asst. Chief Constable George Oldfield told a news conference Monday the police are convinced the five murders are the work of the same man.

"He will strike again," Oldfield warned as he appealed to the public for information.

Woman injured in Pomona crash

A young woman motorist was injured in Pomona Monday evening when her small car and a larger auto collided at Garey Avenue and Phillips Boulevard, police reported.

The motorist, Tamara Willsey, 18, declined immediate medical attention for cuts and bruises. Police said the collision occurred as the other driver involved, Emberto Rojas, 26, of Pomona, attempted to turn left.

Rocks rain on freeway travelers

Four persons were injured, including a Pomona police officer, Monday night when baseball-sized rocks thrown by juveniles crashed into car windows on the San Bernardino Freeway at San Antonio Avenue in Pomona.

Most seriously injured in the rock throwing incidence was Lt. Chester A. Thomas, 33, of the Pomona Police Department. He sustained eye and chest injuries when a baseball-sized rock penetrated his car windshield and struck him in the chest. Glass fragments from the shattered windshield hit near his eye. Thomas sought treatment for his injuries at a local hospital.

The rocks, believed thrown from an alley just below the freeway, also struck the windows of two other vehicles westbound injuring two other youths and a woman.

The first vehicle, driven by Tommy Richard Armstrong, of 10323 Amherst St., Montclair, was struck by two large rocks which shattered the vehicle's side windows showering glass over Tommy Armstrong Jr., 14, and Deanna Lewis, 19, of Montclair.

Jimmy Torres, 8, of Claremont, a passenger in his father's car, also suffered cuts from flying glass after a rock struck the windshield of their car, shattering it.

The Pomona Police Department helicopter assisted Pomona police and the California Highway Patrol in an attempt to locate the juveniles believed responsible for throwing the rocks at the cars on the freeway. Officers were unable to locate any suspects in the incident.

Hospitalized with chest pains

Upland Fire Chief Leon Lamphear died Monday at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland after a short illness.

Mr. Lamphear, 59, served as Upland's fire chief for 13 years, assuming the position on June 30, 1964. He joined the city's Fire Department in 1946 and served 6½ years as a fireman and 11½ years as fire inspector before being promoted to chief.

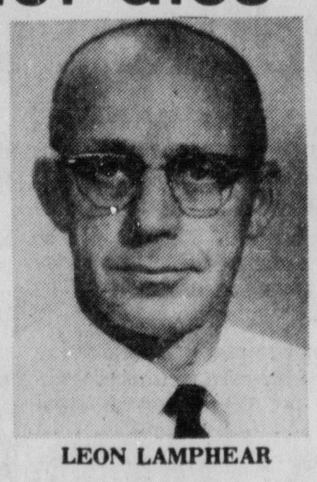
Mr. Lamphear was admitted to the hospital Friday after complaining of chest pains.

A veteran of World War II, Mr. Lamphear piloted 25 B-17 missions over Europe with the Army Air Corps.

Surviving are his widow, Ruth, and three children, Linda, Robyn and David.

Don Justis, assistant chief of the Upland Fire Department, will assume charge of the department for the present.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Stone Funeral Home, Upland.



LEON LAMPHEAR

Advertising attorneys hail high court ruling

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — John Bates and Van O'Steen, who riled the legal fraternity last year by advertising their rates, say they'll resume ads for their law clinic "almost immediately," following a Supreme Court decision that overturned an advertising ban on lawyers.

"This means all the professions are going to be vulnerable to attack from the outside," said O'Steen. "This could be the beginning of the end for self-regulation for lawyers, and that's good."

New ads will appear "as soon as we gear up for it," Bates said on Monday.

The February 1976 newspaper ad that eventually produced Monday's Supreme Court ruling said:

"Do you need a lawyer? Legal services at very reasonable fees."

The ad listed prices for uncontested divorces, adoptions, bankruptcies and changes of name.

Bates and O'Steen operate a clinic that provides legal services at reduced prices. They said it is designed for persons who cannot afford private attorneys but are not poor enough to qualify for legal aid. The clinic uses paralegal assistants and automated equipment to reduce the cost of routine legal services.

The two lawyers said the ad was designed to challenge the Arizona Bar Association's rule banning such advertising, adding that they believe such ads are necessary to get enough customers to make a low-cost clinic work.

"We wanted to set the ad up as a test case," Bates said. "We wanted to test the most outrageous thing we could, namely specific prices for services."

The bar association brought disciplinary action against the lawyers and was upheld by the Arizona Supreme Court, which ordered that a written notice of censure be issued.

William Canby, the Arizona State University law professor who argued the case before the high court for his two former students, said the ruling "will drive fees down, at least for some legal services."

John Frank, who argued the case for the bar association, predicted the opinion would be extended to other learned professions. "Accountants and doctors, at least, will be in the same boat," he said.

Bates and O'Steen said they have set a new target. They now plan to test whether a lawyer can advertise a specific hourly fee for legal work on more complex cases.

Obituaries

Dennis Fee Jr.

Dennis Dean Fee Jr., 2½-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Fee of 520 Vesta St., Ontario, died Sunday in Children's Hospital, Orange.

Besides his parents, the baby is survived by his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Fee Sr. of Ontario; his maternal grandfather, Thomas E. Williams Sr. of Ontario, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Birdella Williams of Montclair.

Friends may call from 6 to 9 p.m. today at the Blackman-Pollock Memorial Chapel, Pomona. Rosary will be recited at 7:30 tonight at the chapel. Mass of the Christian Burial will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Wednesday at St. George Catholic Church, Ontario. Burial will be made in Bellevue Cemetery, Ontario.

Grace Harmer

Grace W. Harmer of 1550 N. Park Ave., Pomona, died Monday afternoon in a local convalescent hospital.

Mrs. Harmer was born Oct. 3, 1897 in Othemo, Mich. She came to California around 1908 from Michigan. In 1916 she moved to Pomona from Monte Vista (now known as Montclair). She was married to Ernest Harmer July 17, 1923. Mr. Harmer was a local businessman and former car dealer in Pomona. Mrs. Harmer was employed many years as a linotype operator with the Progress Bulletin.

There are no known surviving relatives.

Services will be held Thursday at 11:30 a.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. Burial will be made in Pomona Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Pomona Chapel Wednesday from noon until 9 p.m.

Joseph Groene

Joseph K. Groene of 1400 W. 13th St., Upland, died Sunday morning in Pomona Valley Community Hospital following a short illness.

Mr. Groene was born April 7, 1919 in Wadina, Minn. He came to Pomona in 1940 from Minnesota and moved to Claremont in 1950. He had resided in Upland since December 1976.

Mr. Groene was a 1954 graduate of Claremont Men's College. He was vice president of Wagenseller & Durst Inc., and had been associated with them for the past 23 years. He served with the Army during World War II.

Mr. Groene was a member of the Claremont Kiwanis Club, University Club, and a corporate member of Pilgrim Place.

Besides his widow, June, he is survived by a son, Jerry of Cucamonga; a daughter, Connie Johnson also of Cucamonga; two sisters, Marie Plagman of Clear Lake and Beatrice Benson of Minneapolis, Minn.; and two grandchildren, Amy Christine Johnson and Christopher Allen Johnson both of Cucamonga.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Claremont United Methodist Church. Dr. James W. Dallas, pastor of the church, will officiate. Private committal services will be held in Oak Park Cemetery, Claremont. Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona is in charge of arrangements.

Friends may make memorial contributions to the Joseph K. Groene Memorial Fund, at Claremont United Methodist Church, 211 W. Foothill Blvd., Claremont 91711.

Richard Russell Ronshausen

Richard Russell Ronshausen of 417 W. Fourth St., San Dimas, died Saturday at his home.

He was born Sept. 21, 1953 in California, and was a maintenance man at San Dimas Community Hospital.

He is survived by his father, William Russell Ronshausen of Oregon; his mother, Mrs. C. Jane Ronshausen of San Dimas; a sister, Mrs. Larry Knudsen of Pomona; and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ronshausen of Pomona.

Graveside services will be held today at 3 p.m. at Pomona Cemetery. Blackman-Pollock Memorial Chapel of Pomona is in charge of arrangements.

Upland C of C plans banquet

The Upland Chamber of Commerce has scheduled its annual awards banquet and installation of officers on Wednesday.

A Hawaiian luau is planned at 6:30 p.m. in the Miramonte Room of the Uplander Motor Hotel.

Dress is casual or Hawaiian.

Tickets, at $10 per person, are available at the Upland Chamber of Commerce office, 982-8816.

9.5 million tourists come

LOS ANGELES (AP) — About 9.5 million out-of-state tourists visited Southern California last year, spending more than $1 million in Los Angeles alone, the Southern California Visitors Council has reported.

About 92 per cent of the tourists visted Los Angeles, the council said Monday.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank all my friends in Pomona for their prayers, and kindnesses and cards and flowers throughout the years. Especially in my recent bereavement over the loss of my daughter, Diane Thomas.

Most sincerely,
Mrs. Milo McFarland

And whatever shows, costs.

Here's one simple solution. Keep your indoor temperature at 78° instead of 70° and you could cut your cooling costs up to 30 percent. Air conditioning is supposed to keep you comfortable, not cold.

By the way, make sure all your doors and windows are closed. Why pay to air condition the neighborhood?

Again, remember. Indoor temperature 78° or higher.

It's another way you can help conservation. And it will definitely pay off—next time your meter reader shows up.

Employers alerted about use of chemicals

Starting Friday, California employers using asbestos, vinyl chloride and 14 other proven cancer-causing chemicals face $1,000 fines for serious safety violations involving the substances and $5,000 fines for repeat infractions.

This alert to the business community was issued by state Health Director Jerome A. Lackner, who noted the chemicals are used in a wide variety of industrial, chemical, scientific and manufacturing settings.

Dr. Lackner said the fines represent the policing aspect of California's expanding program to prevent job-related cancer.

The law requires employers to report use of the 14 regulated chemicals to the State Division of Industrial Safety, which administers the program jointly with the State Health Department, by July 1 or thereafter risk a $500 fine for failing to report.

Employers using asbestos and vinyl chloride have until Sept. 1 to report before the $500 fine applies to them.

Employers may report the use of the 16 state-regulated cancer-causing substances in writing, to the State Division of Industrial Safety, 455 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco, 94102.

They should report the substance or substances used, the process, the location and the number of workers involved.

The State Health Department has technical experts available to help employers with free consultation services and assistance. Employers may arrange such assistance by contacting the Occupational Cancer Control Unit in the State Health Department.

To obtain free assistance, Lackner said, Southern California employers may call (213) 620-4290.

Dr. Lackner noted that employers who have the regulated cancer-causing substances on their business premises but who may choose not to keep them must dispose of the substances in accord with state laws and regulations. Employers wishing to dispose of cancer-causing substances should contact the State health Department's vector and waste management section for guidance on correct disposal. The section office in Los Angeles may be reached by phoning (213) 620-2380.

The 14 regulated chemicals, in addition to vinyl chloride and asbestos, are used in many industrial plants, pharmaceutical businesses and in medical, chemical and research laboratories. The list includes, 2-Acetylaminofluorene, 4-Aminodiphenyl, Benzidine (and its salts), bis-Chloromethyl ether, 3, 3-Dichlorobenzidine (and its salts), 4-Dimethylaminoazobenzene, beta-Naphthylamine, 4-Nitrobiphenyl, N-Nitrosodimethylamine, beta-Propiolactone, Methyl chloromethyl ether, alpha-Naphthylamine, 4, 4-Methylene bis (2-Chloroaniline), and Ethyleneimine.

Claremont's July 4 parade entries sought

Applications are being accepted for Claremont's Fourth of July parade, with participants being limited to Claremonters.

Specially invited groups may participate, such as a band, special riders or owners of antique autos.

All entries are required to follow the 1977 theme of "Our Country Is . . . " and the intent of an Independence Day parade celebration.

Costumes and floats will be judged on beauty and appropriateness to the theme.

Awards will be presented for the best entries in nine parade categories.

The parade will form at 3 p.m. at 10th Street and Yale Avenue, and start at 4 p.m.

Categories are as follows: marching unit, mobile unit, equestrian, color guard, Claremont parks group, novelty group, band, antique car, and old car.

A mayor's trophy, a theme trophy, and a sweepstakes trophy will be awarded for outstanding entries.

This year, no person will be allowed to sell anything along the parade route to spectators or participants, and police will be asked to enforce the no selling ban.

In past years, spectators have been injured through items sold along the parade route.

Official theme of the all-day celebration is "America is Beautiful."

Steel contract talks make 'good progress'

In a joint statement, officials of Kaiser Steel, Fontana, and of the United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, said the two parties are making "good progress" in current contract negotiations.

The present contract, covering 7,000 members of Local 2869 at the Fontana plant, is due to expire on Aug. 1. Negotiations on a new contract began April 29.

"Both parties have come to the bargaining table with a positive attitude," said Carl Griffin, Kaiser Steel's director of industrial relations. "We are all well aware that a new contract must be finalized on schedule to assure our customers an uninterrupted supply of steel products."

Robert J. Petris, USWA director, District 38, said "there are still about a thousand steelworkers on layoff status at the Fontana plant. If steel users lose confidence and place orders somewhere else, it would mean more layoffs. And, he pointed out, "there is plenty of foreign-made steel at the harbor."

The Kaiser Steel-USWA contract provides that the economic provisions agreed to in the eastern steel contract will be automatically applied to the Fontana plant. Agreement on economic issues such as basic wage rates and wage increases was reached in April between the major steel producers and the USWA. Local issues, such as work rules and seniority provisions, are being negotiated at individual plants.

Company and union officials confirmed they were pleased with the progress to date and expressed confidence that agreement on a new contract would be reached.

72 finish nurse training course

Seventy-two students have completed the Pomona Adult School's nursing assistants training course.

They have been awarded proficiency certificates and pins by instructor Roxie W. Barfield, assisted by Betty Whitfield.

Perfect attendance certificates were awarded to these first semester students: Charlotte Ashbaugh, Brenda Bordman, Joan Lull, Roxanna Maxwell, Jane Porter, Annette Snapp, Dorothy Waters, Dora Burns, Mary E. Gonzales, and Hetty Macarewa.

Other first-semester graduates are: Kathleen Cooper, Peggy Day, Carol Duchane, Monica Espinoza, Linda Farina, Aracely Franco, Jody Karp, Marilyn Hodges, Susan Jennings, Samuel Jitter, Sharon Latimer, Teresa Ponder, Antoinette Quintanar, Kathy Ramos, Ann Sipes, Elizabeth Steinseifer, Nancy Switzer, Angelita Vecchio, and Debra Lynn Walker.

Second semester's perfect attendance certificates were awarded to Carol Anten, Judy Proffitt, Helen Pearson, Gianine Marangio, Yolanda Franklin, Loretta Gilbert, Doreen Henry, Barbara Jerrick, Rosemary Yule, Melba Hanvey, Viola Cornelison, Mildred Harrison, Vicki Shotwell, Karlene Chase, Carol Armstrong, Helen Dourley and Elizabeth Rivas.

Second semester graduates: Flora Blair, Felicia Buhl, Karen Boone, Sharon Bullard, Marilyn Calvert, Kathy Chase, Rubbie Dampeer, Deborah Daniels, Esther Dominguez, Kathering Fellows, Pamela Gray, Gloria Harris, Ollie King, Mary Knight, Rosetta Knight, Roberta Lawson, Beatriz Lopez, Lisa McKinzie, Debbie Riddle, Guillermia Rodriques, Robin Romine, Lorraine Sanchez, and Willie Mae Weston.

The students studied medicine, pediatrics, surgery, obstetrics, geriatrics, orthopedics, and coronary care.

On-the-job training was received at Pomona Valley Community Hospital and Palomares Convalescent Center.

The next class will begin in the fall.

Unhappy with administration in Ed Center issue

Pomona board angered by lack of priority list

By DAN NIEBRUGGE
PB Staff Writer

Not satisfied with the performance of its administrative staff, an angered Pomona school board adjourned a planned budget study session early Monday evening and went into executive session with Supt. Charles Carpenter.

The board's dissatisfaction with the staff arose finally during a discussion of the operation of the district's administrative headquarters, the Education Center at 800 S. Garey Ave., Pomona.

Trustee C. Allen Braswell sharply jabbed the staff, telling officials and fellow board members, "At the last regular meeting of the board I requested a prioritized breakdown of all activities at the Ed Center in regard to the way in which they deal with children. I see here only a report of the status quo."

Braswell strongly criticized the administration's failure to provide a "prioritized" list of the Ed Center's activities saying, "There is always a defense given for anything we want cut. Last week I was told the Professional Development Program was the No. 1 priority for students. Now I am told that all the programs are of No. 1 priority except for their directors."

"I don't believe," he said, "you can say every item is of No. 1 priority in terms of its service to children. I am just not that naive."

Referring to the budget presentation he said, "It did not work last year. It did not work this year and it will not work next year."

Implying that the school's administration may be top heavy, he said the report on the Education Center gave evidence of providing a number of jobs, but criticized the staff for not prioritizing those jobs in order for some cuts or changes to occur so the district might save money.

Braswell's comments were quickly echoed by trustee Eugene Whitlock who asked, "Why hasn't this (the prioritization) been done? I've been asking for this and putting up with this sort of thing for three years now and I'm tired of being laughed at as the one who always causes the trouble."

When Board President Don Donnelly suggested that, since the staff hadn't "prioritized" the Ed Center activities, the board go ahead and do it, Whitlock angrily disagreed saying, "No. They get a good salary for doing this and I think it's about time they earned it. The business affairs department didn't even list their operation and there are three of them sitting here," he said motioning toward the three representatives from the district's business operation.

Superintendent of Schools Charles Carpenter admitted he was unable to answer Whitlock's question as to why the priority lists had not been presented. He did say that such lists would be provided for the board in plenty of time for the next budget study session Thursday evening.

The full impact of Monday's meeting cannot be known pending the outcome of any actions or directions given in executive session. But the meeting did show a growing split between the administration and the board and emphasized the board's growing frustration with what it regards as an inadequate administrative performance.

TESTING APRICOTS

Greg Wright holds a tray of dried apricots while Penny Buckey tests one to see if it's done. Apricots, other fruits and vegetables can be dried in Chaffey College's food preservation program this summer.

Chaffey College food center to open soon

The public is invited to can, freeze or dry surplus food at a community food preservation center to be opened at Chaffey College's Home Economics Department.

The center will open on July 5 and continue operation through Sept. 1 in room 4 of the Home Economics Building on the Alta Loma campus.

The innovative program is being funded through the college's vocational program and will offer three three-week free sessions combining training workshops and the opportunity to use the college's food center.

A trained home economist will conduct workshops each morning from 9 to 11 a.m. Drying will be explained on Monday, canning is Tuesday's topic, freezing will be discussed on Wednesday and a special topic is planned each Thursday.

Work sessions are set from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

No advanced sign-up is set for the workshop. Participants will sign for afternoon sessions during the morning.

Instructors Kyle Kimbel and Elizabeth Wright of the college home economics department suggest that the public plan to dry apricots, peaches, figs, bananas and apples in the department's three newly purchased dryers.

In addition to instructions on canning and freezing, the making of jams, jellies, pickles and relishes will be explained.

There are no fees charged for the use of the center and no preregistration is required. Additional information is available by calling 987-1737.

Pomona City Council delays budget action

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

Only three days from the start of a new fiscal year, Pomona City Council found itself unready to adopt a new municipal budget Monday night and delayed further consideration of the $22.2 million spending plan until July 11.

Dozens of citizens took the opportunity Monday night, however, to advise the council on good ways to spend more that $2 million in federal revenue sharing funds the city will receive.

The council has been debating whether to use some of those federal dollars to balance the next budget, and thereby avoid a property tax rate increase, and how to allocate the rest to community agencies and city departments.

Residents urged the council to use as much money as possible to support such community services as transportation for the aged and disabled, the arts and cultural affairs, recreation, and youth services.

Two speakers also took the opportunity to assail the council's record on "people" programs.

Ken Stewart, director of the South Hills Neighborhood Service Center, urged the council to "open your eyes to the reality of the community" by allocating as much money as possible for "people related" programs instead of capital investments or operating expenses.

He said Pomona's poor need the help such monies can provide. He attacked the council's recent decision to turn down more than $1.4 million in federal block grant funds because it would require city acceptance of a subsidized housing assistance plan for the poor.

"The block grant decision prompted some to think this council is insensitive almost to the point of irresponsibility," said Stewart.

The Rev. Walter Cooks Jr. from Mt. Zion Baptist Church said such decisions have made it appear "an anti-poor people campaign is being waged and enforced by certain officials in our city."

Most of the speakers, however, made their remarks in simple support of certain community services such as Pomona Valley Community Services, which provides transportation to senior citizens and the disabled needing to get to the doctor or hospital.

Other services supported by speakers included the Pomona Boys Club, Pomona Valley YMCA Outreach program, Valley Community Theater, Kennedy Park recreation program and community center, and the Barbara Greenwood Kindergarten restoration fund.

A decision on funding for such agencies will be made at the same time a budget is adopted for the city by the council.

Chino wage dispute may end tonight

Chino teachers may settle their wage dispute with the school board at tonight's meeting.

The teachers were scheduled to vote on a master contract this afternoon, and the board would then consider ratification of the agreement this evening at 7.

Charles Sanchez, Associated Chino Teachers (ACT) president, said teachers have approved the latest salary and fringe benefit offer unofficially, but other parts of the contract must be finalized.

The salary agreement likely to be voted on tonight calls for a 5.7 per cent increase retroactive to July 1, 1976. Teachers have received no cost-of-living increase for the current school year.

The employes also would receive a 6 per cent increase on July 1, 1977 and a 6.7 per cent wage hike on July 1, 1978.

Also, the fringe benefit allowance per person would be raised from $534 to $814 annually, said Sanchez. The money can be used for a health or life insurance plan or another policy of the employe's choice.

Sanchez said progress has been made on the contract partly because of the angry confrontation with school trustees at the June 14 board meeting.

About 200 teachers demanded a late-night bargaining session that evening, and got it. Even though they rejected a salary proposal that came out of that session, they unofficially approved another offer several days later.

"I know the confrontation helped," said Sanchez. "We negotiated for four full days last week, and before that we were lucky to get two partial days a week."

He noted that the teachers' protest had made a "dramatic difference."

Display case

A display case at the Chino City Hall has been made available to local groups to publicize their activities.

Persons may contact the city manager's office, 627-7577, for more information.

THEY'RE ALL VOLUNTEERS

Some of the 50 youngsters who turned out for training as swim aides at the El Roble swimming pool in Claremont last Friday listen to pool manager Maia Kinsinger and lifeguard Chris Martin explain the duties of an aide. Each aide who volunteers at least 50 hours during the summer goes to Disneyland at the end of the season before school starts.

Swim aide program's start is successful

A successful Red Cross swim aide program seems assured for the El Roble pool at Claremont this summer.

About 50 hopefuls turned out last Thursday and Friday for interviews and training by pool manager Maia Kinsinger and life guard-instructor Chris Martin.

The youngsters, 12 through 15, will assist in swim classes throughout the summer and pass out equipment.

Coordinating the Red Cross program is Ken Sandoe, junior program assistant.

Sandoe said that the volunteer who compiles more than 50 hours at the pool will receive a free trip and rides at Disneyland at the end of the summer. More hours compiled will mean more ride tickets at the attraction.

Sandoe said that while he was appreciative of the turnout of volunteers as swim aides, he is lacking volunteers to serve as recreation aides at the Crippled Children's Center on Indian Hill Boulevard, and as companions for the residents at Hillhaven Convalescent Hospital, also on Indian Hill Boulevard in Claremont.

Pomonan arrested after 2 car fires

A Pomona man was arrested Monday by Pomona fire inspectors on suspicion of arson after a car belonging to a Pomona woman was reportedly set on fire twice during the afternoon.

Raymond Joseph Vigil, 672 Loranne Ave., remains in Pomona jail today following his arrest. He is charged with starting fires in a 1963 sedan at 1:12 and 4:43 p.m. in the 600 block of Clark Avenue.

The car, registered to Rose Sanchez, 2338 Marquette Ave., received about $400 damage in the two fires, according to fire investigators.

Russia looks backward

The Soviet Union's next constitution, which has been published in draft form and will be adopted this fall after controlled "debate," is a strangely old fashioned, even reactionary, document.

This is ironic for a society which claims to be "progressive," "advanced" and "scientific."

Its new constitution is in fact more backward than the one written by colonial farmers, merchants and lawyers in Philadelphia 190 years earlier.

The most striking difference between the two charters is their views of the individual.

The 18th-century Americans saw man as having natural rights that government could not abridge.

In modern Russia rights are granted by an all-powerful state which decides how — or if — they will be exercised.

A case in point is the 1936 "Stalin Constitution," which is being replaced.

It contained liberal promises of freedom of press, speech, assembly, religion and privacy.

In practice, however, it gave no protection to millions of innocent persons who were jailed or executed in the dictator's blood purges.

In recent years small numbers of dissidents have pointed to that constitution in calling for human rights denied to them.

They tried to defend themselves against criminal charges by insisting they were only asking for what was guaranteed to them by law.

General Secretary Leonid Brezhnev, who expects the new document to make his mark in history, has moved to tighten the line against dissent.

After enumerating the people's rights, his constitution in effect takes them away by adding:

"Exercise by citizens of rights and freedoms must not injure the interest of society and the state . . ."

In translation this clearly means the people can do just what Big Brother says and no more.

Brezhnev's constitution also strengthens the dominant role of the Communist Party in Soviet life.

The party, it states, is "the ruling and directing power . . . of all the state and public organizations."

Of course, this has been the state of affairs since the 1917 revolution, but previous constitutions were not so frank about a ruling class in what was supposed to be Marx's classless society.

Minority rule, it turns out, is a problem not only in southern Africa.

What is also notable is the constitution's absence of checks and balances.

It is handed down by the Supreme Soviet, the nominal parliament run by the party, which also passes any party-desired enabling laws.

There is no judicial review or possibility of appeal.

Moscow's propaganda machine would not agree, of course, but a comparison of the new constitution with America's "bourgeois" document of 1787 would be unfavorable to the former.

By including strong checks and balances the American framers protected the individual from arbitrary government.

By negating its paper promises of rights, the Brezhnev charter protects a ruling elite against its subjects.

Some progress.

Think on these things

If you've never stood in the middle of a summer hayfield — just after it has been cut — you have missed a little part of the season that is as old and memorable as the hills. All kinds of birds — the field sparrow, the red-winged blackbird, doves and meadowlarks — make a frenzied search for grain or seeds dropped by the mower. Bees hunt for the clover that bloomed profusely before the machine passed over the purple patches. The crickets and katydids rub out the continuous sounds and the curve of the field is all lemon-gold and dotted with lavendar vetch.

It isn't just the field or the summer day, but the time which is no longer in a straight row, but telescoped so that yesterday and yesterday is a part of now. A time when the dust on the country road is thick and hot and a drink from the spring is clear and cool. It is a time when golden loaves of home-baked bread and freshly churned butter are all a part of a summer's day — and so am I, and so am I.

County employee morale low

Dear Editor:

In recent months, many news articles have been printed about the Los Angeles County employes' walkouts, sickouts, and possible strike.

I work for the Department of Public Social Services, and I know how bad the conditions are that have led to these events.

It's about time the general public hears our side of the story.

Working conditions at our office are so bad that the general morale is very low. Excessive reports, early deadlines, pressure from the bureaucracy, and an overload of work have left the majority of workers frustrated and unsatisfied.

On top of this, it has been proposed, in the interest of saving the county money, taking away many of our benefits and in effect lowering or freezing our salary at present levels. With this "freeze" and reduced medical benefits, it will be even more difficult to meet the rising cost of living. These items include:

Abolishing our dental plan.
Reducing health plan coverages.
Decreased sick-pay.
Abolishing the step raises,
Abolishing the right to grieve and the prevailing wage clause in our contract.

Reducing the right to negotiate pay increases from every year to every other year, and abolishing the 25 per cent retirement paid by the county and forcing employes to pay back the monies paid by the county during the past few years.

Supervisor Pete Schabarum has been repeatedly downgrading the work habits of county employes. We have yet to see him in our office, which is located directly across the street from his office. I see hard working and dedicated people in my office every day. I wonder on what basis Mr. Schabarum makes these statements.

The county must come to realize it can't get something for nothing. In order to keep the many hard working and good employes it has, something must be given in return.

Budapest cops detain newsman

WASHINGTON — Shortly after Los Angeles Times correspondent Robert Toth was arrested and harassed by the Soviet KGB in Moscow, one of our own reporters was picked up by the Hungarian police outside Budapest, escorted to a police station and interrogated about his news work.

Michael Viner and his actress-model wife, Deborah Raffin, were detained and questioned for seven hours. Their passports, camera and private notes were seized by the police.

The couple was accused falsely of taking unauthorized pictures of a military truck. Indeed, Deborah had pointed her camera at a nearby road but had snapped no pictures. It is possible, therefore, that the police mistakenly thought she had photographed the truck.

Yet a stray truck is hardly a secret weapon that must be hidden from the West. The incident was also the first of its kind in the memory of diplomats, whose experience goes back four years. And strangely, two carloads of policemen suddenly materialized at the scene.

Later, it became clear from the questioning that the police not only had been keeping a close watch on Viner throughout his stay in Hungary but was fully aware of his reporting activities. At one point, an interrogator demanded harshly: "Why is Jack Anderson interested in Hungary?"

It may also be significant that the incident immediately followed Toth's ordeal in Moscow. Toth's chilling encounter with the KGB was taken in Washington as another blunt signal that Moscow is displeased with President Carter's human rights campaign. This Kremlin attitude, presumably, has not gone unnoticed in the Eastern European satellites.

Viner is our Hollywood reporter, who also sends us dispatches from overseas when he is traveling. He recently provided us with first-hand accounts of the political turmoil in india. In Yugoslavia and Hungary, he was doing similar research for us.

He put through an emergency call to us after the first of two sessions with the Hungarian police. We made a number of phone calls to Budapest. From Viner and diplomatic sources, here are the details of his experience:

Viner and his actress-wife were apprehended in the outskirts of Budapest by an armed motorcycle policeman, who menacingly opened his holster to free the pistol. The pair was ordered to hand over their passports and the camera.

Then the policeman signalled the eight men who apparently had been trailing Viner. The strange caravan proceeded to a local police station where a series of mysterious phone conversations was held. Eventually, a slovenly man appeared and introduced himself as the interpreter.

"You may be in serious trouble," he began ominously. This was followed by four hours of grueling interrogation. Then the couple was permitted to return to their hotel, under virtual house arrest, until the following morning.

They phoned the U.S. consulate and placed an overseas call to us. The chief consul, D. Thomas Longo, advised them to return to the police station as ordered. It might only escalate the incident, he suggested, to bring a consular official along. But he promised that the U.S. authorities would respond vigorously if any serious charges were brought.

So the following morning, the Viners appeared at the Budapest police headquarters and were ushered into a drab interrogation room. They were confronted by a hostile woman and two uniformed policemen.

The dour woman, speaking through an interpreter, began cross-examining Viner about his reporting. He admitted that he had done some reporting but claimed he had come to Hungary primarily as a tourist. The woman kept pressing, demanding to know why Jack Anderson was interested in Hungary.

The couple was warned again that they might be in "serious trouble." And one of the uniformed policemen volunteered that "our jails here are very unpleasant." But no direct threats were made, and no charges were brought.

Three hours of questioning were followed by some more conspiratorial telephone conversations. Then suddenly, the couple was told it was all "a mistake" and released.

But later in Vienna, Viner discovered that three pages of his notes were missing. They must have been taken from his hotel room, he said, while he was under questioning.

Footnote: The State Dept., tended to downplay the affair, describing it as merely an "inconvenient incident." A spokesman for the Hungarian Embassy had no comment.

DIPLOMATIC DIGEST — Communist leaders in Cambodia, one of the most closed societies on earth, are so secretive and xenophobic that some of them have taken on pseudonyms to avoid identification. Only a few months ago, American analysts learned that the secretary general of the party, Salot Sar, and the prime minister, Pol Pot, are probably one and the same man.

— Although North Korea is ruled by a repressive regime, few North Koreans defect across the 38th parallel. The last defector, for example, was a young soldier who stole his sergeant's lunch and fled south in fear of retribution.

Invitation to rape

Are school-age girls inviting rape — by the way they act and the way they dress?

A Wisconsin judge said they are. And he, Judge Archie Simonson, refused to jail a 15-year-old boy for what the judge called "reacting normally" to the sex stimuli all around him.

Madison (Wis.) County Judge Simonson considered the case of the boy accused of raping a girl, 16, in a schoolhouse stairwell. Then he released the boy to go home — subject to one year of "court supervision" — but no confinement.

Some women, individually and organized, reacting with indignation, picketed the courthouse with signs reading "Rape is not normal!" and "Archie Must Go!"

But the position of the judge is supported by an increasing number of educators and sociologists — that our sex-oriented atmosphere inflames passions, encourages rape.

The judge says the state university town of Madison, Wis., is particularly permissive.

He mentioned revealing female clothing plus sex emphasis in movies and magazines, billboards and nude bars.

In person, Judge Simonson does not sound like a close-minded puritanical prude.

Simonson is married, father of four, including three daughters.

He seems genuinely to be searching for an explanation and solution to an increasing problem which is glutting his court.

The noisy response to this court ruling is now causing some educators to say aloud what they have been thinking: that the deterioration of public education might be traceable to a relaxation of the school dress code.

Academically, we are going backward.

No need to re-recite the sad statistics relating to fundamental illiteracy; nobody is defending the public education record any longer.

Mrs. Trudy Clayton abandoned the teaching profession in Michigan because of the chronic problems of deportment, disinterest and surrender to slovenliness.

She is convinced that much of the blame relates to the relaxed dress code.

Whether sloppy attire was more cause than effect is debatable, but it is her observation that the braless look and the shabby shoes and the unclean jeans begat undisciplined conduct and disdain for academic excellence.

Young people tend to be imitators — of their peers and their idols. In apportioning the responsibility, one must acknowledge the bad examples of the play-actors who show up for TV talk show interviews looking like unmade beds.

Further, an economic factor must be recognized in this recent revolt against stockings and starch, creases and cleanliness.

It's expensive to look neat.

But somehow, even during the John Boy Walton depression days, we managed it.

Any excess ultimately is its own undoing.

Perhaps the situation in Madison will encourage that and other communities to look at themselves in the mirror and see if they really like what they see.

Doc Peirsol

Just in jest

In today's permissive society it is a popularly accepted judgment regarding morality that a person has the right to do anything so long as whatever it is he or she chooses to do doesn't hurt somebody else. It's a nice theory and one that conveniently covers a multitude of sins. Unfortunately, however, with so many of us operating on that assumption and carefully seeing to it that we are hurting no one but ourselves, everybody is hurting.

Bitter 'truth' about chocolate

Well, they've done it. They weren't satisfied until they convinced me cigarettes would kill me; now they're hinting that chocolate could turn me into a killer.

"They," of course, are the scientists who study our eating patterns and who are convinced that malnutrition and food allergies can trigger "aggressive and mind-warping behavior leading to violent criminal acts."

In some people, maybe. But sweet old lovable me? And here I always thought my craving for chocolate was only bad for my waistline.

Now it turns out there's a definite link between food and crime. (I'll say. I'd rob my granddaughter's piggy bank to finance a hot fudge fix.) In some cases, doctors say, the wrong diet can jolt our brains into sending out all kinds of psychotic suggestions.

Food allergies tend to foul up our nervous systems, see, which causes our brains to swell. This either pushes the "go" button that fires up our "poke-em-in-the-eye" instincts, or it deadens the nerve area that usually keeps our aggressive impulses on "hold."

Either way, it means trouble.

Allergies aren't the only problem. People with hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) tend to be irritable, irrational and violent. This can be controlled by diet, but when it isn't it can lead to what researchers call "motiveless murders," assaults, and sexual crimes.

One Canadian psychiatrist has statistics that suggest 90 per cent of convicted murders diagnosed as paranoid schizophrenics suffer from low blood sugar or some vitamin deficiency.

And a probation officer in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, is getting remarkable results with a new theory: don't put criminals in jail; put them on a diet, instead.

Barbara Reed tests her charges for low blood sugar, and if they come up positive she persuades the judge to sentence them to high-protein foods, fresh vegetables, fruits and vitamin supplements. If they go off their diet, they go off to the slammer.

Most of them stick with it and say they feel like new persons. One young offender said that before he met Mrs. Reed he used to have five or six chocolate bars for breakfast "to get me going . . . then I'd drink Cokes all day long." Now he eats right and stays out of trouble. He doesn't crave chocolate any more, either.

This is all very well for society, but it tends to give the rest of us confirmed chocoholics pause. Come to think of it, I've been noticing an increased irritability lately, but I thought it was only the withdrawl pain of kicking the cigarette habit.

It never crossed my mind that my new short fuse was brought on by those M&Ms I gobble to squelch nicotine fits.

All my life I've been convinced that the wisest thing Thomas Jefferson ever said was back there in 1785 when he returned from Europe praising "the superiority of chocolate both for health and nourishment."

And I forgave Cardinal Richelieu all his other sins because, legend has it, his deathbed request in 1642 was: "chocolate, chocolate, chocolate!" As one whose idea of Heaven is a giant See's candy shop, that's something I can relate to.

After all, the Greek word for chocolate, "theobroma cacao," translates into "food of the gods." And who am I to argue with the Greeks?

The Aztecs knew what they had in those miraculous pods full of crunchy, shiny brown beans. Montezuma was convinced they gave his people universal wisdom and knowledge. He kept a supply of two million pounds handy, just to be on the safe side.

It was a Dutchman (one of my ancestors, no doubt) who mixed cocoa butter with sugar and cocoa and molded it into the first chocolate bar. And a couple of Swiss (one of them named Nestle, as in crunch) who added sweetened condensed milk and created milk chocolate.

Americans didn't discover chocolate until 1775, when traders from South America sailed into Boston with a cargo of raw cocoa beans. Now we each devour around 10 pounds of chocolate a year.

That's the national average. I've reached that by Mother's Day.

So mind your ways around me, folks. If I've got traces of chocolate on my chops I could be dangerous.

No harm in ironing shorts

Dear Ann: When I read the column about ironing the bedsheets and towels a long time ago, I meant to write about a problem that has been bugging me for ages. Sorry I am so late, but here it is.

My husband left a note for me this morning that said, "Unless you are sick, dying, or dead, I expect my shorts to be ironed and in my bureau drawer when I come home tonight. Love, Sam." I have never ironed Sam's shorts in the seven years we've been married and he never complained until now. I decided I wasn't going to spoil him at this late date, so I did not iron his shorts. I cleaned out his closet and shined his shoes instead.

When Sam came home he kissed me and headed for the bedroom to check on the shorts. They were in his bureau drawer, folded neatly, but NOT ironed.

He didn't say anything but I could see he was annoyed. Please give me your frank opinion, Ann. Should a wife who has never ironed her husband's shorts in the seven years she's been married, start? — Bertha

Dear Bertha: There are all kinds of husbands — some couldn't care less whether their shorts are ironed or not. Others complain if their handkerchiefs aren't lined up just so.

In my opinion, it's not unreasonable for a man to want his shorts ironed. You'll burn up less energy ironing seven pairs of shorts than worrying about whether you should or shouldn't. So my advice is — iron 'em, doll, and I'll bet Sam will stand on his head to please you.

Ann Landers tells the behind-the-scenes story on her survey, "Would You Marry The Same Person," in Family Circle Magazine — on the stands today.

Dear Ann Landers: You are going to decide this one. My boyfriend and I hailed a taxi last night. When we got in he saw a quarter on the floor, picked it up and stuck it in his pocket — didn't think I saw him.

When we got out, I told him I had seen him put the quarter in his pocket, and I thought he should have given it to the driver. He said I was wrong, that it had been dropped by the previous passenger and he had as much right to it as anyone.

His argument, "If I hadn't picked it up, the next person in the cab would have." Please say who is right. — Flummoxed

Dear Flum: The quarter may well have belonged to the previous passenger, but it's a lead-pipe cinch it didn't belong to your boyfriend.

Tell Mr. Great-Heart that he's my candidate for the Small Potato of the Month Award — Cheapskate Division.

Dear Ann: My wife was married to a bully before she met me. He treated her rotten. She almost had a nervous breakdown after living with him for five years. Myrtle and I have been married seven months and everything is nifty except for one thing. When she has too many beers, she calls me Fred, which is her ex-husband's name. Does this mean she is still in love with him? — I'm Hank

Dear Hank: Stop worrying. The fact that Myrtle calls you by her ex-husband's name does not mean she is still in love with him. It only means she thinks about him occasionally.

I'll bet Myrtle is so happy to be married to a nice guy like you that her thoughts go something like this: "I'm sure lucky to have a husband like Hank after that rat, Fred."

Eye problem has goat shed tears

DEAR DR. MILLER: Nanny (goat) always seemed happy till the last few days. Now she's very sad and cries a lot. I don't know why. I thought only humans cried. — N.F.

DEAR N.F.: Nanny's tears didn't start rolling because she was emotionally upset, but because she has an eye disease—possibly pinkeye. Keratoconjunctivitis (pinkeye) can be caused by more than one oragnism, and is spread by aerosols, direct contact among infected animals, and flies. Tears are an early sign. The eyes may become cloudy, even to the extent of causing temporary blindness. In those cases, the animal is unable to see to drink or eat.

An eye problem in any animal is an indication for an immediate checkup by the doctor. Since most can rapidly become serious, regardless of the treatment prescribed, good nursing care for any creature afflicted with eye trouble includes keeping the patient in subdued light since bright light, and sunlight in particular, increases eye irritation and sensitivity. Though Nanny, with her sore eyes, may indeed feel bad, the tears preceded the sadness.

DEAR DR. MILLER: We'll soon be getting our first canary. Should it be bathed when we first get it home? We like everything nice and clean around here. — K.C.

DEAR K.C.: Canaries keep clean themselves, given the chance. A healthy new bird should be in presentable condition when you get it. A bath can be important, however, even life-saving, when given not to the bird but to the bird cage and its contents.

They should be washed with soap and water, rinsed thoroughly, and completely dried before the canary is introduced. (Any new objects later installed in the cage should go through the same cleanup.) This procedure prevents potentially poisonous residues, possibly left on cage or contents at the manufacturing plant or somewhere along the line, from endangering your bird.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Like many others, I was having trouble with my two cats eating my plants. Then someone told me it might be the fish emulsion fertilizer I was using. Sure enough, when I stopped using the fish, the cats became less interested in the plants and now ignore them entirely. You might pass this clue along. — G.C.

DEAR G.C.: Happy to. Unfortunately, though, many cats need no fish emulsion seasoning to find houseplants irresistible. For those that do, though, withholding the cause is a simple solution to saving the plants (and, in the case of poisonous plants, possibly the cats themselves.)

On leaving the kids at home

A couple at a party the other night were lamenting the fact that they didn't know if their children were old enough to be left alone when they go on vacation.

"How old are they?" I asked.

"Fifteen, 17 and 20," replied the wife.

"You have it all wrong," said my husband. "The question is not how old, but how young. Offhand, I'd say you missed it by 12 years. You could have gone when they were three, five and eight, but not now."

"You are too funny," said the woman, "but I'm serious."

"So are we," I interrupted. "Did you ever hear of a 3-year-old calling up 100 of her closest friends and having a party the minute your car leaves the driveway?"

"Or a 5-year-old getting your car stuck sideways in the garage?"

"Or an 8-year-old leaving the garden hose running for 15 days and finding your trees waiting to merge on the expressway?" chimed in another father.

"You can't leave a 7-year-old," said the woman indignantly.

"Listen," said another observer. "My daughter at 7 could have run General Motors from a sandbox. She could make a meal, handle major decisions, dress herself and I once saw her move a piano when a Barbie head rolled under it. She knew how to adjust the color on the TV set, walk in the attic without a floor, and could sniff out bananas I was saving through three inches of metal. The only thing she needed me for was to make out her deposit slips at the bank. That's the year we should have gone on a vacation with her home running things. Not 10 years later."

"What happened 10 years later?" we asked.

"According to the police report, it was a 746."

"Which was?"

"Blocking off streets for a parade without a permit.

"Illegal parking of two Portapotties on a carport.

"Kidnaping and holding an assistant principal against his will.

"Assault, naming three drums, 12 guitars and a bass as weapons, causing hearing damage to anyone within a radius of 112 miles and sterility in a 34-year-old milkman who left his truck.

"Unsanctioned gathering of 150 people in a house built as a single-family dwelling, causing the kitchen to become a health and fire hazard.

"There were also charges of neglect to the dog who hadn't been fed anything in three weeks except pizza and space dust, but the testimony was weak."

"But leaving small children constitutes neglect," said the couple.

"We know, but it beats a 746."

Dr. Lamb

Tingling leads to numbness

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a physical problem that I find very annoying and sometimes painful. I wake up to find one or both of my hands numb. Sometimes the sensation extends up my arm. This tingling sensation, leading to numbness occasionally occurs for no apparent reason. I can be watching TV, driving a car, writing, etc. and my thumb and index finger tingle and then may become numb.

This is an ongoing condition. So far my doctor has dismissed it as "nothing" followed, after months, by an X ray of my neck. He thought there might be arthritis of the neck. This does not seem to be the case either and the tingling goes on for a second year.

In discussing this with a lay person the symptoms reminded her of a condition called "carpal tunnel." I know the carpus involves the wrist bones but I would appreciate more information about the symptoms and treatment.

DEAR READER — That lay person is pretty smart. The carpal tunnel refers to an area at the front of the wrist. All of the tendons (eight to be exact) to bend the fingers pass under a sheath of tough fiberous tissue that encircles the wrist like a watch band. The space or tunnel underneath this band is quite small and bounded at the back by the bones. The median nerve, a main nerve to the hand, also passes through this tunnel.

When the space is too small, for a variety of reasons the median nerve is compressed. This nerve supplies the thumb, the index and middle finger area. Compression of the nerve causes pain and tingling, particularly at night and involving particularly the thumb, index and middle finger. It can cause pain in the forearm as you describe. In long standing cases of severe compression the muscular area at the base of the thumb may atrophy. Use of the hands, during the day, may make the symptoms worse.

In its early stages it is hard to diagnose. And your doctor was correct in looking for a cause in your neck. An obstruction or compression anywhere from the neck to the hand of arteries or nerves can cause similar symptoms.

Before any muscular changes in the hand occur about all the doctor can find is a change in response to pinprick sensation over the thumb and involved fingers. And X rays don't help unless the symptoms are not from carpal tunnel and are really related to disease in the neck area.

In mild cases the condition may be watched and if it doesn't progress it may be left alone. But if there are severe symptoms then surgery may be needed to relieve the pressure on the median nerve.

You might ask for a consultation with a neurologist. He can measure nerve conditions times to see if there is any nerve impairment. Your story certainly sounds like a case of carpal tunnel syndrome.

Pressure on the artery and nerves may also be produced by muscles in the neck and sometimes by the clavicle (collar bone). This is particularly apt to occur in carrying a back pack. The treatment in that case is different.

Astrographs

By Bernice Bede Osol
For Wednesday, June 29, 1977
Your Birthday, June 29, 1977

This coming year both hard work and chance could add to your wealth. Chance will have the minor role, so rely more heavily on the sweat of your brow.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try to get the boss's ear today if you've been promised a raise or advancement. It's likely he'll look more favorably on your request. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail 50 cents for each and a long, self-addressed envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You excel at managing situations today. While you let people have free rein with their ideas, you never let them stray so far you can't control them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Talk your problems out with a trustworthy friend today. Don't hold anything back. He can give you solutions and slants you wouldn't think about.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A chance meeting with someone new in pleasant circumstances could be profitable. Something in the way of an unusual venture may be aired.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The aspects continue to be very promising in financial areas today. If you have any money-making ideas, get on with them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Express your compassionate instincts toward others today. When the accounts are tallied, you'll find you're the one who profited most.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Something interesting is developing today. It involves people who hold you in high regard and who are secretly working in your behalf.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't shy away from approaching those in high places if you need their good offices today. They should be extra-cooperative.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) No mountain is too high for you today. You're far more tenacious and resourceful than you believe, but to know this you must try.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your first impression regarding a business situation today could be erroneous. However, second thoughts could insure victory.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You'll make out better in joint ventures today if you pledge your talent and your time in lieu of dipping into your resources.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Commission one you have confidence in to bargain for you today. He'll negotiate a much better deal than you could negotiate.

Opening lead — K ♦

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

We are accustomed to Italian players making really great plays. We usually think of Belladonna, Garrozzo and Forquet in that connection, but for sheer brilliance we have to award the plum to Oscar Bellantini.

He held the West cards in the European championships played in Dublin some years back. The last thing one would suspect when holding two aces and three kings would be to find himself on lead against a slam, but Bellantini did find himself in that position.

He didn't double and after long thought came up with the only lead to beat six. He played his singleton king of diamonds!

After that super brilliant lead the best South could do was to ruff two hearts in dummy, but he still had two hearts to lose.

With any other lead by West, South would bring the slam in since he would be able to ruff three of his hearts. Eventually, he would have to lay down his ace of diamonds and drop the king, but there would be no other play at his disposal and he would make it. He would still have to lose a heart, but that would be the only loser.

Ask the Jacobys

A Tennessee reader wants to know what you play when you have 10 trumps missing the king. You lead toward the ace and second hand plays low.

It is correct to finesse. This wins against K x or K x x in front and loses to king singleton in back. Nothing succeeds against K x in back.

Circus horse is most calm

That horse least likely to shy, buck or bolt, it's said, is the trained circus horse. It and its ilk get so used to the excitement of the ring that it has been seen to take naps while waiting to prance out in front of the crowd.

No young lady who contemplates weightlifting as an exercise to lose weight should remain unaware of the fact that the hoisting of barbells tends to enlarge the thighs, make the upper arms thicker, yet slim down the calves.

The figure that people in this country traditionally see in the moon is that of a man. Elsewhere, though: The East Indians see a rabbit. The Samoans see a woman weaving. And the Chinese see a monkey pounding rice.

CHEETAH AND LION

Everybody knows the cheetah is swifter than the lion. But not everybody realizes the cheetah also is swifter to grow up. Takes a lion about 20 months before it learns how to hunt for itself. A cheetah is out there in 14 months.

Among athletes, it was reported here, tennis players tend to come from the smallest families. "So what sort of sportsmen come from the largest families?" inquires a client. Wrestlers.

Contrary to previous report, am now advised the Japanese definitely do have words for "yes" and "no." Yes: "hai." No: "iie."

Colgate University researchers have insisted their studies prove the eyes of deceitful people are less shifty than those of honest persons.

LOVE AND WAR

Q. "You said fellows named Gordon tend to get in over their heads with too many girls. Girls with which name tend to get in over their heads with too many men?

A. That's a fairly widely accepted notion about girls with any variation of the name Elizabeth. Such as Liz, Beth, Betty, so on. Please note, however, our Love and War man does not always concur with the name game players.

Q. "Is it conceivable that somebody could freeze to death while standing exactly on the equator?

A. Certainly is. Atop Africa's Mt. Kenya (17,040 feet) maybe.

Q. "What's the most popular game in nudist colonies?"

A. Vollyball.

Q. "What's Santa Claus called in the Soviet Union?"

A. Grandpa Frost.

What people say

"I couldn't understand the words. I like power, but it has to have some intelligence. This was so constricted that I would call it hemorrhoid music."

—Linda Ronstadt, after attending a recent performance by the punk music group, the Ramones.

Market activity

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks struggled for direction Tuesday in moderately active trading as investors debated predictions of an economic slowdown in the second half of the year.

There also was some debate over a report that the consumer had bought so much on credit, he won't be able to spend in the next couple of years when his dollars will be needed. Other economists contended the consumer situation was stable.

As a result, the Dow Jones industrial average, which dropped 5.60 points Monday, was off 0.42 points to 923.68 shortly before noon EDT. Many of the stocks in this average would be hurt by an economic slowdown.

Market breadth figures reflected considerable investors uncertainty about the course of the market. Of the 1,650 issues crossing the tape, 576 advanced, 558 declined, and 516 remained unchanged.

Volume at the two-hour mark amounted to about 10,000,000 shares, compared with 8,890,000 traded during the same period Monday.

American Motors was the most active NYSE issue, off ⅛ to 4. Simplicity Pattern followed, off ⅛ to 13½ f lowing a block trade of 108,600 shares at 13½. Hercules was third, off ¼ to 19 in trading that included a block of 102,500 shares at 19.

Burroughs was ahead ¾ and IBM was up ⅝. Burroughs introduced two medium-scale computer models. IBM said its 3800 printer now can operate offline from a computer.

Kennecott was ahead ½. The firm said it was about to complete the sale of its Peabody Coal unit to a group headed by Newmont Mining now that a stockholder suit against the deal has been dismissed.

Prices were hirher in active trading of American Stock Exchange issues. U&I Inc. was the most active issue, unchanged at 11½ following a block trade of 102,500 shares at 19. Butler International followed, off ⅝ to 16¼. Reliance Group warrants were third, up 1-16 to 1.

EARLY POTTERY — Broken pieces of a plate bearing the date 1631 are pictured after they were unearthed near Colonial Williamsburg, Va. This find, which X-ray indicates was manufactured from Virginia clay, is the earliest piece of American pottery ever found.

Californians confident about personal future

LOS ANGELES — In spite of persistent pessimism about inflation, most Californians remain confident about their personal financial well-being, according to a consumer attitude survey conducted for Bank of America.

Of 918 Californians queried in the survey, 44 per cent said they are better off now than they were a year ago. Twenty-two per cent said they were worse off and 31 per cent said their status hadn't changed. The index of consumers' perception of their personal financial well-being, the bank reported, moved ahead six points to 122 in March from 116 last December. The index is formed by subtracting the percentage of negative responses from the percentage of positive responses and adding 100.

The personal financial outlook of consumers fell slightly, from an index of 138 to 135. When asked what they see for the future, 46 per cent of responding consumers said they will be better off next year, 11 per cent indicated they will be worse off and 34 per cent said they could foresee no change in their situation.

Confidence that inflation can be controlled, however, has fallen off significantly. The index now stands at 74, representing a 16 point drop from the January reading, the bank said. It was an all-time low for the indicator since bi-monthly surveys were begun two years ago. Only six per cent of the people surveyed were confident that inflation can be controlled. Forty per cent indicated they weren't very confident and 20 per cent were not confident at all.

"Recent escalation of food costs and the prospect of a dry summer for California have had significant impact," said Kerry Curtis, head of the bank's marketing research department. "However, pessimism about inflation hasn't seemed to diminish personal financial outlook," Curtis added. "This seems to confirm that comsumers have learned to reconcile inflation with a positive personal economic outlook."

Aluminum Corp.

MONTEREY PARK, Calif. — (BW) — International Aluminum Corp. announced that sales and new income established quarterly records in the third quarter ended March 31.

Net income for the quarter increased 40 per cent to $1,172,766, or 57 cents a share, compared with $837,727, or 41 cents.

Savings, loan industry responds to speculation

LOS ANGELES — (BW) — The savings and loan industry has responded in an excellent manner to the dangers of speculation in California real estate, according to Anthony M. Frank, president of the California Savings & Loan League, and chairman of the board of Citizen's Savings, San Francisco.

Still, if speculation fever doesn't abate, he feels stronger measures may be needed.

Frank's remarks appeared as "Observations of the President" in the current issue of the California Savings & Loan Journal. The full text follows:

Let's speculate about speculation. The news is full of stories about the high level of speculation in California real estate, yet no one really knows the full extent of this speculation. Respected sources have ranged in their estimates from 8 to 40 per cent of the new housing starts.

Initially, I believe, the wave of speculation was set off by the policy of the Irvine Co. to build fewer houses than there was demand for those houses. Small wonder that last summer saw a lottery for the houses at Woodbridge. This triggered a responsive chord in the public, which reacted to news of difficulties in getting buildable lots, difficulties in obtaining sewer and water hookups, as well as the known 20 to 30 per cent annual new construction cost increases. All of this, in addition to a rapid rate of family formation, coupled with low housing production years in 1973 and 1974, has led to the present situation.

The response of our industry to the dangers of speculation has been excellent, I believe. Most associations are now requiring a minimum cash down payment from non-owner-occupant buyers of at least 25 per cent. Many associations have also increased their loan charges to non-owner-occupants. Many builders are requiring affidavits that the buyer intends to live in the house. And, finally, the weight of public disapprobation has been brought against the speculator — as one who is needlessly raising the cost of housing for today's young families. The recent action of the FHL Bank of San Francisco, in raising its long term advance rate by 1 per cent, while not universally acclaimed, has also been a factor in signalling to the industry that the level of speculation, as well as the level of outstanding loan commitments, was such that a re-examination seemed to be in order.

It is my own present view that the enormous volume of housing completions, as distinguished from starts, to be expected this summer, will ameliorate speculation, as the speculators begin to sell the completed houses to occupants. Given our industry's temperament, and the white light of publicity, it's my belief that we can achieve an easy soft landing from the present speculative binge, without any meaningful decline in the value of housing. Should this not be the case, and should summer see a continuation of the upward spiral of housing prices and speculative fever, then it is urgent for the health of the State that even stronger measures be taken, voluntarily by our industry, and through new requirements by the State Department of Savings and Loan and the FHL Bank of San Francisco.

Coin payment changed by telephone firm

SANTA MONICA, Calif (BW) — General Telephone Co. of California is in the process of changing its customer coin telephone payment procedure so that customers will pay for overtime on long distance coin-paid calls on an incremental basis rather than at the beginning and end of their conversations.

The new charge method already is in operation in areas served by General's offices equipped with computerized Traffic Service Position System (TSPS) equipment, which replaced manual cordboards for toll operators. Among TSP's many automated improvements is a computer program that automatically brings the operator back on the line to notify the customer and collect overtime charges on an incremental basis.

TSPS currently is used by the company to provide toll service in the Long Beach, Downey, Whittier, Westminster, Huntington Beach, Laguna Beach and Bellflower areas.

Under the new charge system, the customer will pay for the first three minute before his or her conversation begins, as is the current practice. Then, at the end of the three minutes, the operator will come on the line to inform the customer that three minutes are up. If the customer continues to talk the operator will come back on the line at 10 minute increments to collect overtime charges.

Customers making special billing arrangements such as charging their call on their telephone credit card or charging to a third number, will not be interrupted by the operator at 10 minute intervals. This alternative might be used by those not wanting such interruptions during their call.

According to Edward E. Lambeth, vice president-service for General, the policy is being instituted for several reason, one of which is to establish uniformity in the way such calls are handled throughout the company.

"Under the previous procedure, operators were often left holding on the line, making them unavailable to other customers while a coin phone customer left the phone booth to get extra change to pay for his or her call. The new charge method will minimize this problem by giving the coin phone customer a running account payment for — the cost of the call," Lambeth said.

Additionally, the new charge method will drastically reduce company losses from customers walking away at the end of a call and not paying. Last year, those losses amounted to $162,552.

Salary hikes recommended

LOS ANGELES (AP) — City Administrative Officer C. Erwin Piper has recommended annual salary increases of 1.6 to 13.3 per cent for 38 of the city's highest paid appointed officials.

Piper described the increases Monday as an "appropriate adjustment for executive salaries as reflected from the private sector." Under his recommendations, 19 general managers and bureau heads would receive a 7.3 per cent salary hike; 16, a 13.3 per cent hike, and three, a 1.6 per cent hike.

Apprenticeships

The Mexican American Opportunity Foundation (MAOF), Monterey Park, is recruiting applicants for construction apprenticeship openings throughout Los Angeles County.

Apprenticeship programs are a combination of on-the-job training and related classroom instruction for a period of three or four years. Upon completion of the program, apprentices are certified as journeymen, skilled craft men in their trades.

There are apprenticeship openings for carpenters, surveyors, operating engineers and iron workers.

Applicants will be interviewed and counseled by the MAOF staff. Applications will be accepted without regard to race, creed, color, age, sex, or ethnic background. Additional information may be obtained by calling (213) 289-2000.

Square dance

The Wheels and Chains Square Dance Club of Walnut will sponsor a workshop beginning Thursday.

The 12-week class will continue each Thursday from 8 to 10 p.m. at Suzanne School in Walnut.

The workshop is planned to bring new graduates and "brush-up" dancers up to "C" level. Jim Garlow of Covina will be the instructor.

The club also sponsors regular dances the first and fourth Saturdays of each month at 8 p.m. at Suzanne School. Ross Quast is the regular caller for the first Saturday, with guest callers on the fourth Saturday.

Senior citizens trip

The La Verne senior citizens are planning a trip on July 6 to Solvang for the day. The price is $10.50 per person.

Also on July 19 to 21 the club is going on a three-day, two-night trip to Las Vegas where members will stay at the Fremont Hotel. The price is $41.50 per person and includes the bus transportation, two nights accommodations, two continental breakfasts and two cocktails.

For further information, persons may call travel chairman Mary Nicoletta at 596-1391.

Rabies clinic set

A low-cost anti-rabies vaccination clinic for dogs has been set for Lorbeer Junior High School in Diamond Bar Friday, July 8, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

The cost of vaccinations is $2 per dog. Members of the Southern California Veterinary Medical Association (SCVMA) will donate their time to the clinic as a public health service.

Dogs four months and older, are required by law to be immunized against rabies, and a valid certificate of vaccination is needed for licensing of pets. The vaccination is good for 30 months. Health officials caution dog owners to maintain a current rabies immunization for their animals in the continuing program to keep a high level of control of the deadly disease.

For further information, persons may call the SCVMA at (213) 723-1746.

Needlecraft class

The needlecraft class at the Ontario library will begin Friday. The classes are held each Friday from 11 a.m. to noon in the garden room.

Participants are required to bring their own materials and equipment and may join the class any Friday morning. Enrollment is not necessary. Instructors in the class are Miss Gertrude Case of Chino and Mrs. Clara Anderson of Ontario. They specialize in crochet, crewel, needlepoint and embroidery.

Park program

The Pomona Park and Recreation Department is offering a "shape up for summer fun" program at Palomares Community Center.

Classes are designed to improve endurance, spot reduction, and diet control. Registration will be taken at the class session Friday at 9:30 a.m.

For further information, persons may phone Palomares Community Center, 620-2301. Participants should wear loose fitting clothing.

Tiny tots

The San Dimas Recreation Department has announced that registrations for the "tiny tots" summer program will continue through Friday.

The class is for boys and girls, 3 to 5 years of age. It will be held at Shull School, 825 Amelia Ave. The days and hours are Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to noon. The program is scheduled for eight weeks and ends Aug. 26.

Activities include games, music, crafts, etiquette, stories, toys and games.

Island tour

The San Dimas Parks and Recreation Department will conduct a 10-day, three-island tour of Hawaii in September. The tour will leave Sept. 16 and return Sept. 25. The cost for the trip is $535, plus tax and porterage.

The excursion is for adults only. A $50 per person deposit is required at the time reservations are made. Reservations are being accepted until July 18 at San Dimas City Hall.

Farm trip

The San Dimas Recreation Department will conduct an excursion to Knotts Berry Farm on July 14. Boys and girls 8 to 15 years of age are eligible to participate. The bus will leave San Dimas City Hall at 9 a.m. and return at approximately 5 p.m.

The fee is $6 for children 8 to 11 years of age and $7 for those 12 to 15 years of age. Information slips and registration fees are available at San Dimas City Hall.

Teen trip

A "teens only" excursion to Huntington Beach will be conducted by the San Dimas Recreation Department on July 9. The bus will leave San Dimas City Hall at 9 a.m. and return at approximately 5 p.m.

The fee is $1.75 and covers transportation only. Information sheets and permission slips are available at San Dimas City Hall.

Beach trip

The San Dimas Recreation Department will conduct an excursion to Corona Del Mar Beach on Thursday. Boys and girls, 10 to 15 years of age, are eligible to participate. The bus will leave San Dimas City Hall at 9 a.m. and return at 4 p.m.

The $1.75 fee includes transportation and supervision. Information sheets and permission slips are available at San Dimas City Hall and at every playground site.

Dodger shirts

A free Dodger T-shirt will be received by every youngster who goes to the Dodgers-San Diego Padres baseball game July 8.

The San Dimas Recreation Department will conduct an excursion to the game. Boys and girls, 8 to 15 years of age are eligible to participate. The fee is $4.75 and includes transportation, reserved seat, and supervision.

Information sheets and permission slips are available at San Dimas City Hall.

SEES ROAD BLOCK

Kansas City's Pete LaCock stops dead in his tracks when he notices Angels' catcher Terry Humphrey with the ball. LaCock was caught in a run down during the third inning.

Injuries take toll on Hurting Halos

By DON BRADLEY
PB Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — And now we give you the "Hurtin' Halos."

Gene Autry's team now has a $5.2 million injury list.

Don Baylor, first of the million dollar free agents signed by the Angels, became the third member of expensive trio to succumb to injury.

Baylor suffered a pulled hamstring muscle in his right leg Monday night as the Halos dropped a 7-2 game to the visiting Kansas City Royals.

The loss also dropped the Angels back into fourth place in the American League West, a game behind the Royals.

Baylor joins Joe Rudi (bruised and swollen thumb) and Bobby Grich (back) on the sidelines.

But that isn't all.

Third baseman Dave Chalk started the game on the bench because of a slight hamstring pull suffered in pregame practice.

Chalk was forced to enter to game when first Baylor and then rookie shortstop Rance Mulliniks were hurt. Mulliniks ran into giant John Mayberry and got a knee in the thigh and walked painfully off the field.

And that isn't all.

Mario Guerrero, who has been the designated hitter of late, has a painful ankle due to an injury sustained on the last road trip.

For that reason, Ron Jackson, who had been pencilled in at first base, started the game at third and finished it at short.

Orlando Ramirez started at short; was removed for a pinch hitter, and when Mulliniks was hurt only Jackson was left.

"I've never seen anything like it," groaned manager Norm Sherry. "Five guys in two days."

"We're dropping like flies," echoed general manager Harry Dalton. "Of the 27 players on our roster including two on the disabled list, nine players, one third, are hurt."

Dalton was including pitcher Nolan Ryan who had to leave his last start because of finger blisters. But Ryan will start Wednesday night.

The loss to the Royals inflicted a little more pain.

Wayne Simpson (3-5) was charged with five runs in six innings and had a lot of trouble with ex Chicago Cub Pete LaCock.

LaCock slugged a two-out, three-run home run after Simpson had given up a pair of walks in the fourth inning. LaCock had started things in the third with a single.

He took second on a wild pitch and moved to third on Freddie Patek's bunt hit. LaCock was out at the plate trying to score on Frank White's grounder. But Patek advanced to third and scored as Tom Poquette grounded out.

The Angels got their two runs in the fifth with some help from the Royals. Guerrero got a one-out single. White dropped Patek's throw for an error on Rusty Torres' potential double play ball.

Singles by Terry Humphrey and pinch-hitter Ike Hampton drove in the runs.

That cut the Kansas City lead to 4-2. But the Royals added a run in the sixth and two more in the seventh. Two of the runs were off rookie Mike Barlow making his first appearance after being called up from Salt Lake City and the other was off Paul Hartzell.

Andy Hassler (4-2) won his first game at Anaheim Stadium in more than two years. Hassler, who lost 17 straight as an Angel, had not won at the Big A since April 25, 1975.

Hassler got relief help from Steve Mingori and Doug Bird. Bird, the former Pomona High and MSAC star, hurled the eighth and ninth innings without giving up a hit.

Bird struck out three of the seven men he faced and gave up one walk. Yet the former Pomonan carried a 6.35 earned run average into the game despite a 3-1 record.

"What was different tonight," we asked.

"Nothing. They just didn't hit the ball," Bird replied. "It's been a funny year. I'm all right physically and I've been throwing well. But I've had trouble getting people out.

"One game at Boston, I struck out seven but allowed seven hits and seven runs."

Does Bird think the baseball is livlier this year?

"Definitely," he replied. "It just jumps out of the parks. We have a big stadium at Kansas City and early in the season when it's cold, it's hard to hit the ball out. But this year it's been flying out there."

Bird started his major league career as a reliever then was switched to starting under Jack McKeon. However since Whitey Herzog became manager, Bird has been a swingman relieving and starting.

"It's okay," he replied when asked if he liked doing both. "He (Herzog) tells me well in advance when I'll be starting. I just go out and throw as hard as I can for six or seven innings. That's all he wants. Then he gets relief in there."

The Royals now lead the Angels by a game. What players the "Hurting Halos will use and where they will play remains to be seen.

Visiting hours at Anaheim Stadium tonight will be 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. (since Frank Tanana is pitching).

ANGEL ANGLES — Tanana (11-4) draws Dennis Leonard (5-8) as his opponent. Ryan (9-7) and Jim Colborn (8-7) will start Wednesday night.

The Royals had four runners thrown out at home, three on infield grounders, Monday night. The Angels had one.

Baylor had just begin to look like a hitter. He had three hits including a homer Sunday and doubled his first time up Monday night.

The Angels have hit 61 home runs. Last year they hit only 63 all season. They have hit 36 at the Big A. Most homers the Halos ever hit in Anaheim was 56 in 1967 when they had 114 for the season.

Pitcher Mickey Scott has been released outright to Columbus of the International League. He had been up for assignment since June 18.

Sherry doesn't have three able bodied outfielders. Rudi (thumb), Baylor (hamstring) and Gil Flores (shoulder) are hurt. Flores was pressed into service in leftfield Monday night and will likely be there tonight unless Baylor can play.

Grich was supposed to have his back examined Monday to determine if surgery will be necessary. But it has been postponed until Friday. Bedrest and light therapy is the prescription this week. But the Halos admit Grich still has pain.

Monday's HR saves L.A.

ATLANTA (AP) — "One pitch, one lousy pitch. . . rookie Atlanta left-hander Don Collins muttered after the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Braves 2-1 Monday night.

Collins, 1-6, making only his third major league start in the nationally televised contest, was moaning about Rick Monday's two-run homer in the second inning that provided the difference.

"I thought it was a good pitch," said Collins afterward. "But I turned around and saw Gary Matthews charging back and I said to myself, 'Well, we're in Atlanta Stadium.'"

The Lyons, Ga., native was referring to the stadium's nickname of the "Launching Pad" which has seen 105 home runs sail out this season, tops in the majors.

Both teams were frustrated offensively as the Dodgers and Braves each left 12 runners on base.

"We just couldn't get the hit with men on base," said Dodger Manager Tom LaSorda after the two hour and 47 minute game.

"I talked to the ball club before the game because we had just come off a great series in Cincinnati," LaSorda said. "We played to sellout crowds and there was a World Series atmosphere. The tendency is to let down and I didn't want that to happen."

It didn't happen because of Monday's 10th home run of the season — an opposite field blast to left field and the clutch pitching of starter Burt Hooten, 6-3, and reliever Charlie Hough, who registered his 17th save.

The victory snapped a four-game Atlanta winning streak and gave the Dodgers a 9½-game lead over the Reds in the West Division.

The Braves finally scored in the seventh when Hooten allowed one-out singles to Matthews and Willie Montanez. The knuckleballing Hough came on and allowed Biff Pocoroba's run-scoring single before getting out of the jam.

But he ran into slight trouble in the ninth, issuing a one-out walk to Montanez with Jeff Burroughs, National League co-leader in home runs with 20 coming up.

"The Big Dodger in the sky heard me," said LaSorda. "I prayed for double play lane on that last hitter."

Burroughs obliged by bouncing to Bill Russell, who stepped on second and easily doubled the Braves' right fielder at first to end the game.

Billy Hunter takes over Texas

OAKLAND (AP) — Billy Hunter, the Texas Rangers' fourth manager within a week, takes over tonight and team owner Brad Corbett vows, "No more changes."

Hunter accepted the job offer Monday morning, while in Cleveland with the Baltimore Orioles. He arrived at the Oakland Coliseum—still wearing an Orioles' necktie—to watch the last 4½ innings of a 5-2 Texas victory over the Oakland A's.

"I like the score," said Hunter, who also likes the Rangers' chances of winning the American League West title.

"The personnel is great, we're not too far behind, and the division is up for grabs. I just hope we can put it all together," he said in a press-box interview while interim Manager Connie Ryan called the shots on the field. "The club has good defense, good speed and can score runs.

"When you see the team's record is 33-35, you know something's wrong."

The Monday night victory broke a three-game losing streak and brought the Rangers within 5½ games of first-place Minnesota.

Ryan will return to his third base coaching job tonight while Hunter, 49, manages for the first time in major league baseball. The new manager, a former big league infielder, was the Orioles' third base coach for 14 years.

"He's been in the league a long time. He knows our club. He brings us experience," said Corbett.

The owner said Hunter received a contract running through the 1979 season. Eddie Stanky, hired last Wednesday after Frank Lucchesi was fired, also signed a three-year contract but quit after one game.

"I'm looking forward to meeting Bill. I never even got a chance to say hello to Eddie Stanky," said relief pitcher Paul Lindblad after Monday night's game.

"A lot's happened in my rookie year," said second baseman Bump Wills. "I never expect to play under four managers in a week again."

Dock Ellis, traded to Texas by the A's on June 15, noted, "I've had seven managers in 2½ months. That might be a record."

He began the season under the New York Yankees' Billy Martin and was with the A's when Bobby Winkles replaced Jack McKeon.

Ryan was offered the opportunity to finish the season as manager "as late as this morning," Corbett said before Monday night's game.

"Connie thought it best that we go get Billy because he knew he'd probably be manager next year, anyway," said Corbett, who also talked to Harmon Killebrew about the job.

"Everything's settled now and I'm glad," said Ryan, 57. "The best crack I heard during all this was that Ryan is working under a multi-hour contract."

Lucchesi was being booed regularly by Rangers fans before he left even though the team was gaining ground in the pennant race. Disappointing attendance also was a major reason management made a change—the first of many.

NEW HAT FOR HUNTER

Still wearing his Baltimore Orioles' tie, Billy Hunter tries on his new Texas cap Monday after being named the new manager of the Rangers. He was Baltimore's third base coach.

Bjorn Borg makes semis

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Defending champion Bjorn Borg of Sweden reached the semifinals of the men's singles in the All-England tennis championships today with a 6-0, 8-6, 6-3 triumph over controversial Ilie Nastase, the Romanian he beat in the final last year.

The match lasted just over 90 minutes and it was champagne tennis—bubbling and fizzing— all the way from the champion, right from the opening set when he pounded Nastase by breaking him three times without dropping a single game.

MAKING HIS POINT

San Francisco manager Joe Altobelli, left, makes a point while losing an argument with umpire Doug Harvey in the first inning Monday night at Cincinnati. Thanks to Willie McCovey, Giants rallied from 8-1 deficit for 14-9 win.

Richie Zisk takes outfield vote lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Richie Zisk has zipped into first place among outfielders and Willie Randolph has reclaimed the lead among second basemen in the American League All-Star balloting by baseball fans.

In the tabulations announced Monday by baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, Chicago's Zisk climbed from fourth place with a total of 1,261,830 votes and the Yankee's Randolph reestablished himself with 988,589.

Zisk, acquired by the White Sox from Pittsburgh last winter, passed the previous leader, Boston's Carl Yastrzemski. Yaz dropped to second with 1,241,434 while teammate Fred Lynn was the third favorite outfielder with 944,581 votes.

The Yankees' Reggie Jackson and California's Joe Rudi were four and five, respectively, in the outfield balloting.

Milwaukee's Don Money was second to Randolph in the second baseman voting with 890,885 and Boston's Denny Doyle was third with 819,133.

The voting for starting catcher remained close with Boston's Carlton Fisk polling 1,414,551 votes to hold a narrow lead over the 1,322,936 of New York's Thurman Munson.

Boston shortstop Rick Burleson kept just ahead of Bert Campaneris of Texas with 747,534 votes to 718,257. Bucky Dent of the Yankees was third with 680,664.

The other leaders, all with substantial margins, were Minnesota first baseman Rod Carew with a league-leading 1,788,218 votes and Kansas City third baseman George Brett with 1,411,802.

Fans have until July 4 to vote for AL and National League players who will make up the teams in the 48th annual AllStar Game at Yankee Stadium on July 19.

Viele wins playoff

SAN JACINTO, Calif. (AP) — Bill Viele of Hemet birdied the second extra hole of a four-way sudden-death playoff Monday to win the third tournament on the Western Amateur Golf Association summer tour at Soboba Springs County Club.

Viele won with a nine-foot putt after tying Bob Stevens of San Jacinto, Bob Valerio of Hawthorne, and Steve Martin of Tustin, with even-par 72 during regulation play.

One stroke off the pace were Mike Matula of Riverside and Steve Fink of Studio City.

The fourth tournament will be played July 4 at Cottonwood in San Diego.

Big Mac top slammer

By Associated Press

Willie McCovey, taking yet another home run trot around the bases, was thinking of Hank Aaron and Lou Gehrig.

"It didn't hit me until I was half way around the bases," McCovey said Monday. "Then I thought, 'God, I finally passed him.'"

The San Francisco first baseman unloaded two home runs in the Giants' 10-run sixth inning—the only player in major league history to twice hit two homers in one inning—including his 17th career grand slam.

The power barrage carried the Giants to a 14-9 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds.

The bases-loaded shot enabled the 39-year-old McCovey to pass home run king Hank Aaron as the National League's all-time grand slam leader.

The homers, McCovey's 12th and 13th of the season, gave him 478 for his 19-year major league career.

Gehrig, the former New York Yankee star, holds the major league record with 23 grand slams—a record McCovey concedes.

"But I think I can catch him in career homers," McCovey said. "He has 493. I know that is within my reach."

Cubs 4, Expos 3

Chicago recorded its seventh straight victory as Mick Kelleher raced home from third on Ivan DeJesus' sacrifice fly, capping a three-run seventh-inning rally. The Cubs took a 1-0 lead in the first on Larry Biittner's fourth home run of the season.

Montreal came back to take a 3-1 lead in the bottom of the first on Ellis Valentine's runscoring single and a two-run single by Tony Perez.

Phillies 4, Mets 1

A bases-loaded pinch single by Jay Johnstone in the ninth inning drove in two runs and gave Philadelphia its victory over New York. Johnstone's single came off Met reliever Skip Lockwood, 1-4, who relieved starter Nino Espinosa in the ninth and allowed the first three men he faced to reach base.

Richie Hebner hit a two-run homer to give reliever Tug McGraw, a former Met, his third victory without a loss.

Cardinals 6, Pirates 1

Mike Tyson hit his first home run of the season and only the eighth of his major league career to lead St. Louis over Pittsburgh.

"I watched it because I thought it was going to go foul," Tyson said of his two-run homer.

"Lou Brock was passed out and another guy was lying on the dugout bench when I got back (to the bench)," said Tyson. "Gene Gieselmann (St. Louis trainer) was handing out ammonia capsules. I don't know why they were surprised. I hit them out in batting practice."

Astros 7, Padres 6

Bob Watson's single scored Cesar Cedeno to cap a three-run ninth-inning rally as Houston toppled San Diego. Ken Boswell led off the ninth with a single and scored on a double by Enos Cabell, his fourth hit of the game.

Cabell came home when loser Rollie Fingers' attempted pickoff throw went into center and center fielder George Hendrick bobbled the ball.

Dave Winfield's two-run home run and a run-scoring triple by Gene Tenace had given San Diego a 6-4 lead before Houston's rally.

Gambetta ties course record

The newlly formed American Professional golfers (APG) tour opened Monday at San Dimas Canyon on a record tying note.

Fritz Gambetta of Soboba Springs Country Club tied the San Dimas course record as he fired a three-under-par 69 in the first APG tournament. Gambetta had five birdies and only two bogies as he shot nines of 35-34.

Reed Hughes and Jery Bruner were one stroke behind at 70, and Bob Clark had a 71 to finish fourth as Southlands Pros began their summer APG schedule.

Steve Andreason and Mo Gutman shot even par 72's. At 73 was Mark Schmidtt of Via Verde.

The APG, often called the "Second Tour" is directed by Jerry Sharman a professional player formerly of Covina. Executive director for the new tour is Jim Perrin.

Red Sox sluggers suddenly go silent

By Associated Press

"We couldn't keep hitting the way we were hitting," said Boston Manager Don Zimmer. "That's unheard of."

The Red Sox' bats haven't been heard from lately. Boston dropped its fourth straight game Monday night, a 4-1 decision to Dave Roberts and the Detroit Tigers. It was the third consecutive game in which the Red Sox failed to hit a home run after a record power spree of 33 round-trippers in 10 games earlier in the month.

"Their power always is in the back of your mind," said Roberts, who surrendered seven singles to Boston in winning his first game in six weeks. It was only the second time this season that the Red Sox did not get an extra base hit.

"They hit the ball real hard. They're a dangerous ball club, very explosive, and it makes you concentrate even more," said Roberts.

Zimmer blamed his starting pitchers for the recent skid, which has seen Boston's firstplace lead in the American League East shrink to two games over New York.

"Our four starters haven't pitched past the first few innings," Zimmer noted. "They were in a groove for a month, that's why we got to where we're at."

Pacing the Tigers' triumph were doubles by Ron LeFlore, Rusty Staub, Tom Veryzer and Steve Kemp. Jason Thompson chipped in with his 14th homer of the season.

In other AL action, Toronto edged New York 7-6, Minnesota blasted Milwaukee 10-3, Chicago downed Seattle 10-4, Baltimore topped Cleveland 9-2, Kansas City defeated California 7-2 and Texas took Oakland, 5-2.

Blue Jays 7, Yankees 6

Hector Torres, a .219 hitter with just one homer and five RBI before the game, belted the first grand slam home run in Blue Jays history to pace the Toronto attack.

"For me, it's always exciting to hit a home run because I

Starlite opens with Mozart

The San Bernardino City Grand Opera Company will present a concert performance of Mozart's "Don Giovanni" in the Montclair High School auditorium at 8 p.m. next Tuesday, the opening program of the Starlite Patio Theater's summer series. Admission is free.

Because of the remodeling of the Montclair Civic Center's recreation facility, all of the Starlite events will be held at the high school.

There will be five consecutive Tuesday night programs to Aug. 2. Each will have a theme: Opera Night, Dance Night, Band Night, Drama Night and Symphony Night.

"Don Giovanni" is directed by John Struble and features the Irish-American tenor, Terrance Molloy, in the demanding role of Don Ottavio. Molly, founder of the company, has studied at the Royal Arts Academy in London and will leave this summer for a concert tour of Ireland and Italy.

Singing the title role will be Riverside baritone Richard Williams, past president of the Riverside Opera Association. Williams studied at UCLA and in Germany and has sung with the Riverside, West End, and Laguna opera companies; Baritone Harrison Crump, a San Bernardino recitalist and choral director, will make his solo debut in the comic role of Leporello. Basso Keith Swan sings the role of the governor, Don Giovanni's supernatural nemesis, and baritone Ralph Dennington plays Masetto opposite Zerlina one of Don Giovanni's projected conquests.

Soprano Rose Edwards, Ontario voice teacher, sings the role of Donna Anna; soprano Evelyn Haggard of Lake Arrowhead makes her debut in the role of Donna Elvira and Mary Lou Petrone, a graduate of Indiana University, sings Zerlina.

The performance, to be sung in the original Italian, will be accompanied by pianist Herbert Iverson, and will have a running narration by Harve Edwards.

Folk dancers at Redlands

The Aman International Folk Ballet will open the Redlands Bowl's 54th season with a performance at 8:15 p.m. July 8. Admission is by free will offering.

Aman's repertoire of more than 70 folk dances from United States, the Middle East, Africa and the Balkans requires almost 2,000 costumes, all authentic, and in large part, made or purchased in the country where they originated.

Besides the colorful costuming, the group has its own musicians who play native instruments ranging from a pair of soup spoons to a three-foot-high, 300-pound cymbalom with 88 strings. Other instruments are the gudulka, the saz, the ljerica, the kemaje, the frula, the kaval and the zurna, along with the more familiar banjo, drums and bagpipes.

Artistic directors of Aman are Leona Wood and Anthony Shay, acknowledged experts in the field of folk dancing. Between them they research, costume, teach, choreograph and perform with the troupe of from 55 to 80 dancers.

Aman's many appearances in the Los Angeles Music Center have won it plaudits from the critics.

CONNIE STEVENS will star in her own show at the Showcase Theater at Magic Mountain at 8 and 10 p.m. Monday through July 10. The Valencia amusement park will have a fireworks display at 9.

Pomona to hold Faire

The City of Pomona will stage a Renaissance Faire in Ganesha Park from 2 to 8 p.m. July 30. Admission is free, and the public is encouraged to attend in Elizabethan costume.

Entertainment will be provided by madrigal singers, jugglers, strolling minstrels, English country dancers, puppeteers and mimes. A highlight of the fair will be performances featuring the Los Angeles Shakespeare Festival Players.

The fair will offer game and craft booths, an art exhibit, boutiques and refreshment stands featuring Elizabethan food.

All valley residents are invited to take part in the faire as participants or spectators. Those wishing to participate in some way are asked to call Sue Hunt at the Pomona Parks and Recreation Department, 620-2321.

Fly Air California and get extra S&H Green Stamps from National Car Rental.
It's a special weekend bonus! Just present your Air California ticket when you rent your car from National. You'll get extra S&H Green Stamp certificates from National on the amount of your one-way airline fare. Conveniently located at every airport served by Air California, National rents GM cars like the Chevy Nova for just $14.95 a day. Full size cars like the Olds Cutlass are just two dollars more.* The S & H Green Stamp certificates from your car rental plus the bonus from your airfare add up to a hefty fistfull of stamps. So don't miss out. Reserve your flight and your car with just one call to Air California or your travel agent.
*You pay for gas. Rates available at participating locations 6 pm Thursday to Monday noon. Rates are non-discountable and subject to change without notice. Cars must be returned to renting location. Rates are not available in So. Lake Tahoe and Palm Springs. Stamp offer expires July 31, 1977.
We feature GM cars and offer S&H Green Stamps on U.S. rentals.

TROPHY WINNERS — Don Donnelly, president of the Pomona school board, congratulates Leslie Charles, left, and Rochelle Harris for winning the recent San Gabriel Valley Law Explorer Academy. Miss Harris, 16, won first place, and Miss Charles, 14, third place in the physical training competition. Members of the Junior Police program in Pomona, they were among seven local participants competing against youngsters from 17 cities. The Junior Police program is sponsored by the Pomona Valley YMCA and conducted at city schools. Willie White is director.

Claremont students in exchange program

Colleen Christian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Christian, Claremont, is spending the summer in Hausewinkel, Germany.

She was chosen as Claremont's Americans Abroad participant as part of the Americans Field Service, International. She had an orientation period in New York with 1,000 other youths before flying abroad.

Diane Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, Claremont, is a domestic program exchange student also sponsored by the American Field Service. She is spending the summer in Sauquoit, N.Y. while her domestic program counterpart, Martha Rainey of Bethesda, Md., is in Claremont. Martha's host is the Barry Ulrich family.

Returning July 9 from a year in Sweden is Carol Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rod Stone. Carol, a 1976 Claremont High graduate, attended another school year in Vasteras, Sweden through the Americans Abroad program.

Clubs to participate in volleyball tourney

Circle K Clubs in the valley will participate in a benefit volleyball marathon tournament Thursday and Friday at the Upland High School gym to assist "Project Hope."

"Project Hope" sponsors educational programs such as sending medical teams abroad to teach other countries how to improve health standards. It is an international organization.

The tournament will begin at 7 a.m. Thursday and play will continue through to 11 p.m. Friday. UCLA and USC will field a team with Cerritos College, Cal Poly and Chaffey College rounding out the field.

Admission is free.

Additional information may be obtained by calling Norman Vadnais at 985-0290.

Merit Cigarette Sets New Taste Standard.

Tests confirm low tar MERIT delivers flavor of higher tar cigarettes.

There is a way to get real taste from a cigarette without high tar.

Technology created it.

Taste tests proved it.

Smokers are confirming it. In fact, 75% of all MERIT smokers are former high tar cigarette smokers—the toughest taste critics of low tar smoking.

MERIT—the cigarette packed with 'Enriched Flavor'™ tobacco—seems to be solving the smoker dilemma of having to choose between high tar or low taste.

If you smoke, you'll be interested.

© Philip Morris Inc. 1977

Kings: 8 mg. 'tar,' 0.5 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette, FTC Report Dec. '76
100's: 12 mg. 'tar,' 0.9 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC Method.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

REGULAR and MENTHOL

Tests Prove Taste

MERIT and MERIT 100's were both tested against a number of higher tar cigarettes. The results proved conclusively that 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco does boost taste without the usual increase in tar.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of both MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested.

Cigarettes having up to 60% more tar!

Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

And you can taste it.

Joyce Brothers

Marital sex, money

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: My husband has always taken great pleasure in giving me money and, of course, I don't object. My former boss offered me a job. I'd like very much to take it and I didn't expect any objection from my husband since it hardly threatens his ego. He became very upset when I mentioned it and said that if I took it, he wouldn't feel the same about me sexually. This is so absurd because he's not jealous of my former boss. He knows I'm not interested in him. He said, "I just don't want you to make money. It wouldn't be the same if you did." I can't figure this out. Can you? — S.O.

Dear S.O.: To some extent, money represents security and power to everyone, but I suspect, from your letter, that your husband gathers more security than most from being the one in charge of the purse strings. He may fear that without the control of money, he would be unloved or neglected.

Obviously, this indicates that he has a shaky sense of his own worth. He's using money to buy affection. He sees his gifts to you as payments for love. If you have the money, the power, to buy your own gifts, he's afraid you may cease to love him.

This isn't as unusual as it may sound. For instance, husbands frequently, consciously or unconsciously, reward their wives for what they consider to be "good behavior" (and this often may be sexual) by buying them a little something special.

Not surprisingly, this may make the woman feel like a prostitute. She may become so accustomed to this that she forgets how to love and to give affection freely. She may feel that sex and love are commodities to be sold and bargained for in marriage.

DEAR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS: A group of people in our town — my husband says they're homosexuals — want to make our beach a place for nude bathing. This is causing an uproar and some of the most unlikely people are in favor of it. A local minister says it's a healthy thing, as if the family that's nude together will be glued together. Two of the so-called pillars of the community have supported it for "business reasons." Though my husband accuses the homosexual community of fostering this, it isn't true. This is the major topic of discussion at gatherings. Many of the men are, openly or secretly, for it, but almost none of the women. Why? I don't believe it's just a question of women wanting to protect their children because many of them are single. — T.T.

Dear T.T.: Though nudists deny it, there's a certain amount of exhibitionism in almost all campaigns for nudity. The most common reason for males to want to exhibit themselves is that in so doing, they're reassured of their masculinity. Obviously, the more insecure the man is, the more enthusiastic he's apt to be about opportunities to display himself.

By favoring nudity for himself, he is also encouraging women to exhibit themselves. Once they do, they again remind him of his own masculinity. I don't mean to deny the fact that men are also stimulated by viewing women's bodies.

DIZZINESS IS A SYMPTOM THAT'S HARD TO DESCRIBE

While many people may complain of dizziness, they are often hard-pressed to describe it. Yet the manner in which an individual experiences it is important to the diagnosis.

The term "dizziness" has been used variously to describe light headedness, faintness, giddiness, weakness, hazy vision or confusion. Some victims say they feel like they are 'walking on a pitfull of straw', 'going down an elevator', or that they have 'something in front of my eyes'.

Dr. H.L. Fisher D.C.

"Perhaps the best way to describe true vertigo is to say the sensation resembles rolling downhill or riding on a swiftly moving merry-go-round," explains Dr. Fisher, D.C., of the Fisher Chiropractic Office. "The world turns about when the eyes are open, but, when closed, we seem to whirl about in space like an astronaut. The sensation described is a type of vertigo that stems from a disturbance of the centers of equilibrium in the ears or brains."

According to Dr. Fisher, a person suffering from high blood pressure is more likely to complain of lightheadedness than of true vertigo. Someone with a circulation problem may almost fall when he jumps out of bed or stands up too quickly.

"When describing dizziness to your Doctor, it is important to be as specific as possible," continues Dr. Fisher. "Tell him exactly how it feels, and when it occurs. Remember, dizziness is a symptom, and one that shouldn't be ignored."

"Recently I heard of a Chirporactic patient who complained of dizziness when he turned his head to the side or upwards," Dr. Fisher concluded. "On examination it was found that he was suffering from an arthritic spine. Needless to say, had it not been for the dizziness, he would not have sought treatment for a very serious and eventually crippling problem."

Note: Dr. Fisher maintains Chiropractic offices at 601 So. Oaks Ave., Ontario, California. Telephone: 983-0766.

Mrs. Wicker presented Mr. Smith a check for hospital gifts. The gifts were: dietary department, $500; radiology/ults-sound department, $1,700; cardio-pulmonary department, $1,500; laboratory, $500, making a total of $3,850.

MRS. DON SNYDER

Captain was really a woman

NEW YORK (AP) — Mary Patten, called the "Florence Nightingale of the Ocean," is one of the few women to have had their names inscribed in the annals of the sea, records recently discovered reveal.

For a girl of 19 to sail a clipper ship 5,000 miles around two continents through storm and frigid weather, her captain-husband and two other officers ill below deck and a mutinous first officer in irons, is one of the all-time epics of the high seas.

In 1856, Capt. Joshua Patten was assigned to sail "Neptune's Car" from New York to San Francisco. Below decks, as recorded in the historic "disaster books" of the Atlantic Mutual Insurance Co., was a cargo valued at $800,000; appraisal of the cargo today would be $10,000,000.

At sea only a few days, Captain Patten was forced to depose his chief mate for mutiny and put him in irons. Malaria then felled the captain and his two remaining officers.

Responsibility for the naviation of "Neptune's Car" now rested on young Mary Patten, the records show. Faced with the decision to return to New York or continue the long trip to the West Coast, she ordered her crew to sail on.

On the ship's southward sweep toward Cape Horn the weather turned frigid. Rounding the Cape in the dead of winter, the clipper ship shuddered in the storm-filled Antarctic. The insurance company's records show that only Mary's expert handling kept the clipper from capsizing in the heavy seas. When not at the helm, Mary was down in the cabin tending her ill husband, as well as the other sick.

After 55 tedious days, "Neptune's Car" entered San Francisco harbor. It was only after she safely delivered its valuable cargo that anyone knew that during the entire ordeal Mary was pregnant.

Officers named by council

Dorothy Crumpacker of Xi Theta Gamma Chapter was recently installed president of Foothill Area Council of Beta Sigma Phi for the ensuing year.

The jewels of office were presented to her by Janet Scinto, Rho Chi Chapter, retiring president.

Others installed at that time were: Ginny Staffero, Rho Chi Chapter, vice president; Carolyn Surface, Epsilon Beta Chapter, recording secretary; Rose Marie Reeder, Xi Zeta Gamma Chapter, corresponding secretary; Lola Myers, Xi Gamma Kappa, treasurer; and Betty Hendersen, Preceptor Laureate, civil awareness chairman. Dorothy De Silva is the council sponsor.

Donations of $575 were made by Foothill Council to the Brian Wesley Ray Center for Cystic Fibrosis.

New ways

Restoring or refinishing furniture can be gratifying. Do-it-yourself refinishing supplies cost only a few dollars, but can save a great deal of money. For those who associate refinishing with a lot of drudgery, there is good news: Chemistry has taken much of the work (and the mess) out of refinishing — if you follow the instructions. Easy-to-follow rules are clearly explained in a how-to booklet entitled "A Beginners Guide to Refinishing Furniture." FAMILY CIRCUS

"See, this is what I do to lose my sneeze."

Margaret Mead calls for community restructuring

"You don't find many early or primitive societies that treat old people as badly as the civilized societies do," says Margaret Mead in a July 26 Family Circle interview, which showcases the anthropologist's observations on growing old in America.

Miss Mead feels the need for a restructuring of American society to keep old and the not-so-old together, saying in the magazine, "If there is a separation of old people from family life, there is tragedy for both young and old."

Miss Mead, herself, began preparing for her present old age of 75 when she was 24. "I went to work at the Museum of Natural History . . . I saw a doddering old man walking around the corridors, and I asked, 'What is he doing here?' I discovered that at the Museum they keep you until you die. And so I decided to stay right there."

From her post at the Museum, she has surveyed the situation of the elderly in America: " . . . the poor ones," she comments in the interview, "are stacked away in nursing homes . . . 'warehouses for the old.' The more affluent move into golden ghettos or go to Florida, but they too are segregated and lonely."

Age-segregation affects everyone, argues the anthropologist. "There are too many children in America who are badly afraid of older people because they never see any." In an already youth-oriented society, the missing associations with older people who enjoy living fosters a fear and dread of aging. What Miss Mead describes as "a sense of continuity and of the possibilities for a full life" may never develop.

Part of the solution, she maintains, is a total physical rebuilding of communities. "Older people need to live within walking distance of shops, friends and family. They need younger people to help with the heavy chores, to shovel the snow . . . so they can continue to live on their own." Several universities, Miss Mead says, are building alumnae housing on campus as a way of keeping older people active in community life.

The practice of early retirement must end, also, she feels. It is not only wasteful but cruel. Mentioning the harsh adjustment men, in particular, must make, Miss Mead says, " . . . the men are admirals without a fleet. They don't know what else to do but die." Retired working women, at least, have the continuity of household responsibilities.

It is a sense of interdependence that Miss Mead says America must develop; this is the real issue she feels faces young and old alike.

Many figures have been reported about the speeds of the fastest-flying birds. But not everyone agrees with these records because it is difficult to measure the speed of a bird in flight.

Although higher speeds have been claimed, the fastest speed reliably measured for any bird was that of the swift.

This small, streamlined bird with its long, narrow wings usually flies from 60 to 70 miles per hour. But some can fly more than 100 m.p.h. for short periods of time, and are probably the fastest-moving creatures in the world.

After the swifts, perhaps the fastest-flying birds are the racing pigeons. They have been known to fly 94 m.p.h.

The next-fastest fliers are such birds as falcons, ducks and geese, which can fly about 80 or more miles an hour.

And the tiny hummingbird can speed along at 55 m.p.h. Songbirds, such as sparrows and wrens, fly at speeds of 10 to 20 m.p.h.

Petrochemical industry fears proposed taxes

NEW YORK (AP) — President Carter's energy proposal now before Congress includes a tax that would force much of the $40 billion petrochemical industry out of the country, industry spokesmen warn.

And that would mean the loss of many of the 390,000 American jobs now directly related to the industry, the spokesmen say.

Administration spokesmen refuse to comment directly on the industry threat. But they say the industry is going to be damaged anyway, if not by higher taxes — aimed at conservation — then by a scarcity of petroleum, the major raw material of petrochemicals. The policy does not "attempt to appease one interest or another," a spokesman said.

The main petrochemical-industry objections are to Carter's proposed tax on oil at the well and an additional tax on major industrial users of oil. The industry says the taxes would raise costs so much that foreign competitors would have an advantage.

The consumer would pay more in any case, either for more expensive foreign products or for domestic products whose prices would be increased to offset the new taxes.

Under the President's plan, the first tax, a $3 levy, would bring prices up to the world level by 1980; the "user" tax — applied primarily to the petrochemical industry — would start at 90 cents a barrel in 1979 and increase to 3 by 1985.

But the petrochemical industry says the taxes, currently being considered by the House Ways and Means Committee, would increase "feedstock" costs from $3 below world price levels now to $3 above the levels by 1985. Feedstock is oil that is used as a raw material in a refinery or petrochemical plant.

"The question is: What do you do if you're noncompetitive?" said Robert Mitchell, executive vice president of Celanese Corp. "The first thing is that we lose our export markets ($10 billion of the $40 billion in annual sales). Then, the foreign competitor can compete in the U.S."

"This positive impact on our nation's balance of trade would be lost over the next few years as the Carter taxes phase in," said Ronald S. Wishart, director of energy policy for Union Carbide. "... In place of oil imports, we might be importing more chemicals as well as other energy-intensive products such as steel and aluminum."

How would the dozens of U.S. petrochemical firms react?

"Given a free world for investment purposes," Mitchell said, "what will evolve is a shift of the petrochemical industry — assuming a degree of political stability — to the Mideast."

Dick Perry, a spokesman for Union Carbide Corp., agreed. He said the makers of large volume commodity chemicals such as benzene derivatives for plastics would be the most likely to relocate.

"Smaller volume specialty firms could stand a bit greater price differential because the technology isn't around elsewhere," he said.

An industry spokesman said firms might simply abandon their American plants if they found that "it was not economically beneficial to run them."

But the net value of factories and equipment is $36.1 billion. Would it pay to abandon some or all of this investment and rebuild abroad? Industry spokesmen said they did not know at what point it might pay to abandon domestic investment for the lower costs abroad.

Dow Chemical Co. pointed out that the petrochemical industry cannot switch to coal as a feedstock. "The technology is not available," the firm said.

But Jim Bishop, an administration spokesman, added that if Carter's conservation - designed proposals are not accepted, the industry soon will have to deal with critical shortages of raw materials — a problem every bit as serious as increased taxes.

Officials said there are no plans to protect the industry by imposing quotas on imports of petrochemical products.

Meanwhile, industry lobbyists are trying to shoot down the tax proposals, but are concerned about the pace being set in Congress.

"Everyone is taking shots at the energy plan, and Congress is obliged to pass something," said Hank Sauer, a spokesman for the Manufacturing Chemists Association. "We're concerned they (lawmakers) are not taking enough time to look at the effects."

Artist says politicians are 'stars of today'

NEW YORK (AP) — New York artist Ron Kron surrounds himself with a mixed group of well-known personalities — Joan Crawford as "Mildred Pierce," Louise Lasser as "Mary Hartman," Burt Reynolds as the Cosmoplitan centerfold.

Lately, though, the circle has widened to include former Presidents Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford, with more political figures ready to join.

"Politicians are the stars of today," says Kron, 35, whose two-foot-tall brittle latex sculptures of famous personalities will be exhibited at New York's Bleecker Street Gallery this summer.

Kron's fascination with marionettes while growing up in Hopkins, Minn., is evident among his 40-odd "portrait-insculpture" dolls. Endowed with real hair, glass eyes and movable limbs, most are movie stars cast in well-remembered roles.

Kron first turned his attention to politicians when the Watergate scandal burst into the news. The result was Richard Nixon nude under a Watergate towel. Next came Gerald Ford holding a Halloween bag labeled "trick or treat." "The bag contains the pardon Ford gave to Nixon," Kron says.

Once in a while he's commissioned to do a private individual. One patron ordered a doll in the likeness of a friend as a Christmas present.

"The friend opened this large box and was stricken to see himself," Kron recalls. "There's something macabre about seeing yourself lying in a box, even if it's gift-wrapped."

Kron wants to do some personalities from television commercials. He cites Nancy Walker who plays Rosie the waitress, hawker for Bounty paper towels, and Margaret Hamilton as Cora, the general store proprietress who sells Maxwell House Coffee.

But statesmen remain high on his inventory of stars. His list of dummies to do includes former Sen. Wilbur Mills with stripper Fanne Foxe, and President Jimmy Carter emerging from a three-foot peanut.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS CALLING FOR BIDS CONTRACT DOCUMENTS NO. 75-43

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Pomona Unified School District of Los Angeles County, California, acting by and through its Governing Board, hereinafter referred to as the District, will receive up to, but not later than 3:00 o'clock P.M. on the 12th day of July, 1977, sealed bids for the award of the contract for:

PARK HIGH SCHOOL
POMONA, CALIFORNIA

All bids shall be made on a bid form furnished by the District.

Bids shall be received in the office of the Assistant Superintendent of Business, Pomona Unified School District, 800 South Garey Avenue, Pomona, California, and shall be opened and publicly read aloud at the above stated time and place.

Each bid shall be accompanied by the security referred to in the contract documents and the list of proposed subcontractors.

The District reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any irregularities or informalities in any bids or in the bidding. Preference will be made in the award for California made supplies, pursuant to Section 4330 and 4334, inclusive, Government Code.

Each bid must conform and be responsive to the contract documents, copies of which are on file and may be obtained in the office of the Architect, Cashion - Horie, Architects, Inc., 720 North Park Avenue, Pomona, California 91768. Each bidder may obtain two (2) sets of drawings and specifications upon deposit of twenty - five dollars ($25.00) per set. Each twenty-five ($25.00) deposit will be refunded if the drawings and specifications are returned in good condition within ten (10) days after Bid Opening.

The District has determined the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in the locality in which this work is to be performed for each craft or type of workman needed to execute the contract which will be awarded to the successful bidder. These prevailing rates so determined are on exhibit in the Architect's office and the District office, and are available to any interested party on request. The successful bidder will be required to post a copy thereof at the jobsite. Any classification shall comply with the prevailing wage rate in effect at the time of execution of the work.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded, and upon the subcontractors under him, to pay not less than the said specified rates of the current minimum prevailing rate in the area where the work is performed, to all workmen employed by them in the execution of the contract.

Preference will be made in the award of California-made supplies pursuant to Sections 4330 and 4334, inclusive, Government Code.

No bidder may withdraw his bid for a period of sixty (60) days after the date set for the opening of bids.

All bidders must specify that they are an equal opportunity employer.

NOTICE OF LIEN FOR DELINQUENT ASSESSMENTS AND NOTICE OF DEFAULT AND ELECTION TO SELL

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, that in accordance with a Declaration of Covenants, Conditions and Restrictions recorded on November 8, 1972 in Book No. M-4200, Page No. 906, of official records of Los Angeles County, there is a lien upon the property owned by Robert T. Young and Sandra G. Young, and described as:

(a) An undivided 1/75th interest in Lot 1 of Tract No. 27246, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 819, Pages 43 to 47 inclusive of Maps, in the Office of the County Recorder of said county.

Except therefrom Units 1 to 75 inclusive as shown and defined on the Condominium Plan attached as Exhibit "A" to the certificate recorded on November 8, 1972 in Book M-4200, Page 906, Official Records as instrument No. 1125.

(b) Unit 10 as shown and defined on the Condominium Plan above mentioned.

(c) Commonly known as 21818 E. Stonepine Dr., Diamond Bar, CA.

for payment of assessments which were delinquent as of May 1, 1977, in the sum of $310.00, plus subsequent assessments, other charges such as interest, costs, including attorney's fees, and penalties as provided for in the Declaration of Covenants, Conditions, and Restrictions, together with such delinquencies which may hereafter become due and unpaid.

Therefore, Canyon Park Condominium Association, the lienholder, pursuant to the notices recorded herein, hereby give notice that a breach of the obligation for which these notices are recorded has occurred, to wit: nonpayment of delinquent condominium association assessments and related costs, and that Canyon Park Condominium Association hereby elects to sell, or cause to be sold the property described herein to satisfy said obligation.

NOTICE

You may have the right to cure the default described herein and reinstate the mortgage or deed of trust. Section 2924c of the Civic Code permits certain defaults to be cured upon the payment of the amount required by that Section without requiring payment of that portion of principal and interest which would not be due had no default occurred. Where reinstatement is possible, if the default is not cured within three months following recording of this Notice, the right of reinstatement will terminate and the property may be sold.

To determine if reinstatement is possible and the amount, if any, necessary to cure the default, contact the beneficiary or mortgagee or their successors in interest, whose name and address as of the date of this Notice is CANYON PARK CONDOMINIUM ASSOCIATION, P.O. Box 503, Pomona, California, Attention: Charles W. Bader, Manager.

Almanac

Today is Tuesday, June 28, the 179th day of 1977. There are 186 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1914, the heir to the throne of Austria-Hungary, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, was assassinated at Sarejevo, Bosnia. It was the spark that set off the First World War.

On this date:

In 1778, the Revolutionary War Battle of Monmouth, N.J., took place. Molly Pitcher's aid to Colonial troops made her a heroine in American history.

In 1838, Britain's Queen Victoria was crowned.

In 1919, the Versailles Treaty was signed in France after World War I.

In 1941, guerrilla warfare against the Nazis began in Yugoslavia during World War II.

In 1950, in the Korean War, North Korean soldiers captured the South Korean capital of Seoul.

In 1965, U.S. and South Vietnamese airplanes dropped nearly three million leaflets over North Vietnam, appealing to the people to press their leaders to end warfare against South Vietnam.

Ten years ago: King Hussein of Jordan met with President Lyndon Johnson in Washington to discuss Jordan's plight after the Six Day War with Israel.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon announced another withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam and directed that no more draftees be sent to that country unless they volunteered.

One year ago: An Indian Ocean group of islands, the Seychelles, became indpependent after 162 years under British rule.

Today's birthday: Composer Richard Rodgers is 75.

Thought for today: "I don't know whether war is an interlude during peace, or peace an interlude during war." — Georges Clemenceau, French statesman, 1841-1929.

Bail reform plan OK'd

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A bail reform plan recommended by the county Bar Association would allow release on bail with a 10 per cent refundable deposit held by a public agency.

The system recommended to the Legislature by the lawyers favors freeing misdemeanor violators on their own recognizance.

The group's bail reform committee charged that under the current system, a defendant's release before trial "is directly related to his or her wealth."

To post a bond, one currently must pay a 10 per cent nonrefundable premium to a bondsman, who also may ask for collateral.
